Wilson Cites Progress As GOP Opens Session

Likely GOP Choices

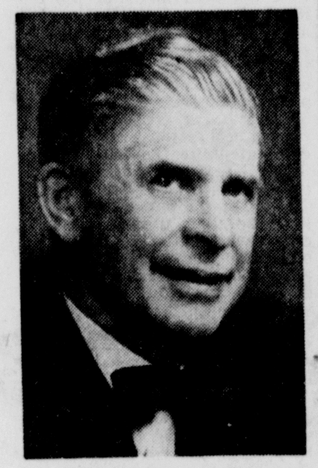
Congressman

J. ERNEST WHARTON

Assemblyman

KENNETH L. WILSON

State Senator



E. OGDEN BUSH

Sheriff

CLAUDE BELL

Dispensing with the usual keynote speaker, the Ulster County Republican Convention, convened shortly after 11 o'clock today at Municipal Auditorium and immediately went into the business of recommending party candidates to be voted for at the November election and the transaction of other political business.

Assemblyman Kenneth L. Wilson, Ulster County Republican Committee Chairman, presided with Robert A. Snyder of Saugerties secretary.

Enthusiasm Evident

There was much enthusiasm displayed by the delegates as the convention took on a "grass roots" aspect and Chairman Wilson referred to the accomplishments of Republican political leaders and office holders.

The primary purpose of the unofficial convention was to recommend candidates for the office of Members of Assembly, Sheriff and Coroner and to endorse candidates for Member of Congress, State Senator and to name delegates and alternates to the New York State Republican Convention and the District Judicial Convention.

New to the convention this year was the matter of nominating a Family Court judge and this was the only matter in which there were reports a contest might be staged. Special City Judge Hugh R. Elwyn of Kingston had announced his candidacy Friday and while others names had been mentioned among delegates, it appeared likely that the convention would recommend Judge Elwyn, who has been practicing law since 1939 and who is the immediate past president of the Ulster Counyt Bar Association.

The matter of nominations, following adoption of the roll call, appeared to be a matter of routine as the convention progressed.

Bell Choice Assured

Theer had been reports of a contest for the designation of a candidate for sheriff but on Thursday Donald R. MacCollam, former State Trooper and active in Young Republican Club circles, announced he was not seeking the nomination. This left the field open to Sheriff Claude Bell to succeed himself.

Recommendation of Sheriff Bell, a resident of Town of Olive, appeared assured as the convention neared the point of making a decision. Bell has served on the Board of Supervisors for 10 years, as town superintendent of his town and has received commendation from the State Department of Correction for the condition in which his department has maintained the County Jail and its operation. Under his jurisdiction the sheriff's department has gained stature as a law enforcement agency and also in the operation of its civil functions.

With the announcement that Coroner Michael A. Galietta, Glasco, did not seek re-election, the name of Henry S. Hartley,

Election Is Called In View of Shuffle

LONDON (AP) — Prime Minister Macmillan's wholesale shakeup of his Cabinet brought new pressure from opposition leaders today for an immediate national election.

Labor party leader Hugh Gaitskell called Macmillan's firing of seven of the 21 Conservative ministers Friday night "A political massacre which can only be interpreted as a gigantic admission of failure."

Too Late for New Face

"Instead of getting rid of his colleagues, the prime minister should resign and let the people elect a new government," Gaitskell added.

Liberal party leader Jo Grimond also called for a general election and declared: "After 12 years in office, it is too late for the Tories to try and put a new face on their administration."

Macmillan's Conservatives have a mandate to serve until the fall of 1964. The prime minister can call a general election any time before then, but he is not expected to do so before the fall of 1963.

Conservative candidates have taken a thrashing from opposition Laborites and resurgent Liberals in 12 recent special elections. By the infusion of new blood into the Cabinet, Macmillan hopes to restore the battered image of his government before it goes to the polls.

Mac May Step Aside

Much of this image apparently centers around Richard A. (Rab) Butler, 60, who was officially designated deputy prime minister. The move heightened speculation that Macmillan, 67, would step aside for the former home secretary in the next election.

Friday the 13th was a day of tense drama at Admiralty House, Macmillan's temporary offices, as he fired some of his closest associates in the biggest wave of political exectuions in Britain since World War II.

Selwyn Lloyd Out

The top casualties were Chancellor of the Exchequer Selwyn Lloyd, replaced by Colonial Office Chief Reginald Maudling, and Defense Secretary Harold Watkinson, succeeded by Aviation Minister Peter Thorneycroft.

Also fired were Viscount Kilmuir, 62, lord chancellor; Lord Mills, 72, minister without portfolio; Sir David Eccles, 58, education minister; Dr. Charles Hill, 58, housing minister and John Maclay, 56, secretary of state for Scotland.

Indict Firm, Aides In Thruway Project

WHITE PLAINS, N.Y. (AP)—Edward J. Petrillo, president of the Yonkers Contracting Co., and some of his top aides have been accused of bribery and grand larceny in construction of a portion of the New England section of the New York State Thruway.

The prominent road-builder and three of the aides surrendered in Westchester County Court Friday and pleaded innocent to the charges. Officials said the two others have arranged to surrender Monday.

The six are among 15 persons indicted Friday as a result of an investigation by State Atty. Gen. Louis J. Lefkowitz into the $91.6 million outlay for the Thruway section, which was opened nearly four years ago.

The 18 sealed indictments were opened by County Judge Robert J. Trainor. All concerned the three-mile stretch of the Thruway in Mamaroneck and Rye that Yonkers Contracting had built for $5,056,140.

The section is 15 miles long, reaching from Bruckner Boulevard in The Bronx to the Byram River at the Connecticut boundary. Several contractors worked on it.

The thefts allegedly were carried out by obtaining payments for work neither needed nor done. Surveyors on the job, the indictments charged, were induced to turn in false reports concerning the project.

Surrendering with the 49-year-old Petrillo were Arthur S.

Estes Is Officially Bankrupt

Appeal to Be Made For 'Boy Wonder'

EL PASO, Tex. (AP)—Billie Sol Estes, 37, the "boy wonder" who parlayed fertilizer tanks, grain storage and cotton allotments into a multimillion-dollar empire, was declared bankrupt Friday.

Federal District Judge R. Ewing Thomason said no satisfactory plan had been submitted for continuing operation of Estes' assets under a receivership.

Estes' attorney, John Cofer of Austin, said he would appeal at once.

Visibly Surprised

Earlier in the day, the Pecos, Tex., promoter, pleaded innocent to federal charges that he and three associates had defrauded finance companies out of approximately $22 million by obtaining loans on anhydrous ammonia tanks which the government says never existed.

Estes was visibly surprised when his three associates pleaded guilty to five of the 29 counts. They were Coleman McSpadden, 45, Lubbock, Tex.; Harold E. Orr, 31, Amarillo, Tex.; and Ruel W. Alexander, 36, of Amarillo. Attorneys pleaded guilty on behalf of Superior Manufacturing, also named in the indictment.

The three were ordered to report to Probation Officer Chester McLaughlin, who will make recommendations to Judge Thomason before sentencing, at a date not set.

Face Big Fine, Prison

Orr, McSpadden and Alexander each face a possible maximum fine of $32,000 and 35 years in prison.

All four men are still free on bond—$100,000 for Estes and $25,000 each for the others.

All four pleaded innocent to eight charges of an earlier eight-count indictment charging them with interstate transportation of fraudulent mortgages. This was the indictment that sent Estes's empire crashing and touched off congressional probes and state courts of inquiry.

Hearing Is Set July 27 on River Water for Esopus

The continuing question of an adequate supply of water for the Port Ewen Water District was again the principal item of business to come before the monthly Town Board meeting of the Town of Esopus this week at the Town Hall in Port Ewen. At the meeting it was revealed that the State Water Resources Commission has scheduled a public hearing on July 27 for the district's request to use the Hudson River as a prime source of water.

Restraint Urged

William J. C. Buddenhagen, chairman of the Board of Water Commissioners of the Port Ewen Water District, reported to the Town Board that the average daily consumption of the district is now 181,000 gallons of water per day. The present maximum capacity of the system's wells is 193,000 gallons per day. Due to the fact that daily use is nearing the system's capacity to produce, all residents of the district were urged to use restraint in their use of water, particularly for such uses as lawn sprinkling, car washing, etc. Buddenhagen also announced that a stand-by pump had been obtained for use at Esopus Lake, if the lake should have to be used as an emergency source of water as it was in 1961.

The Port Ewen Water District for several years has been seeking an additional source of water. Because of the cost involved, the water commissioners had hoped to find a suitable site for an additional well. No site could be found, however, that had the minimum capacity for a produc-

Handyman Charged With Murder in Liberty Blaze

BATTLE LIBERTY HOTEL FIRE—A first-degree murder charge has been leveled against a Bronx handyman as a result of this fatal hotel fire in Liberty. The fire claimed the lives of three men. Another 12 persons were injured, some of whom suffered broken bones when they leaped from second-floor windows. The handyman was identified as Robert Gilbert Ryan, 38, of the Bronx, who signed a statement admitting he set the fire early Friday. (NEA Telephoto)

Bronx Man Confesses Fire Act

Three Killed, 12 Injured in Hotel

LIBERTY, N.Y. (AP) — A 38-year-old handyman at a Catskill Mountain hotel has been charged with first-degree murder in connection with a fire that leveled the resort's main building, killing three men and injuring 12 other persons.

Dist. Atty. Robert Williams of Sullivan County said the handyman, Robert Gilbert Ryan of The Bronx, signed a statement admitting he set the fire early Friday.

Williams and State Police Capt. Carl Lawson declined to divulge a motive in the case.

Picked Up at Scene

The district attorney said Ryan was picked up at the scene of the fire at Hankins High View House near Liberty and questioned about his activities. The Negro handyman later admitted to police that he purposely set fire to a piece of tissue paper and placed it against a wall of the hotel's main building, Williams said.

The handyman had worked at the hotel for several seasons and was rehired last May, police said.

Held for Grand Jury

After day-long questioning, he was charged Friday night with murder and arraigned before Justice of the Peace Joseph Wasser at nearby Monticello. Wasser ordered Ryan held for grand jury action.

The charred bodies of two men were taken from the hotel's burned-out building. A third man died 16 hours later in a Liberty hospital.

Some of the 12 persons injured in the blaze suffered broken bones when they leaped from second-floor windows.

Victims Identified

The hotel, three miles from Liberty, is in the heart of the Catskill resort area and caters primarily to middle-aged or elderly summer visitors from New York City, about 80 miles to the south.

Found dead at the scene were Charles Fox, 60, of Brooklyn, and Henry Len, 75, of The Bronx. The third victim, David Slavin, 75, of Brooklyn, died Friday night in Maimonides Hospital here.

5 Arrested As Mishaps Injure Two

Two persons were injured and five arrests were made as the results of five automobile accidents in the city Friday according to reports at Kingston Police Headquarters.

Reports say that a six-year-old Kingston youth was taken to the Kingston Hospital for observation after he was in collision with a car while playing in a parking lot on East O'Reilly Street near Jansen Avenue.

Case Put Off

George J. Guess, Circle Drive, Hurley, struck his head on the pavement in a fall resulting from the collision with a vehicle backing into the parking lot and being operated by Charles A. Gjuronich, 20, of 170 Downs Street according to police reports. The youth was waiting for his father.

Gjuronich was arrested for operating an unlicensed vehicle and arraigned this morning in City Court before Judge Joseph Saccoman. Disposition of the case was adjourned.

Overseas Chat Is From Local Office

The first official trans-Atlantic telephone call from the United States to Great Britain via Telstar was pronounced a "complete success" Friday night, by Eugene J. McNeely, Stone Ridge, president of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company.

Few Minor Problems

Earlier last night, the first official call between the U. S. and France through Telstar, was made by McNeely, who said that call was a success in spite of a storm off the coast of France which gave technicians a few minor problems in taping the conversation.

McNeely told The Freeman today he made the call to London which was made from the New York Telephone Co. building in this city at about 10 p. m. "I spoke to Sir Ronald German (British post office director)," McNeely said. "It was about 3 a. m. in London and Sir Ronald was at his home alone. We had a good free conversation. He told me the channel is simply wonderful and he was receiving my conversation without any background noise."

McNeely said the channel was "excellent both ways." The conversation lasted five or six minutes.

7½ Minute French Talk

In a seven-and-one-half minute call to France, McNeely told Jacques Marette, minister of Posts and Telecommunication in Paris, that he hoped the satellite "will become a symbol of greater understanding and friendship between nations."

With McNeely at the time of the two overseas calls were Harold M. Botkin, assistant to the vice president of A. T. & T., in charge of international relationship, and Lowell F. Wingert, vice president in charge of the Long Lines Department.

With Marette in his Paris office were James A. Gavin, U. S. ambassador to France; Raymond Croze, director general of Telecommunication and Pierre Marzin, director of Telecommunication Research in Paris.

Beamed to Telstar

The conversations were carried over ground lines to A. T. & T.'s ground station at Andover, Maine, where they were beamed to Telstar for transmission to Paris and London.

The satellite, in its orbit last night, would have permitted a maximum conversation of 23 minutes.

McNeely said Marette told

Girl Is Critical, Hurt on By-Pass

A four-year-old Kingston girl was reported in "critical" condition today at Kingston Hospital where she was taken Friday after she had been involved in an accident with a tractor-trailer near the Ferraro Bowlerama, East Chester Street By-Pass.

Listed as serious was Lottie White, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John L. White.

Deputy Sheriffs Thomas Mayone and Joseph McNierney, who investigated, reported that the little girl had apparently run into the tractor-trailer being driven by Charles Zimmer of Saugerties.

The investigation disclosed that White was preparing to cross the highway with his daughter when a pack of groceries he was carrying slipped from his hand. He let go of the girl's hand and she bolted across the highway into the side of the tractor-trailer.

Showers Predicted, 10 Disaster Areas

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — New York State farmers hoped today for weekend showers to bring relief from a drought that has caused Gov. Rockefeller to designate 10 counties as disaster areas.

The Weather Bureau said that thundershowers were likely in the western portion of the state today and that there was a chance of scattered showers Sunday in the eastern half of the state.

Gov. Rockefeller certified Friday the designation of nine additional counties as disaster areas. He declared St. Lawrence County a disaster area Wednesday.

The nine counties are Allegany, Chenango, Delaware, Franklin, Herkimer, Oneida, Schuyler, Tompkins and Yates.

Eight other counties have submitted or have in preparation applications for such designations.

The governor, in naming the disaster areas, affirmed the recommendations of the State Disaster Committee. Rockefeller's approval was needed for bids by the 10 counties to the U.S. Agriculture Department for permission to graze livestock and cut hay on land reserved for the Soil Bank.

Farmers receive payments from the federal government to take land out of use and place it in the Soil Bank in an effort to reduce farm surpluses.

Rockefeller, in a telegram to U.S. Agriculture Secretary Orville L. Feeman, said:

"The continued lack of rainfall has created a critical drought condition seriously affecting New York State agriculture.

"I hereby certify the need for the release of grazing and hay acreage retired under the Soil Bank and feed-grain program and I strongly urge you to suspend immediately the regulations and agreements covering such acreage in these counties."

Sen. E. Ogden Bush, R-Walton, told Rockefeller in a telegram Friday that farmers in Delaware

Haggerty Leaves For Sweden and Education Parley

Dr. William J. Haggerty, president of the State University College, New Paltz, left Friday for Stockholm, Sweden, where he will preside at the annual meeting of the International Council of Education for Teachers during the last week in July. He was re-elected president of the organization for a second three-year term when the council met in New Delhi, India, last summer.

8 Million Members

I.C.E.T. is an international member organization of the World Confederation of Organizations of the Teaching Profession which also is meeting in Stockholm. The college at New Paltz, represented by President Haggerty, has been affiliated with the confederation since it was founded nine years ago. Although it is a comparatively recently-established organization, its membership today includes more than eight million teachers, representing well over 100 national teacher organizations located in 80 countries of the world.

A pioneer in the development of educational emphasis on world understanding and international affairs, Dr. Haggerty spent the 1952-53 year in India as an educational consultant to the Government of India under the Point Four Program and represented the United States as a delegate to the UNESCO Conference on Free and Compulsory Education which was conducted in Bombay in 1952. On his return trip to the United States in 1953, he attended the first meeting of I.C.E.T. in Oxford, England, when the organization was founded.

Election Is Called In View of Shuffle

LONDON (AP) — Prime Minister Macmillan's wholesale shakeup of his Cabinet brought new pressure from opposition leaders today for an immediate national election.

Labor party leader Hugh Gaitskell called Macmillan's firing of seven of the 21 Conservative ministers Friday night "A political massacre which can only be interpreted as a gigantic admission of failure."

Too Late for New Face

"Instead of getting rid of his colleagues, the prime minister should resign and let the people elect a new government," Gaitskell added.

Liberal party leader Jo Grimond also called for a general election and declared: "After 12 years in office, it is too late for the Tories to try and put a new face on their administration."

Macmillan's Conservatives have a mandate to serve until the fall of 1964. The prime minister can call a general election any time before then, but he is not expected to do so before the fall of 1963.

Conservative candidates have taken a thrashing from opposition Laborites and resurgent Liberals in 12 recent special elections. By the infusion of new blood into the Cabinet, Macmillan hopes to restore the battered image of his government before it goes to the polls.

Mac May Step Aside

Much of this image apparently centers around Richard A. (Rab) Butler, 60, who was officially designated deputy prime minister. The move heightened speculation that Macmillan, 67, would step aside for the former home secretary in the next election.

Friday the 13th was a day of tense drama at Admiralty House, Macmillan's temporary offices, as he fired some of his closest associates in the biggest wave of political exectuions in Britain since World War II.

Selwyn Lloyd Out

The top casualties were Chancellor of the Exchequer Selwyn Lloyd, replaced by Colonial Office Chief Reginald Maudling, and Defense Secretary Harold Watkinson, succeeded by Aviation Minister Peter Thorneycroft.

Also fired were Viscount Kilmuir, 62, lord chancellor; Lord Mills, 72, minister without portfolio; Sir David Eccles, 58, education minister; Dr. Charles Hill, 58, housing minister and John Maclay, 56, secretary of state for Scotland.

Hearing Is Set July 27 on River Water for Esopus

The continuing question of an adequate supply of water for the Port Ewen Water District was again the principal item of business to come before the monthly Town Board meeting of the Town of Esopus this week at the Town Hall in Port Ewen. At the meeting it was revealed that the State Water Resources Commission has scheduled a public hearing on July 27 for the district's request to use the Hudson River as a prime source of water.

Restraint Urged

William J. C. Buddenhagen, chairman of the Board of Water Commissioners of the Port Ewen Water District, reported to the Town Board that the average daily consumption of the district is now 181,000 gallons of water per day. The present maximum capacity of the system's wells is 193,000 gallons per day. Due to the fact that daily use is nearing the system's capacity to produce, all residents of the district were urged to use restraint in their use of water, particularly for such uses as lawn sprinkling, car washing, etc. Buddenhagen also announced that a stand-by pump had been obtained for use at Esopus Lake, if the lake should have to be used as an emergency source of water as it was in 1961.

The Port Ewen Water District for several years has been seeking an additional source of water. Because of the cost involved, the water commissioners had hoped to find a suitable site for an additional well. No site could be found, however, that had the minimum capacity for a produc-

Haggerty Leaves For Sweden and Education Parley

Dr. William J. Haggerty, president of the State University College, New Paltz, left Friday for Stockholm, Sweden, where he will preside at the annual meeting of the International Council of Education for Teachers during the last week in July. He was re-elected president of the organization for a second three-year term when the council met in New Delhi, India, last summer.

8 Million Members

I.C.E.T. is an international member organization of the World Confederation of Organizations of the Teaching Profession which also is meeting in Stockholm. The college at New Paltz, represented by President Haggerty, has been affiliated with the confederation since it was founded nine years ago. Although it is a comparatively recently-established organization, its membership today includes more than eight million teachers, representing well over 100 national teacher organizations located in 80 countries of the world.

A pioneer in the development of educational emphasis on world understanding and international affairs, Dr. Haggerty spent the 1952-53 year in India as an educational consultant to the Government of India under the Point Four Program and represented the United States as a delegate to the UNESCO Conference on Free and Compulsory Education which was conducted in Bombay in 1952. On his return trip to the United States in 1953, he attended the first meeting of I.C.E.T. in Oxford, England, when the organization was founded.

During the 17 years that Dr. Haggerty has been president of

Indict Firm, Aides In Thruway Project

WHITE PLAINS, N.Y. (AP)—Edward J. Petrillo, president of the Yonkers Contracting Co., and some of his top aides have been accused of bribery and grand larceny in construction of a portion of the New England section of the New York State Thruway.

The prominent road-builder and three of the aides surrendered in Westchester County Court Friday and pleaded innocent to the charges. Officials said the two others have arranged to surrender Monday.

The six are among 15 persons indicted Friday as a result of an investigation by State Atty. Gen. Louis J. Lefkowitz into the $91.6 million outlay for the Thruway section, which was opened nearly four years ago.

The 18 sealed indictments were opened by County Judge Robert J. Trainor. All concerned the three-mile stretch of the Thruway in Mamaroneck and Rye that Yonkers Contracting had built for $5,056,140.

The section is 15 miles long, reaching from Bruckner Boulevard in The Bronx to the Byram River at the Connecticut boundary. Several contractors worked on it.

The thefts allegedly were carried out by obtaining payments for work neither needed nor done. Surveyors on the job, the indictments charged, were induced to turn in false reports concerning the project.

Surrendering with the 43-year-old Petrillo were Arthur S.

Showers Predicted, 10 Disaster Areas

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — New York State farmers hoped today for weekend showers to bring relief from a drought that has caused Gov. Rockefeller to designate 10 counties as disaster areas.

The Weather Bureau said that thundershowers were likely in the western portion of the state today and that there was a chance of scattered showers Sunday in the eastern half of the state.

Gov. Rockefeller certified Friday the designation of nine additional counties as disaster areas. He declared St. Lawrence County a disaster area Wednesday.

The nine counties are Allegany, Chenango, Delaware, Franklin, Herkimer, Oneida, Schuyler, Tompkins and Yates.

Eight other counties have submitted or have in preparation applications for such designations.

The governor, in naming the disaster areas, affirmed the recommendations of the State Disaster Committee. Rockefeller's approval was needed for bids by the 10 counties to the U.S. Agriculture Department for permission to graze livestock and cut hay on land reserved for the Soil Bank.

Farmers receive payments from the federal government to take land out of use and place it in the Soil Bank in an effort to reduce farm surpluses.

Rockefeller, in a telegram to U.S. Agriculture Secretary Orville L. Feeman, said:

"The continued lack of rainfall has created a critical drought condition seriously affecting New York State agriculture.

"I hereby certify the need for the release of grazing and hay acreage retired under the Soil Bank and feed-grain program and I strongly urge you to suspend immediately the regulations and agreements covering such acreage in these counties."

Sen. E. Ogden Bush, R-Walton, told Rockefeller in a telegram Friday that farmers in Delaware

The POWER of FAITH

By WOODI ISHMAEL

SYMBOL OF FAITH

One of the great symbols of the Christian faith is the Chalice—the cup from which wine is taken in Holy Communion. It represents the one from which Jesus drank at the Last Supper.

Mark relates ". . . he took the cup and when he had given thanks he gave it to them: and they all drank from it. And he said unto them, This is my blood of the new testament, which is shed for many."

The cup is mentioned in the scriptures again and again. The phrase "my cup runneth over" appears in the Psalms, as does "I will take the cup of My salvation." St. Paul writes "The cup of blessing which we bless, is it not the communion of the blood of Christ?" And, in Matthew, Jesus refers to the cup as a symbol of faith—"Ye shall drink indeed of my cup, and be baptized with the baptism that I am baptized with."

REPAIR STEEPLE—Renovation operations are underway on the steeple of historic Ponckhockie Union Congregational Church, Abruyn Street. The edifice was constructed 92 years ago of reinforced poured concrete to test a theory that large buildings could be made of such materials. During the past few years wind and weather have taken their toll and it was necessary this year to repair the steeple. (Freeman photo)

Alliance School Presents Program

The daily vacation Bible school will present a family program Sunday 7 p. m. at the Christian and Missionary Alliance Church, 131 Franklin Street, under the direction of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Portway of Tornoto, Canada.

The program which marks the close of the school will consist of selections by a trombone band, skits by the children and a story by Mr. Portway. The school has been conducted by the Portways who work in the field of child evangelism.

The pastor, the Rev. Willard D. Crunkilton, invites the public to attend.

Unique Downtown Landmark Gets Facelift After 92 Years

A project which has been attracting much attention in the downtown area lately, is the restoration of the steeple on the Ponckhockie Union Congregational Church, Abruyn Street. For the past six weeks steeplejacks have been at work removing the old, loose cement, and are now ready to resurface the entire steeple.

The church, which has been a Hudson River landmark, since its construction in 1870, has an interesting and unusual history. It was constructed 92 years ago by the Newark Lime and Cement Company, which at that time operated many of the cement quarries in the Kingston area. The main purpose for the construction was to test a theory that large buildings could be made of reinforced, poured concrete. The entire building was constructed of poured concrete, even to the cross atop the 220 foot steeple, which is reported to be the highest of its type in the world.

It is also interesting to note that the stone used in the concrete was obtained from the bluestone industry, which lined the docks of the Rondout Creek at that time. The stonemasons saved the chips which were trimmed from the large flagstones, and these were mixed with the local cement to give the building strength.

At the time of its construction, an air conditioning system was installed in the walls as they were poured. This system circulated the cool air from the basement to the main auditorium and was controlled by a system of vents and shutters. The church was also equipped with gas pipes, cast into the walls.

The most prominent feature of the church was the tall steeple, and to support this great weight the foundation walls under that area were five feet thick. The original plans of the church cannot be located, and there has been much speculation as to the construction of the steeple. The repairs now in progress show that the steele was reinforced with iron rods one inch in diameter and up to 12 feet in length. The cross was mounted on a 1½ inch square iron shaft 20 feet in length. A forged iron framework ½ inch thick, reinforced the solid cement cross.

For many years the church, because of its unique construction, has attracted the attention of many architects and engineers, and its story has been featured in several cement publications.

In spite of its construction, 92 years of weather and countless electrical storms have taken their toll. During the past few years, cracks began to appear around the peak of the steeple. These cracks soon became large enough to weaken the structure and allows the shaft holding the cross to shift, and the cross began to tilt.

Because of this dangerous condition, it was necessary to remove the cross, and 25 feet of the steeple. The original framework of the cross has been refinished, and will be replaced at the new peak. It has also been necessary to remove much of the cracked surface of the steeple. The steeple is now being covered with steel mesh and a new cement surface will be placed over this.

This phase of the project is now in progress, and should be completed in several weeks. Future projects call for the complete renovation of the exterior of the building.

'Christian Agnostic' Pastor Explores Faith Through Art

By JACK C. LANDAU

NEW YORK (AP) — A yocng Presbyterian minister, who calls his belief "Christian Agnosticism" is using plays and abstract paintings in his work.

The Rev. William B. Glenesk of the Spencer Memorial Church in Brooklyn says "I am sure that God exists but I can't prove it—that's the agnostic element."

"To believe in God's existence is a matter of faith, but within the framework of this faith, there is this doubt as to the whereabouts of God," he added.

In an effort to re-affirm his own faith and that of his parishoners and in an attempt to discover more about God's manifestations in the world, Rev. Glenesk believes in experimentation.

"It is an exploratory type of faith; faith grows with exposure. This is an old Greek idea, that is, to begin with things you don't know," he adds.

Grows With Exposure

Because the Rev. Mr. Glenesk does not subscribe to a division between secular and religious activities but believes that everything is under God, he feels free to draw upon the greatest works of art and literature.

He has discussed modern and classic plays, the dance, and art in his sermons as examples of God's spirit at work.

"Hamlet" was used to explore the problems of personal freedom and pride; "King Lear," self discovery; "Death of a Salesman," self deception; "The Tenth Man," supernatural elements in the universe; and "Gideon," war between men.

After the sermons, there are seminars which at times include the Broadway actors who played leading parts. One of Glenesk's reasons for using literature is that "God speaks as strongly through the great poets and artists of today as through the prophets of yesterday."

He reports that his congregation, which numbers about 200 persons, has shown great interest in his new approach and that about 100 attend the Sunday services, of which an average 50 stay on for the seminars.

His views first became widely known last June 30 when he appeared on an early morning radio program and espoused "Christian agnosticism." Since then, he says, he has received about 100 calls, most of them favorable, but some bitterly critical.

The POWER of FAITH

By WOODI ISHMAEL

SYMBOL OF FAITH

One of the great symbols of the Christian faith is the Chalice—the cup from which wine is taken in Holy Communion. It represents the one from which Jesus drank at the Last Supper.

Mark relates ". . . he took the cup and when he had given thanks he gave it to them: and they all drank from it. And he said unto them, This is my blood of the new testament, which is shed for many."

The cup is mentioned in the scriptures again and again. The phrase "my cup runneth over" appears in the Psalms, as does "I will take the cup of My salvation." St. Paul writes "The cup of blessing which we bless, is it not the communion of the blood of Christ?" And, in Matthew, Jesus refers to the cup as a symbol of faith—"Ye shall drink indeed of my cup, and be baptized with the baptism that I am baptized with."

REPAIR STEEPLE—Renovation operations are underway on the steeple of historic Ponckhockie Union Congregational Church, Abruyn Street. The edifice was constructed 92 years ago of reinforced poured concrete to test a theory that large buildings could be made of such materials. During the past few years wind and weather have taken their toll and it was necessary this year to repair the steeple. (Freeman photo)

Alliance School Presents Program

The daily vacation Bible school will present a family program Sunday 7 p. m. at the Christian and Missionary Alliance Church, 131 Franklin Street, under the direction of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Portway of Tornoto, Canada.

The program which marks the close of the school will consist of selections by a trombone band, skits by the children and a story by Mr. Portway. The school has been conducted by the Portways who work in the field of child evangelism.

The pastor, the Rev. Willard D. Crunkilton, invites the public to attend.

Unique Downtown Landmark Gets Facelift After 92 Years

A project which has been attracting much attention in the downtown area lately, is the restoration of the steeple on the Ponckhockie Union Congregational Church, Abruyn Street. For the past six weeks steeplejacks have been at work removing the old, loose cement, and are now ready to resurface the entire steeple.

The church, which has been a Hudson River landmark, since its construction in 1870, has an interesting and unusual history. It was constructed 92 years ago by the Newark Lime and Cement Company, which at that time operated many of the cement quarries in the Kingston area. The main purpose for the construction was to test a theory that large buildings could be made of reinforced, poured concrete. The entire building was constructed of poured concrete, even to the cross atop the 220 foot steeple, which is reported to be the highest of its type in the world.

It is also interesting to note that the stone used in the concrete was obtained from the bluestone industry, which lined the docks of the Rondout Creek at that time. The stonemasons saved the chips which were trimmed from the large flagstones, and these were mixed with the local cement to give the building strength.

At the time of its construction, an air conditioning system was installed in the walls as they were poured. This system circulated the cool air from the basement to the main auditorium and was controlled by a system of vents and shutters. The church was also equipped with gas pipes, cast into the walls.

The most prominent feature of the church was the tall steeple, and to support this great weight the foundation walls under that area were five feet thick. The original plans of the church cannot be located, and there has been much speculation as to the construction of the steeple. The repairs now in progress show that the steele was reinforced with iron rods one inch in diameter and up to 12 feet in length. The cross was mounted on a 1½ inch square iron shaft 20 feet in length. A forged iron framework ½ inch thick, reinforced the solid cement cross.

For many years the church, because of its unique construction, has attracted the attention of many architects and engineers, and its story has been featured in several cement publications.

In spite of its construction, 92 years of weather and countless electrical storms have taken their toll. During the past few years, cracks began to appear around the peak of the steeple. These cracks soon became large enough to weaken the structure and allows the shaft holding the cross to shift, and the cross began to tilt.

Because of this dangerous condition, it was necessary to remove the cross, and 25 feet of the steeple. The original framework of the cross has been refinished, and will be replaced at the new peak. It has also been necessary to remove much of the cracked surface of the steeple. The steeple is now being covered with steel mesh and a new cement surface will be placed over this.

This phase of the project is now in progress, and should be completed in several weeks. Future projects call for the complete renovation of the exterior of the building.

'Christian Agnostic' Pastor Explores Faith Through Art

By JACK C. LANDAU

NEW YORK (AP) — A yocng Presbyterian minister, who calls his belief "Christian Agnosticism" is using plays and abstract paintings in his work.

The Rev. William B. Glenesk of the Spencer Memorial Church in Brooklyn says "I am sure that God exists but I can't prove it—that's the agnostic element."

"To believe in God's existence is a matter of faith, but within the framework of this faith, there is this doubt as to the whereabouts of God," he added.

In an effort to re-affirm his own faith and that of his parishioners and in an attempt to discover more about God's manifestations in the world, Rev. Glenesk believes in experimentation.

"It is an exploratory type of faith; faith grows with exposure. This is an old Greek idea, that is, to begin with things you don't know," he adds.

Grows With Exposure

Because the Rev. Mr. Glenesk does not subscribe to a division between secular and religious activities but believes that everything is under God, he feels free to draw upon the greatest works of art and literature.

He has discussed modern and classic plays, the dance, and art in his sermons as examples of God's spirit at work.

"Hamlet" was used to explore the problems of personal freedom and pride; "King Lear," self discovery; "Death of a Salesman," self deception; "The Tenth Man," supernatural elements in the universe; and "Gideon," war between men.

After the sermons, there are seminars which at times include the Broadway actors who played leading parts. One of Glenesk's reasons for using literature is that "God speaks as strongly through the great poets and artists of today as through the prophets of yesterday."

He reports that his congregation, which numbers about 200 persons, has shown great interest in his new approach and that about 100 attend the Sunday services, of which an average 50 stay on for the seminars.

His views first became widely known last June 30 when he appeared on an early morning radio program and espoused "Christian agnosticism." Since then, he says, he has received about 100 calls, most of them favorable, but some bitterly critical.

Triduum to St. Anne

A Triduum in honor of St. Anne will be preached by the Rev. Bernard P. Gerrity and the Rev. James J. McNally, at the Church of St. Catherine Laboure, Tuytenbridge Road, Lake Katrine, on July 24, 25, and 26. Evening services will start at 7:30 p. m. and will consist of prayers, sermon, and benediction. Masses in the morning will be at 7 and 8 o'clock.

Ancient Palace Jumps to Twist

WOODSTOCK, England (AP)—Ancient Blenheim Palace, birthplace of Sir Winston Churchill, jumped to the twist today. Princess Margaret led the beat at a gay coming out party for a pretty American debutante.

The honking rhythm echoed until near dawn through the 10th Duke of Marlborough's stately 303-room hall as 1,100 guests gyrated between gulps of lobster and champagne.

The glittering ball, attended by the cream of British and American society, served a double purpose.

It also marked the 22nd birthday of his son, Lord Charles George William Colin Sepncer-Churchill, a junior at Vanderbilt University in Nashville, Tenn.

Princess Margaret, her hair an orange tinge and set in a new style, did a sprightly but not violent twist, spectators said.

Thus she became the second member of Britain's royal family to be spotted doing the twist in public. The Duke of Edinburgh performed the dance at a ball given this spring by Queen Juliana of the Netherlands.

The American guest of honor, Miss Russell, also was born in the 340-year-old palace. She wore a close-fitting strapless gown of white cake lace, which flared from her trim hipline to a full hemline.

No Questions Asked

GLENS FALLS, N.Y. (AP) — When John Bright walked into police headquarters and paid a $1 parking fine without comment, the traffic clerk didn't ask questions.

Later Bright confessed that his car was tagged for overtime parking while he was attending a meeting of the city Board of Public Safety.

"These meetings last too long," was his comment.

Khrush Will Visit Two Arctic Cities

MOSCOW (AP) — Premier Khrushchev says he is planning to make his first visit to the arctic cities of Murmansk and Archangels Sunday.

In a brief Kremlin meeting Friday with Italian Ambassador Carlo Alberto Straneo, Khrushchev also said he plans to take a vacation at the end of July or beginning of August.

U.S. Officer Is Killed as Reds Ambush Convoy

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) —A U.S. Army officer was killed about 40 miles north of here today in a Communist ambush of battalion strength that crashed a large government convoy.

First reports said 17 government troops were killed with the American, 14 were wounded and 4 were missing.

A jeep was destroyed and two trucks were heavily damaged. There was no indication of Red casualties.

The name of the dead American was withheld pending notification of his family.

U.S. authorities reported the Viet Cong unit that carried out the ambush was under air observation and was being pursued by fighter planes, U.S. Army helicopters loaded with troops, and transport planes loaded with paratroopers.

The convoy hit in the Communist attack consisted of two companies from the Vietnamese airborne brigade and a command group.

The ambush was on a National Route 13 in a heavily forested area considered under Communist control. About 280 government troops were in the convoy. They were on mopping up operations in the area.

The pattern of ambush was identical to one June 16 on the same road in which an armored convoy was raided and two U.S. officers were killed.

Stratton Sees Medical Passage

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Congress will overwhelmingly pass the Kennedy administration's medicare bill because "it is tremendously popular back home with the people. . .and because it meets an urgent American need," says Rep. Samuel Stratton of Schenectady.

Speaking Friday at the closing session of the five-day American Newspaper Guild convention, Stratton, a candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor, said he thinks most doctors are really not opposed to the King-Anderson bill.

"I've found when I've talked to them individually, they realize that this bill doesn't really affect them at all," he said.

The bill, providing for medical care for the aged under Social Security, has been vigorously opposed by the American Medical Association.

Edward Easton Jr., of the New York World-Telegram & Sun was elected international vice president of the guild to fill one year of the unexpired term of the late James B. Egan.

Blind Date Ends in Court; Contractor Paid $30,000

HOLLYWOOD, Calif. (AP) — Reginald A. Wike was excited as he entered the Hollywood bowling alley and looked about for his blind date.

He wore a grey suit, as he'd promised. She was to have on a yellow shortie coat.

"What if there are two girls with yellow shortie coats?" he'd asked anxiously when she telephoned him. It was good he'd thought of that, for there were, indeed, two girls with yellow shortie coats.

He was glad he'd suggested she carry a red rose as he searched for the girl who'd inserted this ad in the personal column of a metropolitan newspaper:

Rose Was Clue

"Attractive brunette, 5 ft. 6½ in., 135 lbs, affectionate, would like to meet nice man with property."

Reginald, a well-to-do landscape contractor, had liked that. He'd written to the box number, she'd called him up, and now—

He spotted her. She was wearing the coat. She had the rose. And he found her very attractive, indeed.

They hit it off at once. The disparity in their ages was a trifle in Hollywood—he 53 and she 39. Her name was Lucille—Miss Lucille Hackenberger.

Contractor Proposes

They took in a movie. She told him he was so distinguished looking she thought he was a doctor.

"I felt so flattered and bashful I just smiled," Reginald told a friend.

She proved to be affectionate, too. She kissed him that night—something of a surprise.

"I ordinarily don't kiss a person on the first date," explained Reginald.

That memorable blind date was on Dec. 14, 1953. They saw a lot of each other from then on. On New Year's Day, 1954, he proposed. She accepted. They were two of the happiest lovers in the world.

But something always kept interfering with their wedding. She kept having to put it off. Meanwhile, he was glad to be able to help his fiancee with her finances.

Seven long years elapsed. He felt this was too long an engagement. He became impatient. Finally, he convinced himself she didn't love him at all—didn't even intend marrying him. It was late 1960. He talked to a lawyer.

Superior Judge Eugene P. Fay ruled Friday that Reginald, now 62, had it doped correctly, that she was after his property. The judge ordered Miss Hackenberger, now 48, to give back $75,000 worth of real estate he'd deeded to her.

But the judge said there was nothing he could do about cash gifts the disappointed swain said he'd made over the years — not enough evidence, the judge held. Reginald said they came to about $30,000.

Glancing Over TV Bill of Fare

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — There's good news for Dennis the Menace next season: He can act his age.

He's Growing Up

"He won't have to wear those swaddling clothes that he's had on for three years," says Winston O'Keefe, producer of the series. "Nor will he have that slingshot sewed into his back pocket all the time. Dennis is growing up."

Jay North, who is Dennis, won't have to fudge on his age any longer. He'll be playing the role as 10 years old, which is what he really is.

Dennis has virtually been 6 for three years now. But with Jay crashing headlong toward adolescence, something had to give.

Actually, the recognition of Dennis's growth—he'll be in long pants next season—is part of long-range planning to keep the series in good health. If it succeeds, we may some day be seeing such adventures as "Dennis Goes to College," "Dennis Gets Drafted," "Dennis the Menace, Jr."

"We've been making some changes all along," explained O'Keefe.

"A big change was occasioned by the death of Joe Kearns, who played Mr. Wilson. Joe was a folksy kind of comedian; Gale Gordon, who replaced him, is smarter, more sophisticated. That gives us more chance for all kinds of comedy.

Too Young for Retirement

"When Joe was Mr. Wilson, he was retired. Thus the situations had to come out of his own vanity, his pig-headedness, etc. Gale is not old enough to be retired. We have made him a contributing editor to a magazine. This allows him to get into different fields of interest.

"We have been broadening the scope of the series, getting into more action, more slapstick. Next year we'll be going on location—to San Diego, Washington, D.C., and perhaps Hawaii. If we last another season, we might even go to Europe. Imagine Dennis in Paris!"

It's frightening. But such is progress in the television jungle.

Keizer Now Off Critical List, Injured June 28

Peter P. Keizer, 21, aviation electronics technician, second class, of Williams Street, Port Ewen, is now off the critical list, the Portsmouth Naval Hospital reported this week.

However, Airman Keizer will remain a patient at the hospital for some time.

Mrs. Peter Keizer, who has been with her son since the Navy AD5Q Skyraider crashed at sea and burned 10 miles east of Dam Neck June 28, expects to return to her home early next week.

She reports that while her son is unable to write, due to the condition of his burned hands, he would appreciate mail addressed to the Virginia hospital.

New Conductor

UTICA, N.Y. (AP) — Joseph Henry, a member of the faculty of the St. Lawrence College Conservatory of Music in Wisconsin, is the new conductor of the Utica Symphony Orchestra.

He replaced Jose Serebrier, 23-year-old Uruguayan, who was denied a contract for the 1962-63 season because of a personality clash with some of his musicians. The directors of the Utica Civic Music Society said Serebrier's musical ability was not a factor.

Heny also will teach music at Utica College. He is a graduate of the Eastman School of Music.

Crash Kills Two

NIAGARA FALLS, N.Y. (AP)—Two men were killed today when their automobile went out of control and struck a bridge abutment in the downtown section of this Western New York city.

They were William Zimmerman, 24, and Donald Anderson, 20, both of the nearby town of Niagara.

Hudson Director Given Iowa Post

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP)—Dr. Leonard D. Eron, research director of a mental health center at Hudson, N.Y., has been hired as a professor of psychology at the State University of Iowa at Iowa City.

His appointment at a nine-month salary of $19,000 was approved Friday by the State Board of Regents. Eron has been research director of the Rip Van Winkle Foundation, which operates the center in New York.

Brush Fires Checked

Mutual Aid received calls for brush fires at Ruby and Cragsmoor Friday. The fires burned over a considerable area before they were contained. Warnings have been issued to be extremely careful during the present dry weather and burning has been banned in many areas due to the severe drought.

Rocky Asks Probe Of Upstate Jail

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — Gov. Rockefeller says the state will not take over Onondaga County's two jails, as Dist. Atty. Joseph A. Ryan requests. Instead the governor asks that the district attorney prosecute persons involved in alleged sexual perversion among inmates.

The Republican governor's office also advised the Democratic district attorney Friday to cooperate with the State Correction Commission in a probe that stemmed from Ryan's claim that more than 300 acts of sodomy were committed in the jails within the last year.

Ryan asked Rockefeller last month to order State Police to seize the jails.

Thirteen prisoners or former prisoners have been indicted, arrested or are sought on felony charges of first-degree sodomy.

Jury to Resume On Resnick Today

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — The jury in the Samuel Resnick murder trial was to resume deliberations today in the case of five Negro men who claim Resnick hired them to kill him.

The retired Albany, N.Y., jeweler was strangled with a rope March 1.

The trial lasted four weeks.

The jury—eight women and four men—had the case for two hours before retiring Friday night.

Superior Judge George M. Sterling told the jury Friday to set the penalty at either life imprisonment or death, if it were to convict the men of first-degree murder.

The judge said he would pronounce sentence on a second-degree murder or manslaughter finding.

The five, who contended the 61-year-old Resnick hired them to kill him because he was suffering from cancer, are:

John Jones, 20, brothers R. E., 21, and Clemmie Lee Jackson, 19, Jessie Tillis, 19, and Ernest Spurlock, 20.

Court Plans 'Showdown'

A concerted review to reduce the pending cases in Supreme Court at Poughkeepsie is planned by Supreme Court Justice John P. Donohoe, who said Friday a "showdown" inspection of 1,000 cases on the calendar will start at the opening of September term of court. "Many attorneys put cases on the calendar before they are actually ready for trial," Justice Donohoe said. "Those cases on the calendar not ready for trial will be knocked off."

Drowning Ruled In Man's Death

AUSABLE FORKS, N.Y. (AP) —A coroner says the death of a man, who reportedly leaped nude into the Ausable River from the porch of a second-floor apartment was due to drowning.

Dana Weeks, Essex County coroner, said he would hold an inquest into circumstances surrounding the death early Friday of Marshall Crawford, 57. He said he would withhold a verdict until after the inquest, for which he set no date.

State Police said Florence Paquette told them Crawford jumped without warning from the porch of the house where both lived. Troopers said neighbors told them Crawford and theee Paqutte woman had been arguing.

Troopers, who listed Crawford's death as an apparent suicide, said the man fell 60 feet into about two feet of water.

Reds Shell Quemoy

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—The Chinese Communists fired 28 shells at the Quemoy Islands in a 43-minute bombardment Friday night, the Chinese Nationalist defense ministry in Taipei reported today.

Greenwich Woman Is Killed in Fall

GREENWICH, N.Y. (AP)—Mrs. Louise V. Kapper, 45, was found dead Friday in the yard of her home after she apparently fell 13 feet from a porch roof where her husband said she often stood "to get some air."

Charles Cole, Washington County coroner, said the death was accidental.

Two Are Killed As Auto Plunges

SHUSHAN, N.Y. (AP) — Two persons were killed and two others injured Friday when an automobile left the highway at a sharp curve and plunged 30 feet down an embankment near this Washington County village.

Dead were William Ryan, 75, of Albany, and Mrs. John Hill, 75, of Shushan.

Ancient Palace Jumps to Twist

WOODSTOCK, England (AP)—Ancient Blenheim Palace, birthplace of Sir Winston Churchill, jumped to the twist today. Princess Margaret led the beat at a gay coming out party for a pretty American debutante.

The honking rhythm echoed until near dawn through the 10th Duke of Marlborough's stately 303-room hall as 1,100 guests gyrated between gulps of lobster and champagne.

The glittering ball, attended by the cream of British and American society, served a double purpose.

It also marked the 22nd birthday of his son, Lord Charles George William Colin Sepncer-Churchill, a junior at Vanderbilt University in Nashville, Tenn.

Princess Margaret, her hair an orange tinge and set in a new style, did a sprightly but not violent twist, spectators said.

Thus she became the second member of Britain's royal family to be spotted doing the twist in public. The Duke of Edinburgh performed the dance at a ball given this spring by Queen Juliana of the Netherlands.

Margaret and her husband, Lord Snowdon, who are weekending at the nearby home of the Marquis and Marchioness of Blandford, arrived late for the party.

The American guest of honor, Miss Russell, also was born in the 340-year-old palace. She wore a close-fitting strapless gown of white cake lace, which flared from her trim hipline to a full hemline.

No Questions Asked

GLENS FALLS, N.Y. (AP) — When John Bright walked into police headquarters and paid a $1 parking fine without comment, the traffic clerk didn't ask questions.

Bright is the city's public safety commissioner.

Later Bright confessed that his car was tagged for overtime parking while he was attending a meeting of the city Board of Public Safety.

"These meetings last too long," was his comment.

Khrush Will Visit Two Arctic Cities

MOSCOW (AP) — Premier Khrushchev says he is planning to make his first visit to the arctic cities of Murmansk and Archangels Sunday.

In a brief Kremlin meeting Friday with Italian Ambassador Carlo Alberto Straneo, Khrushchev also said he plans to take a vacation at the end of July or beginning of August.

U.S. Officer Is Killed as Reds Ambush Convoy

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) —A U.S. Army officer was killed about 40 miles north of here today in a Communist ambush of battalion strength that crashed a large government convoy.

First reports said 17 government troops were killed with the American, 14 were wounded and 4 were missing.

A jeep was destroyed and two trucks were heavily damaged. There was no indication of Red casualties.

The name of the dead American was withheld pending notification of his family.

U.S. authorities reported the Viet Cong unit that carried out the ambush was under air observation and was being pursued by fighter planes, U.S. Army helicopters loaded with troops, and transport planes loaded with paratroopers.

The convoy hit in the Communist attack consisted of two companies from the Vietnamese airborne brigade and a command group.

The ambush was on a National Route 13 in a heavily forested area considered under Communist control. About 280 government troops were in the convoy. They were on mopping up operations in the area.

The pattern of ambush was identical to one June 16 on the same road in which an armored convoy was raided and two U.S. officers were killed.

Stratton Sees Medical Passage

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Congress will overwhelmingly pass the Kennedy administration's medicare bill because "it is tremendously popular back home with the people . . and because it meets an urgent American need," says Rep. Samuel Stratton of Schenectady.

Speaking Friday at the closing session of the five-day American Newspaper Guild convention, Stratton, a candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor, said he thinks most doctors are really not opposed to the King-Anderson bill.

"I've found when I've talked to them individually, they realize that this bill doesn't really affect them at all," he said.

The bill, providing for medical care for the aged under Social Security, has been vigorously opposed by the American Medical Association.

Edward Easton Jr., of the New York World-Telegram & Sun was elected international vice president of the guild to fill one year of the unexpired term of the late James B. Egan.

Blind Date Ends in Court; Contractor Paid $30,000

HOLLYWOOD, Calif. (AP) — Reginald A. Wike was excited as he entered the Hollywood bowling alley and looked about for his blind date.

He wore a grey suit, as he'd promised. She was to have on a yellow shortie coat.

"What if there are two girls with yellow shortie coats?" he'd asked anxiously when she telephoned him. It was good he'd thought of that, for there were, indeed, two girls with yellow shortie coats.

He was glad he'd suggested she carry a red rose as he searched for the girl who'd inserted this ad in the personal column of a metropolitan newspaper:

Rose Was Clue

"Attractive brunette, 5 ft. 6½ in., 135 lbs, affectionate, would like to meet nice man with property."

Reginald, a well-to-do landscape contractor, had liked that. He'd written to the box number, she'd called him up, and now—

He spotted her. She was wearing the coat. She had the rose. And he found her very attractive, indeed.

They hit it off at once. The disparity in their ages was a trifle in Hollywood—he 53 and she 39. Her name was Lucille—Miss Lucille Hackenberger.

Contractor Proposes

They took in a movie. She told him he was so distinguished looking she thought he was a doctor.

"I felt so flattered and bashful I just smiled," Reginald told a friend.

She proved to be affectionate, too. She kissed him that night—something of a surprise.

"I ordinarily don't kiss a person on the first date," explained Reginald.

That memorable blind date was on Dec. 14, 1953. They saw a lot of each other from then on. On New Year's Day, 1954, he proposed. She accepted. They were two of the happiest lovers in the world.

But something always kept interfering with their wedding. She kept having to put it off. Meanwhile, he was glad to be able to help his fiancee with her finances.

Seven long years elapsed. He felt this was too long an engagement. He became impatient. Finally, he convinced himself she didn't love him at all—didn't even intend marrying him. It was late 1960. He talked to a lawyer.

Superior Judge Eugene P. Fay ruled Friday that Reginald, now 62, had it doped correctly, that she was after his property. The judge ordered Miss Hackenberger, now 48, to give back $75,000 worth of real estate he'd deeded to her.

But the judge said there was nothing he could do about cash gifts the disappointed swain said he'd made over the years — not enough evidence, the judge held. Reginald said they came to about $30,000.

Glancing Over TV Bill of Fare

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — There's good news for Dennis the Menace next season: He can act his age.

He's Growing Up

"He won't have to wear those swaddling clothes that he's had on for three years," says Winston O'Keefe, producer of the series. "Nor will he have that slingshot sewed into his back pocket all the time. Dennis is growing up."

Jay North, who is Dennis, won't have to fudge on his age any longer. He'll be playing the role as 10 years old, which is what he really is.

Dennis has virtually been 6 for three years now. But with Jay crashing headlong toward adolescence, something had to give.

Actually, the recognition of Dennis's growth—he'll be in long pants next season—is part of long-range planning to keep the series in good health. If it succeeds, we may some day be seeing such adventures as "Dennis Goes to College," "Dennis Gets Drafted," "Dennis the Menace, Jr."

"We've been making some changes all along," explained O'Keefe.

"A big change was occasioned by the death of Joe Kearns, who played Mr. Wilson. Joe was a folksy kind of comedian; Gale Gordon, who replaced him, is smarter, more sophisticated. That gives us more chance for all kinds of comedy.

Too Young for Retirement

"When Joe was Mr. Wilson, he was retired. Thus the situations had to come out of his own vanity, his pig-headedness, etc. Gale is not old enough to be retired. We have made him a contributing editor to a magazine. This allows him to get into different fields of interest.

"We have been broadening the scope of the series, getting into more action, more slapstick. Next year we'll be going on location—to San Diego, Washington, D.C., and perhaps Hawaii. If we last another season, we might even go to Europe. Imagine Dennis in Paris!"

It's frightening. But such is progress in the television jungle.

Hudson Director Given Iowa Post

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP)—Dr. Leonard D. Eron, research director of a mental health center at Hudson, N.Y., has been hired as a professor of psychology at the State University of Iowa at Iowa City.

His appointment at a nine-month salary of $19,000 was approved Friday by the State Board of Regents. Eron has been research director of the Rip Van Winkle Foundation, which operates the center in New York.

Brush Fires Checked

Mutual Aid received calls for brush fires at Ruby and Cragsmoor Friday. The fires burned over a considerable area before they were contained. Warnings have been issued to be extremely careful during the present dry weather and burning has been banned in many areas due to the severe drought.

Rocky Asks Probe Of Upstate Jail

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — Gov. Rockefeller says the state will not take over Onondaga County's two jails, as Dist. Atty. Joseph A. Ryan requests. Instead the governor asks that the district attorney prosecute persons involved in alleged sexual perversion among inmates.

The Republican governor's office also advised the Democratic district attorney Friday to cooperate with the State Correction Commission in a probe that stemmed from Ryan's claim that more than 300 acts of sodomy were committed in the jails within the last year.

Ryan asked Rockefeller last month to order State Police to seize the jails.

Thirteen prisoners or former prisoners have been indicted, arrested or are sought on felony charges of first-degree sodomy.

Jury to Resume On Resnick Today

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — The jury in the Samuel Resnick murder trial was to resume deliberations today in the case of five Negro men who claim Resnick hired them to kill him.

The retired Albany, N.Y., jeweler was strangled with a rope March 1.

The trial lasted four weeks.

The jury—eight women and four men—had the case for two hours before retiring Friday night.

Superior Judge George M. Sterling told the jury Friday to set the penalty at either life imprisonment or death, if it were to convict the men of first-degree murder.

The judge said he would pronounce sentence on a second-degree murder or manslaughter finding.

The five, who contended the 61-year-old Resnick hired them to kill him because he was suffering from cancer, are:

John Jones, 20, brothers R. E., 21, and Clemmie Lee Jackson, 19, Jessie Tillis, 19, and Ernest Spurlock, 20.

Court Plans 'Showdown'

A concerted review to reduce the pending cases in Supreme Court at Poughkeepsie is planned by Supreme Court Justice John P. Donohoe, who said Friday a "showdown" inspection of 1,000 cases on the calendar will start at the opening of September term of court. "Many attorneys put cases on the calendar before they are actually ready for trial," Justice Donohoe said. "Those cases on the calendar not ready for trial will be knocked off."

Drowning Ruled In Man's Death

AUSABLE FORKS, N.Y. (AP) —A coroner says the death of a man, who reportedly leaped nude into the Ausable River from the porch of a second-floor apartment was due to drowning.

Dana Weeks, Essex County coroner, said he would hold an inquest into circumstances surrounding the death early Friday of Marshall Crawford, 57. He said he would withhold a verdict until after the inquest, for which he set no date.

State Police said Florence Paquette told them Crawford jumped without warning from the porch of the house where both lived. Troopers said neighbors told them Crawford and theee Paqutte woman had been arguing.

Troopers, who listed Crawford's death as an apparent suicide, said the man fell 60 feet into about two feet of water.

Reds Shell Quemoy

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—The Chinese Communists fired 28 shells at the Quemoy Islands in a 43-minute bombardment Friday night, the Chinese Nationalist defense ministry in Taipei reported today.

Greenwich Woman Is Killed in Fall

GREENWICH, N.Y. (AP)—Mrs. Louise V. Kapper, 45, was found dead Friday in the yard of her home after she apparently fell 13 feet from a porch roof where her husband said she often stood "to get some air."

Charles Cole, Washington County coroner, said the death was accidental.

Two Are Killed As Auto Plunges

SHUSHAN, N.Y. (AP) — Two persons were killed and two others injured Friday when an automobile left the highway at a sharp curve and plunged 30 feet down an embankment near this Washington County village.

Dead were William Ryan, 75, of Albany, and Mrs. John Hill, 75, of Shushan.

John Hill, 78, of Shushan, was in serious condition at Mary McClellan Hospital in Cambridge. Miss Margaret Norris, 54, of Watervliet, was in fair condition at the same hospital.

PLEASANT SEASON

"Summertime, and the livin' is easy."

That's what the song says and, fortunately, for most of us summer is a pleasant season. But like everything else in this world, there are flies in the ointment—not only flies, literally, as well as Japanese beetles and other bugs, but hazards like poison ivy, snake bites, burns, driving accidents and other things which come with summer's outdoor living and traveling.

For many innocent sufferers of hay fever, the season can be one of real misery. For them, the daily pollen count becomes more important than the humidity. This is the number of pollen grains caught on a glycerine-coated slide within a 24-hour period.

They really shouldn't pay much attention to the pollen count, though, at least according to one doctor. Dr. James McLean of the University of Michigan points out that the count is usually a day late, is inaccurate and is only one gauge of how bad a person's symptoms may be. It cant' be relied on completely by a sufferer.

Damp weather, temperature changes, food reactions, dust, mental and emotional strain, as well as pollen and mold spore in the air must also be taken into consideration, he says.

For hundreds of thousands of others, a dose of poison ivy will make this summer a memorable one which they would like to forget.

Many persons who think they are immune are in for a bad surprise. (Few people are naturally immune.) Actually, by frequent exposure, they are building up sensitivity. When exposed to a large dose, they may come down with a severe case.

Poison ivy is found in every state except California and Nevada. The best course is to be able to recognize the plant and avoid it.

If contact is made with it, the affected area should be washed repeatedly with strong laundry soap. Many commercial preparations are available to reduce the itching and inflammation. A 95-per-cent-sure built-in immunity against poison ivy and poison oak can now be had in advance of the season with a tablet developed by the American Medical Assn.

All in all, most folks would agree that summer is a pretty nice time. A little care and common sense is all that is required to keep it that way.

GLOBAL TELEVISION

The great news that Telstar really works—that on first attempt a communications satellite went into proper orbit and did its job of relaying sound and pictures greater distances than ever possible before—demonstrates once more what hard-headed science can contribute to the world of ideas.

Out of the laboratories and testing grounds has come a device the size of a beach ball which will bring a new degree of reality to the exchange of information among nations. Seeing is believing, and although pictures and brief direct reports have some limitations, they do bring a special kind of credibility.

If a president of the United States can be seen and heard around the world while actually speaking in America, his words will have added impact. If people of other nations can see, almost first hand, the news of this country as it happens, and if Americans can have box seats by television at some of the significant events elsewhere, inevitably all will gain in understanding important similarities and differences which affect international relations.

The potential for expanding radio, telephone and telegraph facilities by means of satellites is tremendous. This development will have increasing value as the loads on conventional equipment for the ending of messages get greater.

The communications marvel of a century ago was the trans-Atlantic cable, over which Queen Victoria and President Buchanan exchanged greetings in 1858, though it did not provide continuing service until 1866. Telstar is infinitely more intricate and even more appealing to the imgaination, as suits this age of complex global activity.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

SASKATCHEWAN

The strike of the doctors in Saskatchewan is the direct result of the effort of a Socialist government to reduce a profession to a trade, professional men to a proletariat. If the individuality of the professional man is to be reduced to the unprofessional position of the unskilled hourly worker, then the professional man is entitled to strike as the hourly worker is entitled to strike. From this standpoint the situation is altogether clear and the strike is justified.

On the other hand, no matter what socialist politicians try to do, a physician and a surgeon are indispensable. Without them life can come into existence and death can destroy life. But were epidemics of polio, meningitis, cholera or other frightful illnesses to break out, Saskatchewan would become a pest-hole and a danger to all Canada and to the United States. It would have to be quarantined.

In the complicated world in which we live, it is impossible to be without physicians and surgeons. There are, of course, religious groups, such as the Christian Scientists, who do not acknowledge the enormous achievements of modern medicine but the statistics clearly prove an increase in longevity and in spite of the practice of birth control, by one means or another, population is on the increase.

In Saskatchewan, the strike of the doctors may be the first in human history. The professional man must endure a long period of preparation. He cannot learn his art or science by reading a book of instructions. He requires a very thorough training over a period of between seven and ten years, depending upon whether he specializes. He is not a mere technician. To be of value, he must have the patience of a saint, the delicacy of a good mother and the ruthlessness of a tyrant.

Such a man cannot be regarded as an hourly laborer. The socialist might ask, "Why is he any better than anyone else?" The answer is that he has done so much work in preparation for the one moment when there is no alternative but death.

The other night, I saw one of those old Lew Ayres and Lionel Barrymore, "Dr. Kildare" pictures. All through the movie ran the theme, "What would have happened to the girl if Dr. Kildare had not risked himself and his entire professional career to help her? And one felt that the alternative was death.

For many years I lived in China. Each Spring when the crab season appeared, thousands died of dysentery. When the watermelon appeared, thousands died of cholera. One day, I was riding in a rickshaw and after a while, I saw the coolie's face. The devil had the smallpox. I went to a doctor and got myself vaccinated all over again. It was nothing to spend miserable days in a hospital with a frightful dysentery. Children died during the Summer of ailments utterly forgotten in this country. Tuberculosis was so usual that I saw men rise from the dinner table to "spit blood."

I learned to have a very healthy respect for the medical profession in those days. A little friend of mine had a very bad case of what her parents called measels. They called in several native Chinese doctors, each one of whom had a private medicine that had been in his family a long time. Each one of these men was jealous of the other. So the head of the household called in a necromancer who did some magic over the various medicines; finally he selected one. The child died.

The quarrel in Saskatchewan goes deeper than how much is a doctor to charge for his services. The medical profession rejects nationalization. I often see articles complaining about what doctors charge. I do not hear of these writers giving their services for nothing. Nor do I hear them proposing, as they grow better known, that their pay be reduced. It is amazing how a man will go to a night club and pay whatever he is charged, even if the date is counted in, but the same man will appreciate legal services for nothing and he pays the doctor only after protest.

My sympathy is with the Saskatchewan doctors who are fighting a battle for all the prefossional men in this era of mobocracy. A private opinion about a mastoid or a peptic ulcer could do infinite damage, even if carried by a majority.

The Mature Parent

For Your Own Sake, Learn Generosity's Limit

MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Dear Mrs. Lawrence:

Our daughter-in-law has written, asking us to look after her three children while she accompanies our son on a month-long business trip this summer.

I have not been able to sleep since getting the letter. As my husband is badly crippled with arthritis, looking after him takes all the strength I've got. My daughter-in-law knows what she is asking when she asks me to take on the care of her three active youngsters, all under 10 years of age. She says it's my son who told her to ask this though I am sure that she is the one who is pushing this trip with him. . . .

Why are you so angry at her? She is as free to ask you for this favor as you are to refuse it. Why can't you use your freedom to refuse it?

I don't know the answer.

However, I do know that we could become very angry at a daughter-in-law who asks for more than we want to give her, if we idealize our kindly feelings toward other people.

If we secretly think of ourselves as an especially generous parent to our children, any demand they make which we can't grant will make us so uncomfortable that we'll become impatient and critical of them.

We don't want the limits of our unselfishness exposed to us. So they are ungrateful and inconsiderate to ask for what we don't want to give them. Our daughter-in-law and our son should so plan their affairs to enable us to preserve our pride in our boundless generosity instead of showing us up as interested in our own comfort.

How dare a son's wife face us with the truth: our resistance to being bothered with the care of three exhausting children while she goes gallivanting on a holiday?

It may be that you are shifting the anger you feel at the limits of your own generosity to your daughter-in-law. If so, you'd better accept them.

Sooner or later, we all have to look at our high-flown delusion that our kindliness is limitless—and return to earth from outer space.

The problem is always the problem of re-entry from our lonely flights into unearthly grandeur back into our earthly, limited human selves.

Once we can digest the idea that our generosity is imperfect, answers begin to suggest themselves. For example, you might find it possible to sit down and write to your daughter-in-law, "Though I'm not up to looking after the children for the entire period of your trip, I'd be glad to have them for a time. . . ."

The point is, if our kindliness must be boundless, we cannot consider the limited kind. We must give everything we're asked for—or nothing at all. Then we have to begin to lose sleep to our resentment of the daughter-in-law who has involved us in our conflict between the kind of gloriously generous person we think we ought to be, and the person we actually are.

When you can claim your freedom to refuse her request, you may find yourself happy to grant some of it.

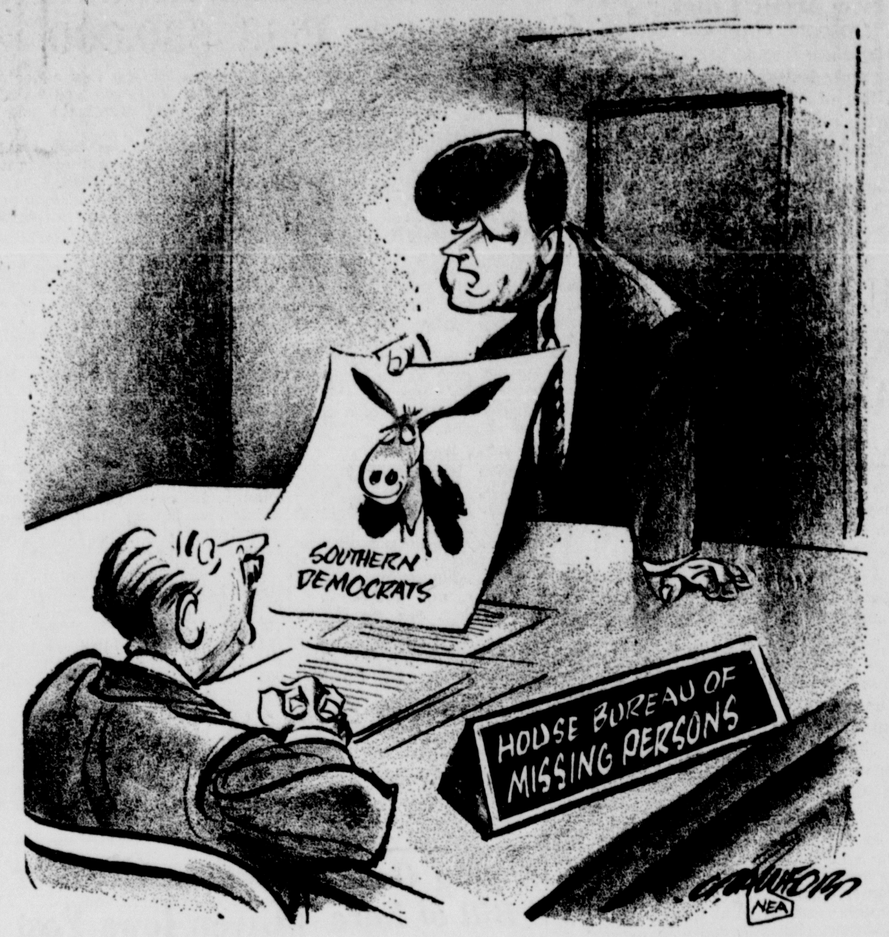
"He's Got Long Ears and He's Stubborn as a Mule!"



Washington News

BY WASHINGTON STAFF
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Former vice president Richard M. Nixon says he needs a million Democratic votes to win the California governorship this fall, and he intends to shake a million hands between now and Nov. 6. He has gone into training for the job of winning over Democrats.

"I'm practicing the piano every morning (like Harry Truman) Nixon says, "and I'm jumping into the swimming pool every night (like Bobby Kennedy's guests) with my clothes on."

DIFFICULTIES of caring for an increasing number of destitute people over 90 years old was discussed by Ohio Gov. Mike DiSalle at the Hershey, Pa., governors' conference.

"One man retired at the age of 70," said the governor. "He ran out of money at the age of 92, so of course the Republicans accused him of poor planning."

DiSalle explained that presently available state care for such a person is skimpy—$2.20 a day. He added:

"This is to provide for his food, clothing, shelter, utilities, and whatever vices he still has."

DiSalle grabbed his own microphone and mumbled:

"I hope you can get more delegates than that."

NEW YORK Sen. Kenneth B. Keating is being kidded a little bit about the initials of the new All Republican Conference—ARC—that he inspired party leaders to set up. They're the same as the initials for American Red Cross, and Keating was asked if this was a first aid or disaster relief operation.

"Not at all, not at all," he says. "The initials merely spell the word 'arc.' I see this organization as an arc between Congress and the states for the coming election—a rainbow arc in full Technicolor with a pot of gold at the end, which is victory."

FOR YEARS Michigan Democrats have been smarting under GOP charges that Walter Reuther's United Auto Workers "control" the party in their state.

Denials appear to be futile; so Gov. John Swainson, husky, legless veteran, resorts to spoofing the idea.

Michigan's vehicle licence plates bear the legend "Michigan — Water Wonderland," Swainson told a fellow governor of Hershey, Pa., that he is thinking of changing it to read "Walter's Wonderland."

AGRICULTURE Department officials continue to remember Billie Sol Estes vividly. An assistant secretary of agriculture, in suggesting that a newspaperman and two of his deputies lunch together, made it clear that each man would pay for his own meal. "You can't be too careful these days," he said.

"PULL MY COATTAIL if I'm talking too long," said golden-tongued Republican Senate Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois to GOP National Chairman Bill Miller at the party leadership rally on Eisenhower's Gettysburg farm, "—only don't pull it yet."

Then he told about a businessman who said, "I haven't lost my confidence, I've just lost my money."

REP. BOB WILSON of Chula Vista, Calif., chairman of this year's Republican Congressional Campaign Committee, says he's the only advertising man in Congress. He claims that the GOP always has the best merchandise to sell, but that Republicans are not the best merchandisers.

"It's a little like the village half-wit who was given a job polishing a brass cannon on the courthouse lawn just to keep him out of trouble," says Wilson. "He did his job faithfully for many years, and then one day he came in to see the mayor and resigned. Surprised the mayor asked why.

"'It's this way,' said the man: 'I've saved my money. Now I've got enough to buy a brass cannon and I'm going into business for myself.'"

NEW ARMY SECRETARY Cyrus Roberts Vance, as special counsel to a Senate Armed Services subcommittee in 1957-58, assisted in rugged investigations of Defense Department missile programs.

Vance also conducted searching preliminary hearings on Defense Department budgets.

Defense Secretary McNamara, while swearing in the new Army boss, noted Vance's sharpness in the investigations. "I'm glad that Vance is now on my side," said the secretary.

McNamara also noted that Vance went to Yale—not Harvard. But the secretary says he is replacing Vance as general counsel of the department with a Harvard man—just to keep things even.

Veterans Rights and Benefits Listed

LISTEN VETERAN

by: Charles L. Culver, NYS Veteran Counselor, NYS Division of Veterans affairs, and John Tyler, Director, Ulster County Veterans Service Agency, 32 Main St., Kingston, New York.

Civil Service — Applications will be accepted up to August 6, 1962 for the following job opportunities under the New York State Civil Service: Mental Health Representative (Alcoholism); Associate Medical Virologist; Physical Rehabilitation Coordinator; Guidance Supervisor; Senior Occupational Therapist (Psychiatric); Director Child Welfare Service, Erie County; Administrative Assistant, Westchester County, Village of Bronxville; Forest Ranger; Junior Forest Surveyor; Buoy Light Tender; Marine Services Representative; Assistant Building Electrical Engineer; Highway Light Maintenance Foreman; Toll Equipment Repairman; Warrant and Transfer Officer; Senior Laboratory Animal Caretaker.

Legislation—As of June 28, we are informed there are 197 signatures to Discharge Petition No. 4 which would bring to the House floor for a vote H. R. 3745, the pension bill. This leaves only a total of 22 to be obtained and assurances have been received from nearly a score of Congressmen that when the total reaches 200 they will sign. Thus it appears that the signatures should be forthcoming within the next week.

Pensions — Veterans, their survivors or dependents are offered some advice on occasional problems which arise in the receipt of benefit checks from the VA. Most important, persons receiving checks to which they know they are not entitled should either return them or write to the VA for an explanation. Don't cash the check and spend it in such cases; sooner or later it will have to be repaid. On the other hand, if a veteran receives a check which is smaller in amount than that to which he is entitled, he may accept it and cash it without in any way waiving his right to claim the rightful amount. A veteran's widow who remarries cannot continue receiving death pension, but the pension right of the veteran's children continue in larger amount. However, any increase due the children cannot be granted by the VA until the new certificate of marriage has been received and the VA adjusts and closes the widow's own account. If a veteran prefers, his benefit checks may be sent directly to his bank for deposit to his personal account. This is a convenience granted by law for veterans who for one reason or another are not at home when pension checks arrive in the mail.

Questions about the rights and benefits of veterans, servicemen or their dependents may be submitted for individual attention to Mr. Culver or Mr. Tyler at their office at 32 Main Street, Kingston, N. Y., with branch offices in Ellenville, Highland, Saugerties and Kerhonkson.

My old bridge friend, J. G. Ripstra of Wichita, Kan., has been a top tournament player many years. He also is excellent at rubber bridge as evidenced from his play of today's hand.

Rip ruffed the opening heart in his own hand, drew three rounds of trumps, led a diamond toward dummy and, after West played low, Rip stuck in dummy's nine spot.

East showed out. Rip had to lose one diamond later but that was his only loser.

If Rip had led a high diamond from his hand or gone up with the king he would have had to lose two diamond tricks.

Of course, if diamonds had broken 3-2 as is likely, Rip's unusual play would have kept him from making a grand slam, but Rip had only bid six and he had made a safety play to guard against finding all five diamonds in the West hand.

Was Rip pessimistic when he guarded against that 5-0 break? Yes, but when you can insure your contract by using a little pessimism it is mighty good policy to do so in rubber bridge.

It cant' be relied on completely by a sufferer.

Damp weather, temperature changes, food reactions, dust, mental and emotional strain, as well as pollen and mold spore in the air must also be taken into consideration, he says.

For hundreds of thousands of others, a dose of poison ivy will make this summer a memorable one which they would like to forget.

Many persons who think they are immune are in for a bad surprise. (Few people are naturally immune.) Actually, by frequent exposure, they are building up sensitivity. When exposed to a large dose, they may come down with a severe case.

Poison ivy is found in every state except California and Nevada. The best course is to be able to recognize the plant and avoid it.

If contact is made with it, the affected area should be washed repeatedly with strong laundry soap. Many commercial preparations are available to reduce the itching and inflammation. A 95-per-cent-sure built-in immunity against poison ivy and poison oak can now be had in advance of the season with a tablet developed by the American Medical Assn.

All in all, most folks would agree that summer is a pretty nice time. A little care and common sense is all that is required to keep it that way.

GLOBAL TELEVISION

The great news that Telstar really works—that on first attempt a communications satellite went into proper orbit and did its job of relaying sound and pictures greater distances than ever possible before—demonstrates once more what hard-headed science can contribute to the world of ideas.

Out of the laboratories and testing grounds has come a device the size of a beach ball which will bring a new degree of reality to the exchange of information among nations. Seeing is believing, and although pictures and brief direct reports have some limitations, they do bring a special kind of credibility.

If a president of the United States can be seen and heard around the world while actually speaking in America, his words will have added impact. If people of other nations can see, almost first hand, the news of this country as it happens, and if Americans can have box seats by television at some of the significant events elsewhere, inevitably all will gain in understanding important similarities and differences which affect international relations.

The potential for expanding radio, telephone and telegraph facilities by means of satellites is tremendous. This development will have increasing value as the loads on conventional equipment for the ending of messages get greater.

The communications marvel of a century ago was the trans-Atlantic cable, over which Queen Victoria and President Buchanan exchanged greetings in 1858, though it did not provide continuing service until 1866. Telstar is infinitely more intricate and even more appealing to the imgaination, as suits this age of complex global activity.

'These Days'

SASKATCHEWAN

The strike of the doctors in Saskatchewan is the direct result of the effort of a Socialist government to reduce a profession to a trade, professional men to a proletariat. If the individuality of the professional man is to be reduced to the unprofessional position of the unskilled hourly worker, then the professional man is entitled to strike as the hourly worker is entitled to strike. From this standpoint the situation is altogether clear and the strike is justified.

On the other hand, no matter what socialist politicians try to do, a physician and a surgeon are indispensable. Without them life can come into existence and death can destroy life. But were epidemics of polio, meningitis, cholera or other frightful illnesses to break out, Saskatchewan would become a pest-hole and a danger to all Canada and to the United States. It would have to be quarantined.

In the complicated world in which we live, it is impossible to be without physicians and surgeons. There are, of course, religious groups, such as the Christian Scientists, who do not acknowledge the enormous achievements of modern medicine but the statistics clearly prove an increase in longevity and in spite of the practice of birth control, by one means or another, population is on the increase.

In Saskatchewan, the strike of the doctors may be the first in human history. The professional man must endure a long period of preparation. He cannot learn his art or science by reading a book of instructions. He requires a very thorough training over a period of between seven and ten years, depending upon whether he specializes. He is not a mere technician. To be of value, he must have the patience of a saint, the delicacy of a good mother and the ruthlessness of a tyrant.

Such a man cannot be regarded as an hourly laborer. The socialist might ask, "Why is he any better than anyone else?" The answer is that he has done so much work in preparation for the one moment when there is no alternative but death.

The other night, I saw one of those old Lew Ayres and Lionel Barrymore, "Dr. Kildare" pictures. All through the movie ran the theme, "What would have happened to the girl if Dr. Kildare had not risked himself and his entire professional career to help her? And one felt that the alternative was death.

For many years I lived in China. Each Spring when the crab season appeared, thousands died of dysentery. When the watermelon appeared, thousands died of cholera. One day, I was riding in a rickshaw and after a while, I saw the coolie's face. The devil had the smallpox. I went to a doctor and got myself vaccinated all over again. It was nothing to spend miserable days in a hospital with a frightful dysentery. Children died during the Summer of ailments utterly forgotten in this country. Tuberculosis was so usual that I saw men rise from the dinner table to "spit blood."

I learned to have a very healthy respect for the medical profession in those days. A little friend of mine had a very bad case of what her parents called measels. They called in several native Chinese doctors, each one of whom had a private medicine that had been in his family a long time. Each one of these men was jealous of the other. So the head of the household called in a necromancer who did some magic over the various medicines; finally he selected one. The child died.

The quarrel in Saskatchewan goes deeper than how much is a doctor to charge for his services. The medical profession rejects nationalization. I often see articles complaining about what doctors charge. I do not hear of these writers giving their services for nothing. Nor do I hear them proposing, as they grow better known, that their pay be reduced. It is amazing how a man will go to a night club and pay whatever he is charged, even if the date is counted in, but the same man will appreciate legal services for nothing and he pays the doctor only after protest.

My sympathy is with the Saskatchewan doctors who are fighting a battle for all the professional men in this era of mobocracy. A private opinion about a mastoid or a peptic ulcer could do infinite damage, even if carried by a majority.

The Mature Parent

For Your Own Sake, Learn Generosity's Limit

MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Dear Mrs. Lawrence:

Our daughter-in-law has written, asking us to look after her three children while she accompanies our son on a month-long business trip this summer.

I have not been able to sleep since getting the letter. As my husband is badly crippled with arthritis, looking after him takes all the strength I've got. My daughter-in-law knows what she is asking when she asks me to take on the care of her three active youngsters, all under 10 years of age. She says it's my son who told her to ask this though I am sure that she is the one who is pushing this trip with him. . . .

Why are you so angry at her? She is as free to ask you for this favor as you are to refuse it. Why can't you use your freedom to refuse it?

I don't know the answer.

However, I do know that we could become very angry at a daughter-in-law who asks for more than we want to give her, if we idealize our kindly feelings toward other people.

If we secretly think of ourselves as an especially generous parent to our children, any demand they make which we can't grant will make us so uncomfortable that we'll become impatient and critical of them.

We don't want the limits of our unselfishness exposed to us. So they are ungrateful and inconsiderate to ask for what we don't want to give them. Our daughter-in-law and our son should so plan their affairs to enable us to preserve our pride in our boundless generosity instead of showing us up as interested in our own comfort.

How dare a son's wife face us with the truth: our resistance to being bothered with the care of three exhausting children while she goes gallivanting on a holiday?

It may be that you are shifting the anger you feel at the limits of your own generosity to your daughter-in-law. If so, you'd better accept them.

Sooner or later, we all have to look at our high-flown delusion that our kindliness is limitless—and return to earth from outer space.

The problem is always the problem of re-entry from our lonely flights into unearthly grandeur back into our earthly, limited human selves.

Once we can digest the idea that our generosity is imperfect, answers begin to suggest themselves. For example, you might find it possible to sit down and write to your daughter-in-law, "Though I'm not up to looking after the children for the entire period of your trip, I'd be glad to have them for a time . . ."

The point is, if our kindliness must be boundless, we cannot consider the limited kind. We must give everything we're asked for—or nothing at all. Then we have to begin to lose sleep to our resentment of the daughter-in-law who has involved us in our conflict between the kind of gloriously generous person we think we ought to be, and the person we actually are.

When you can claim your freedom to refuse her request, you may find yourself happy to grant some of it.

"He's Got Long Ears and He's Stubborn as a Mule!"

Washington News

BY WASHINGTON STAFF
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Former vice president Richard M. Nixon says he needs a million Democratic votes to win the California governorship this fall, and he intends to shake a million hands between now and Nov. 6. He has gone into training for the job of winning over Democrats.

"I'm practicing the piano every morning (like Harry Truman) Nixon says, "and I'm jumping into the swimming pool every night (like Bobby Kennedy's guests) with my clothes on."

DIFFICULTIES of caring for an increasing number of destitute people over 90 years old was discussed by Ohio Gov. Mike DiSalle at the Hershey, Pa., governors' conference.

"One man retired at the age of 70," said the governor. "He ran out of money at the age of 92, so of course the Republicans accused him of poor planning."

DiSalle explained that presently available state care for such a person is skimpy—$2.20 a day. He added:

"This is to provide for his food, clothing, shelter, utilities, and whatever vices he still has."

DiSalle grabbed his own microphone and mumbled:

"I hope you can get more delegates than that."

NEW YORK Sen. Kenneth B. Keating is being kidded a little bit about the initials of the new All Republican Conference—ARC—that he inspired party leaders to set up. They're the same as the initials for American Red Cross, and Keating was asked if this was a first aid or disaster relief operation.

"Not at all, not at all," he says. "The initials merely spell the word 'arc.' I see this organization as an arc between Congress and the states for the coming election—a rainbow arc in full Technicolor with a pot of gold at the end, which is victory."

FOR YEARS Michigan Democrats have been smarting under GOP charges that Walter Reuther's United Auto Workers "control" the party in their state.

Denials appear to be futile, so Gov. John Swainson, husky, legless veteran, resorts to spoofing the idea.

Michigan's vehicle licence plates bear the legend "Michigan — Water Wonderland," Swainson told a fellow governor of Hershey, Pa., that he is thinking of changing it to read "Walter's Wonderland."

AGRICULTURE Department officials continue to remember Billie Sol Estes vividly. An assistant secretary of agriculture, in suggesting that a newspaperman and two of his deputies lunch together, made it clear that each man would pay for his own meal. "You can't be too careful these days," he said.

"PULL MY COATTAIL if I'm talking too long," said golden-tongued Republican Senate Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois to GOP National Chairman Bill Miller at the party leadership rally on Eisenhower's Gettysburg farm, "—only don't pull it yet."

Then he told about a businessman who said, "I haven't lost my confidence, I've just lost my money."

REP. BOB WILSON of Chula Vista, Calif., chairman of this year's Republican Congressional Campaign Committee, says he's the only advertising man in Congress. He claims that the GOP always has the best merchandise to sell, but that Republicans are not the best merchandisers.

"It's a little like the village half-wit who was given a job polishing a brass cannon on the courthouse lawn just to keep him out of trouble," says Wilson. "He did his job faithfully for many years, and then one day he came in to see the mayor and resigned. Surprised the mayor asked why.

"'It's this way,' said the man: 'I've saved my money. Now I've got enough to buy a brass cannon and I'm going into business for myself.'"

NEW ARMY SECRETARY Cyrus Roberts Vance, as special counsel to a Senate Armed Services subcommittee in 1957-58, assisted in rugged investigations of Defense Department missile programs.

Vance also conducted searching preliminary hearings on Defense Department budgets.

Defense Secretary McNamara, while swearing in the new Army boss, noted Vance's sharpness in the investigations. "I'm glad that Vance is now on my side," said the secretary.

McNamara also noted that Vance went to Yale—not Harvard. But the secretary says he is replacing Vance as general counsel of the department with a Harvard man—just to keep things even.

Veterans Rights and Benefits Listed

LISTEN VETERAN

by: Charles L. Culver, NYS Veteran Counselor, NYS Division of Veterans affairs, and John Tyler, Director, Ulster County Veterans Service Agency, 32 Main St., Kingston, New York.

Civil Service — Applications will be accepted up to August 6, 1962 for the following job opportunities under the New York State Civil Service: Mental Health Representative (Alcoholism); Associate Medical Virologist; Physical Rehabilitation Coordinator; Guidance Supervisor; Senior Occupational Therapist (Psychiatric); Director Child Welfare Service, Erie County; Administrative Assistant, Westchester County, Village of Bronxville; Forest Ranger; Junior Forest Surveyor; Buoy Light Tender; Marine Services Representative; Assistant Building Electrical Engineer; Highway Light Maintenance Foreman; Toll Equipment Repairman; Warrant and Transfer Officer; Senior Laboratory Animal Caretaker.

Legislation—As of June 28, we are informed there are 197 signatures to Discharge Petition No. 4 which would bring to the House floor for a vote H. R. 3745, the pension bill. This leaves only a total of 22 to be obtained and assurances have been received from nearly a score of Congressmen that when the total reaches 200 they will sign. Thus it appears that the signatures should be forthcoming within the next week.

Pensions — Veterans, their survivors or dependents are offered some advice on occasional problems which arise in the receipt of benefit checks from the VA. Most important, persons receiving checks to which they know they are not entitled should either return them or write to the VA for an explanation. Don't cash the check and spend it in such cases; sooner or later it will have to be repaid. On the other hand, if a veteran receives a check which is smaller in amount than that to which he is entitled, he may accept it and cash it without in any way waiving his right to claim the rightful amount. A veteran's widow who remarries cannot continue receiving death pension, but the pension right of the veteran's children continue in larger amount. However, any increase due the children cannot be granted by the VA until the new certificate of marriage has been received and the VA adjusts and closes the widow's own account. If a veteran prefers, his benefit checks may be sent directly to his bank for deposit to his personal account. This is a convenience granted by law for veterans who for one reason or another are not at home when pension checks arrive in the mail.

Questions about the rights and benefits of veterans, servicemen or their dependents may be submitted for individual attention to Mr. Culver or Mr. Tyler at their office at 32 Main Street, Kingston, N. Y., with branch offices in Ellenville, Highland, Saugerties and Kerhonkson.

My old bridge friend, J. G. Ripstra of Wichita, Kan., has been a top tournament player many years. He also is excellent at rubber bridge as evidenced from his play of today's hand.

Rip ruffed the opening heart in his own hand, drew three rounds of trumps, led a diamond toward dummy and, after West played low, Rip stuck in dummy's nine spot.

East showed out. Rip had to lose one diamond later but that was his only loser.

If Rip had led a high diamond from his hand or gone up with the king he would have had to lose two diamond tricks.

Of course, if diamonds had broken 3-2 as is likely, Rip's unusual play would have kept him from making a grand slam, but Rip had only bid six and he had made a safety play to guard against finding all five diamonds in the West hand.

Was Rip pessimistic when he guarded against that 5-0 break? Yes, but when you can insure your contract by using a little pessimism it is mighty good policy to do so in rubber bridge.

tion type well. After further study and the preparation of preliminary plans, an applica- was made on June 11 to the State Water Resources Commission to use the Hudson River. As was announced at Wednesday's meting, the Commission set Friday, July 27, as the date for the public hearing on the application. The hearing will be held at 2:30 p. m. at the Town Hall in Port Ewen.

Appointments Listed

The Town Board also made several appointments. Mrs. Barbara Maynard of Port Ewen was appointed as town historian and Mrs. Lillian Walker, also of Port Ewen, was appointed as deputy town clerk. Both of these positions had formerly been held by Mrs. Jennie Schweigel who died last month. The board also appointed Justice of the Peace John O. Beaver as chairman of United Nations Day to be observed Oct. 24 in the township. The Town of Esopus each year conducts a special obseravnce in commemoration of UN Day.

The resignation of Frank Streigl as a commissioner of Ross Park was accepted. Streigl cited the press of business and other activities as the reason for his resignation. Streigl had represented the Town of Esopus Post 1298, American Legion as a park commisioner and it is understood that the Legion will submit the name of a successor prior to the next Town Board meeting.

DeVall H. Dunbar, inspector for the New York State Building Code, reported that six permits had been issued during the past month for a total valuation of $52,300. Jack Reynolds, chairman of the town board of assessors, reported that Grievance Day had been held on July 10 and that there had been no major grievances.

The names of the Republican inspectors of election for 1962 were submitted to the Town Board by the Ulster County Republican Committee and were accepted. They are Mrs. Joseph Auringer and Mrs. Kenneth Bovee of Port Ewen for District 1, Harry G. Houghtaling and Mrs. Lillian Walker of Port Ewen for District 2, Mrs. Helen Drake of West Park for District 3, Mrs. Lillian Wheeler of Rifton and Mrs. Mary Reynolds of St. Remy for District 4, and Mrs. Loretta Becker and Mrs. Kathryn Barnum of Connelly for District 5.

Traffic Light Arrives

It was announced that a new traffic light for fire purposes at the intersection of Rt. 213 and Maple Street in Rifton had arrived and would be installed shortly. A previous light at the intersection had been knocked down and demolished by a trailer truck in late May.

A discussion was held concerning an excavation for a house foundation at the corner of Lindorf Street and Mountain View Avenue in Port Ewen that presents a health and safety hazard. After the digging of the hole, no further work was done and water acumulates in the hole presenting a hazard to the many children in the area. The situation has existed for nearly two years and last November the board advised the owner to take steps to correct the situation. Since nothing has been done, the board plans to give the owner a time limit and if nothing is done by the time set, the board will have the excavation filled in with the owner billed for the costs.

Questions Ordinance

Joseph F. Brown of Port Ewen made inquiry about the town's ordinance concerning peddlers. The board discussed the ordinance and said that steps would be taken to improve its enforcement. Lawrence Tucker of Port Ewen made a complaint about a drainage problem at the foot of Main Street. The board promised to visit the site.

Estes Is

Clellan, D-Ark., said the Texas court developments would not affect the inquiry by his Senate Investigations subcommittee into Estes' dealings with the government.

The subcommittee plans to hear at least two weeks' more testimony before calling Estes to its witness stand.

Banker Named Trustee

Harry Moore, an El Paso banker who is the court-appointed receiver, was named Friday by Judge Thomason as trustee of the bankruptcy. He was given 30 days to file a trustee's report.

In testimony Friday before the McClellan subcommittee, Swan August Sandstrom, 72, Oklahoma farmer, said he knew there was "something fishy" in his cotton allotment deals with Estes.

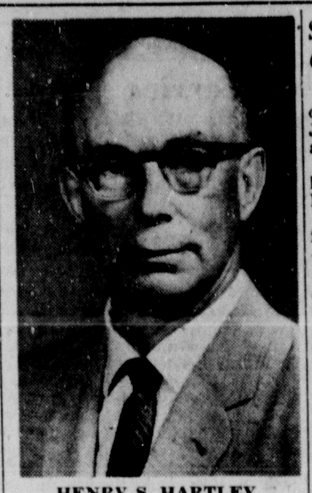
Federal law forbids the sale of cotton allotments, but Sandstrom said he knew he was selling and that the Estes people knew they were buying his planting allotment for 8.1 acres of cotton for $418. One result, he said, was that some of his neighbors were influenced to let Estes get some of their acreage allotments, too.

Walter J. Arnote, of McAlester, Okla., former president of the Oklahoma Bar Association, testified he had warned his clients deals of this type were "blatantly fraudulent" and had advised them not to get involved.

Sandstrom had named Glenn Blake, a land buyer for Estes, as the man who talked him into their transaction. Arnote testified he couldn't recall who had approached his clients, but "the name Blake kind of rings a bell."

Search Continues

The search for Donald Sims, 30, who escaped from Wallkill Prison a week ago still continues in the area. Several leads have been checked out without results. Highways are still being patrolled by local enforcement officials and State Police.



HENRY S. HARTLEY

Wilson Cites

Saugerties funeral director, sprang into prominence and it was apparent at convention time that he would be unopposed. Hartley began his career as a funeral director in 1935, being associated with the Lasher Funeral Home. In 1940 he became associated with Henry A. Lamouree and conducted the Hartley and Lamouree Funeral Home in Saugerties. In 1950 Hartley became sole proprietor of that business and continues to operate that business.

Hartley has been active in civic matters in Saugerties and throughout the county. He resides with his wife at 37 Finger Street, Saugerties. They have a daughter, Ellen Ann, who resides in New York City.

Wilson 10-Year Veteran

Assemblyman Wilson of Woodstock, who is completing 10 years in the New York Assembly, was the unquestioned choice of the convention to succeed himself.

Wilson has had an active career in the Assembly. He is a member of the Committee on Ways and Means, General Laws, Insurance, Internal Affairs, and Penal Institutions. He is also a member of the Joint Legislative Committee on Appraisals and Assessments of State - owned Lands, and the New York State Commission on Water Resources. He has had outstanding success in the passage of state-wide bills, including the bill referring to residential requirements of Fire Chiefs and Deputy Fire Chiefs and the bill amending the real property tax law in relation to the collection of county, town and school district taxes in installments. He has also been instrumental in securing a heavy highway and state public building program in Ulster County and in the development of the Belleayre recreational area. Assemblyman Wilson has been the recipient of many awards for his legislative activities among which has been the industry tribute for his legislative efforts in the interest of Home-Buyers of the State of New York award by the Builders Institute of Westchester-Putnam Counties.

Wharton, Bush Choices

It was anticipated resolutions endorsing Congressman J. Ernest Wharton of Richmondville and State Senator E. Ogden Bush for re-election, would be unanimously adopted later in the convention as the delegates moved toward naming delegates and alternates to the State Convention and the District Judicial Conventions.

Congressman Wharton, a former district attorney, surrogate and county judge of Schoharie County, is presently serving as a member of the Committee on Internal and Insular Affairs of the House of Representatives. A graduate of Union University and Albany Law School, he has devoted full time to his Congressional office and his record of attendance stands among the highest in Congress. In Congress he has been an opponent of too much government regulation and has often expressed the view that "where at all feasible measures affecting the individual should be left to the State and Local Governments. Once big government gets a foot in the door," Congressman Wharton has said, "the individual rights of persons and business become impaired to a degree where liberties and freedoms are encroached upon."

Bush on Job Six Years

Senator Bush has represented the 34th Senatorial District for the past six years. He previously served in the State Assembly representing Delaware County. He is chairman of the Conservation Committee of the Senate and chairman of the Joint Legislative Committee on the Barge Canal and chairman of the Joint Legislative Committee on Fire Laws. He practices dentistry in Walton and is a trustee of Delhi Agricultural Institute.

5 Arrested

Street near St. James Street at 9:25 p. m.

Barbara Bush Quarantino, 20, of Box 325 suffered an injury about the neck when the vehicle she was operating was collided with from the rear by a vehicle being operated by Anne Thorpe Duffy, 42, of 33 St. James Street, according to police reports.

Both Traveling South

Both cars were going south on Fair Street when the Quarantino vehicle slowed for a yellow traffic signal and was struck, reports say.

The accident was investigated by Patrolman Louis Sapp.

Two persons were arrested following an accident involving three cars on Delaware Avenue near Jarrold Street at 1:50 p. m.

To Attend Seminar

Robert Planthaber, 22, of 40 Thomas Street and Edward Modjeska of Tillson were arrainged in City Court this morning. Planthaber was charged with being an unlicensed operator and Judge Saccoman suspended imposition of the sentence and Planthaber was put on probation to attend the driving seminar to begin here soon. Disposition of the Modjeska case was adjourned for counsel. He is charged with permitting an unlicensed operator to drive his vehicle.

The accident occured when the vehicle being operated by Planthaber and owned by Modjeska Signs Incorporated was attempting to make a left turn off Delaware Avenue onto Jarrold Street and a car being operated by Robert J. Dittus, 20, of 42 Clifton Avenue was passing a parked car according to police reports. The parked car was owned by Frank Dineen, 68, of 34 Taylor Street.

The accident was investigated by Patrolman Lewis Keator.

Driver Fined $25

Julio Mercado, 34, of 104 O'Neil Street was fined $25 in City Court this morning for operating a vehicle without a license as the result of a collision of a vehicle being operated by him with a vehicle being operated by Jennie Kithcart, 23, of 85 Emerick Street. The accident occurred Friday at 7:10 p. m. on Grand Street near Smith Avenue, according to police reports.

The reports say that the Kithcart vehicle had stopped two car lengths back for a stop sign on Grand Street while traveling west when the Mercado vehicle attempted to make a left turn off Smith Avenue into Grand Street, ran up over the sidewalk, came back over the curb and collided with the Kithcart car.

The accident was investigated by Patrolman Henry Short.

It was reported to police headquarters at 7:45 p. m. that a car being operated by Louise Jordan, 51, of 185 Bayard Street, Port Ewen, and a car being operated by an unknown driver were believed to have come into contact on Route 587 near Albany Avenue.

The Jordan vehicle was reportedly headed north on Route 587 and the unknown vehicle was turning to head west on Albany Avenue when the accident occurred.

the college, he nas fostered the development of a curriculum at New Paltz which has received worldwide recognition for courses dealing with other countries of the world. For several years, the college was the only institution in the country that required every undergraduate to take courses on both Africa and Asia, and this summer the college is conducting a Peace Corps Project to train teachers for the African country of Sierra Leone. Earlier in the year, the college accepted a request by the State Department to provide a six-week seminar for student teachers from Uruguay who were interested in learning more about the educational systems of the United States.

More Due in Fall

During the 1961-62 school year, some 30 foreign students, representing 19 countries, were enrolled at the college, and that figure is expected to increase this fall.

Mrs. Haggerty accompanied President Haggerty, and they plan to visit in several countries before returning to the U. S. Aug. 16.

Bruce Davis, chairman of Boy's State, stated that Dominic Mercuior Post 1298 candidate will attend the September meeting and give a report on happenings at Colgate University during the session.

Deny Depressed Report on Coast

By WALTER R. MEARS

WASHINGTON (AP)—The people of Trinity County, Calif., didn't know they were economically depressed until the government told them. And they don't like it, says Sen. Clair Engle.

But that's the way it has to be, at least for the time being, says the agency that runs a program of special federal aid for depressed areas.

Under the rules, a spokesman said, a county can get off the depressed list only when employment statistics show an economic upturn. He added no county official has asked that Trinity be taken off the roster of the Area Redevelopment Administration.

The issue boiled up Friday when Engle, a California Democrat, complained to Secretary of Commerce Luther H. Hodges about the government-proclaimed plight of Trinity, a northern California county of some 5,000 people.

Engle said Congress did not create the ARA "to force redevelopment medicine down the throats of areas that don't know they are depressed, that haven't applied for this federal assistance and don't want it."

The program should be voluntary, Engle said.

"I supported the Area Redevelopment Act," he said in a letter to Hodges. "It has been beneficial in alleviating economic depression in many areas. I hope overzealous bureaucracy will not spoil it."

Engle noted that the Trinity County Journal of Weaverville, Calif., had published an editorial headed: "Lie down and be depressed, damn you."

In his letter to Hodges, whose department has charge of the ARA, Engle said: "I believe when an economic survey of employment data warrants, that a county can be advised of the possible benefits of the ARA and that the next move should be up to the county."

Memoriam

In loving memory of our son, Philip Perry, who died 3 years ago today, July 14, 1959.
Fondly loved and deeply mourned,
Heart of my heart, we miss you so,
Often our darling, our tears will flow
Dimming your picture before our eyes,
But never the one in our heart that lies.
The stars seem dim as we whisper low:
"Our own darling boy, we miss you so!"
Signed
MOTHER, FATHER and BROTHERS.

Memoriam

In loving memory of our grandson, Philip Perry, who died 3 years ago today, July 14, 1959.
The fairest lilies are the first to fall
The sweetest first to fade;
The fondest, dearest, best of all,
At peaceful rest is laid.
As some sweet blossom droops and dies
When blighted by the frost,
He faded from before our eyes,
And all too soon was lost.
But in God's garden free from pain,
Where grow His fairest flowers,
We know that we shall meet again
This fairest bloom of ours.
Signed
GRANDMOTHER and GRANDFATHER GUESS.

Decision Reserved On Thruway Signs

Construction of signs along the New York State Thruway came before Supreme Court Justice Louis G. Bruhn of Kingston at special term of Supreme Court Friday in Albany.

The Thruway Authority directed numerous signs along the route be dismantled because they are in violation of a 1962 law which says no signs may be erected within 660 feet of the right-of-way of the Thruway. This has been challenged by outdoor billboard firms. The firms contend the law does not apply to existing signs. Last year the law stipulated that signs could be erected 660 feet from the edge of the highway proper.

Among those who have been notified to demolish signs within 10 days are Modjeska Sign Studios of Kingston, involving a sign near Saugerties and Joseph Advertising firm of Albany, involving a Wellington Hotel sign near Schoharie Creek. Decision was reserved by the court. Other cases are to come up July 27.

In 1953 the law permitted signs to be erected 500 feet from the Thruway and this was increased by a 1960 law to 660 feet.

City Fires Quelled

Fire in a Broadway apartment, a grass fire off Cornell Street, and burning gasoline on a power mower, were reported by firemen.

At 5:42 p. m. Friday, Engine 1 was dispatched to Cornell Street to extinguish burning grass near the New York Central Railroad tracks.

At 8:10 p. m. a telephone call and a box alarm summoned firemen from Engines 1 and 3, Truck 1, Rapid Hose and Wicks Salvage companies to 349 Broadway, where fire damaged a corner of a room in the apartment of Willand Sheppard. Firemen said children playing with matches probably caused the blaze which was quickly checked.

At 10:55 a. m. today Engine 1 and Truck 1 from Central Station were dispatched to 66 Pine Grove Avenue, where gasoline had ignited on a power lawn mower owned by Erlane Pruy at that address.

him "I too welcome as a great success this achievement which assure transmission for the first time of a telephone conversation by satellite with such clarity."

Friday night's conversation to Paris was to have been the first telephone call to use the Telstar satellite, but Thursday night the British jumped the gun and put through a call to scientists in this country.

Those in the rooms had no difficulty in hearing both sides of the conversations as they came over a loudspeaker, but technicians who were taping the conversations said it was slightly less than perfect. They attributed this to a storm reported off the coast of France.

10th A. T. & T. President

McNeely, owner of an 80-acre Stone Ridge farm whose residence is in New York City, is the 10th president of A. T. & T. joined the Bell System at St. Louis in 1922 following his graduation from the University of Missouri as an electrical engineer.

After serving in engineering and supervisory posts with the Southwestern Bell Telephone Co., he came to the American Telephone and Telegraph Co., in New York City in 1948 as assistant vice president-personnel. He served as head of the company's engineering department prior to his appointment in 1955 as executive vice president. In 1955 he became director of the executive committee.

Macmillan's concern with the economic situation was emphasized by his shift of Treasury Chief Secretary Henry Brooke into the home secretary's post and Treasury Financial Secretary Sir Edward Boyle to the Education Ministry.

Lloyd was most closely associated with the government's unpopular credit curbs and hold-down on wages, generally conceded as the cause of the Conservatives' recent political setbacks.

tion type well. After further study and the preparation of preliminary plans, an applica- was made on June 11 to the State Water Resources Commission to use the Hudson River. As was announced at Wednesday's meting, the Commission set Friday, July 27, as the date for the public hearing on the application. The hearing will be held at 2:30 p. m. at the Town Hall in Port Ewen.

Appointments Listed

The Town Board also made several appointments. Mrs. Barbara Maynard of Port Ewen was appointed as town historian and Mrs. Lillian Walker, also of Port Ewen, was appointed as deputy town clerk. Both of these positions had formerly been held by Mrs. Jennie Schweigel who died last month. The board also appointed Justice of the Peace John O. Beaver as chairman of United Nations Day to be observed Oct. 24 in the township. The Town of Esopus each year conducts a special obseravnce in commemoration of UN Day.

The resignation of Frank Streigl as a commissioner of Ross Park was accepted. Streigl cited the press of business and other activities as the reason for his resignation. Streigl had represented the Town of Esopus Post 1298, American Legion as a park commisioner and it is understood that the Legion will submit the name of a successor prior to the next Town Board meeting.

DeVall H. Dunbar, inspector for the New York State Building Code, reported that six permits had been issued during the past month for a total valuation of $52,300. Jack Reynolds, chairman of the town board of assessors, reported that Grievance Day had been held on July 10 and that there had been no major grievances.

The names of the Republican inspectors of election for 1962 were submitted to the Town Board by the Ulster County Republican Committee and were accepted. They are Mrs. Joseph Auringer and Mrs. Kenneth Bovee of Port Ewen for District 1, Harry G. Houghtaling and Mrs. Lillian Walker of Port Ewen for District 2, Mrs. Helen Drake of West Park for District 3, Mrs. Lillian Wheeler of Rifton and Mrs. Mary Reynolds of St. Remy for District 4, and Mrs. Loretta Becker and Mrs. Kathryn Barnum of Connelly for District 5.

Traffic Light Arrives

It was announced that a new traffic light for fire purposes at the intersection of Rt. 213 and Maple Street in Rifton had arrived and would be installed shortly. A previous light at the intersection had been knocked down and demolished by a trailer truck in late May.

A discussion was held concerning an excavation for a house foundation at the corner of Lindorf Street and Mountain View Avenue in Port Ewen that presents a health and safety hazard. After the digging of the hole, no further work was done and water acumulates in the hole presenting a hazard to the many children in the area. The situation has existed for nearly two years and last November the board advised the owner to take steps to correct the situation. Since nothing has been done, the board plans to give the owner a time limit and if nothing is done by the time set, the board will have the excavation filled in with the owner billed for the costs.

Questions Ordinance

Joseph F. Brown of Port Ewen made inquiry about the town's ordinance concerning peddlers. The board discussed the ordinance and said that steps would be taken to improve its enforcement. Lawrence Tucker of Port Ewen made a complaint about a drainage problem at the foot of Main Street. The board promised to visit the site.

Estes Is

Clellan, D-Ark., said the Texas court developments would not affect the inquiry by his Senate Investigations subcommittee into Estes' dealings with the government.

The subcommittee plans to hear at least two weeks' more testimony before calling Estes to its witness stand.

Banker Named Trustee

Harry Moore, an El Paso banker who is the court-appointed receiver, was named Friday by Judge Thomason as trustee of the bankruptcy. He was given 30 days to file a trustee's report.

In testimony Friday before the McClellan subcommittee, Swan August Sandstrom, 72, Oklahoma farmer, said he knew there was "something fishy" in his cotton allotment deals with Estes.

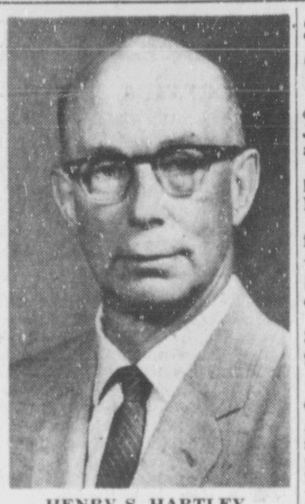
Federal law forbids the sale of cotton allotments, but Sandstrom said he knew he was selling and that the Estes people knew they were buying his planting allotment for 8.1 acres of cotton for $418. One result, he said, was that some of his neighbors were influenced to let Estes get some of their acreage allotments, too.

Walter J. Arnote, of McAlester, Okla., former president of the Oklahoma Bar Association, testified he had warned his clients deals of this type were "blatantly fraudulent" and had advised them not to get involved.

Sandstrom had named Glenn Blake, a land buyer for Estes, as the man who talked him into their transaction. Arnote testified he couldn't recall who had approached his clients, but "the name Blake kind of rings a bell."

Search Continues

The search for Donald Sims, 30, who escaped from Wallkill Prison a week ago still continues in the area. Several leads have been checked out without results. Highways are still being patrolled by local enforcement officials and State Police.



HENRY S. HARTLEY

Wilson Cites

Saugerties funeral director, sprang into prominence and it was apparent at convention time that he would be unopposed. Hartley began his career as a funeral director in 1935, being associated with the Lasher Funeral Home. In 1940 he became associated with Henry A. Lamouree and conducted the Hartley and Lamouree Funeral Home in Saugerties. In 1950 Hartley became sole proprietor of that business and continues to operate that business.

Hartley has been active in civic matters in Saugerties and throughout the county. He resides with his wife at 37 Finger Street, Saugerties. They have a daughter, Ellen Ann, who resides in New York City.

Wilson 10-Year Veteran

Assemblyman Wilson of Woodstock, who is completing 10 years in the New York Assembly, was the unquestioned choice of the convention to succeed himself.

Wilson has had an active career in the Assembly. He is a member of the Committee on Ways and Means, General Laws, Insurance, Internal Affairs, and Penal Institutions. He is also a member of the Joint Legislative Committee on Appraisals and Assessments of State-owned Lands, and the New York State Commission on Water Resources. He has had outstanding success in the passage of state-wide bills, including the bill referring to residential requirements of Fire Chiefs and Deputy Fire Chiefs and the bill amending the real property tax law in relation to the collection of county, town and school district taxes in installments. He has also been instrumental in securing a heavy highway and state public building program in Ulster County and in the development of the Belleayre recreational area. Assemblyman Wilson has been the recipient of many awards for his legislative activities among which has been the industry tribute for his legislative efforts in the interest of Home-Buyers of the State of New York award by the Builders Institute of Westchester-Putnam Counties.

Wharton, Bush Choices

It was anticipated resolutions endorsing Congressman J. Ernest Wharton of Richmondville and State Senator E. Ogden Bush for re-election, would be unanimously adopted later in the convention as the delegates moved toward naming delegates and alternates to the State Convention and the District Judicial Conventions.

Congressman Wharton, a former district attorney, surrogate and county judge of Schoharie County, is presently serving as a member of the Committee on Internal and Insular Affairs of the House of Representatives. A graduate of Union University and Albany Law School, he has devoted full time to his Congressional office and his record of attendance stands among the highest in Congress. In Congress he has been an opponent of too much government regulation and has often expressed the view that "where at all feasible measures affecting the individual should be left to the State and Local Governments. Once big government gets a foot in the door," Congressman Wharton has said, "the individual rights of persons and business become impaired to a degree where liberties and freedoms are encroached upon."

Bush on Job Six Years

Senator Bush has represented the 34th Senatorial District for the past six years. He previously served in the State Assembly representing Delaware County. He is chairman of the Conservation Committee of the Senate and chairman of the Joint Legislative Committee on the Barge Canal and chairman of the Joint Legislative Committee on Fire Laws. He practices dentistry in Walton and is a trustee of Delhi Agricultural Institute.

In Tokyo, 6,750 homes were flooded.

5 Arrested

Street near St. James Street at 9:25 p. m.

Barbara Bush Quarantino, 20, of Box 325 suffered an injury about the neck when the vehicle she was operating was collided with from the rear by a vehicle being operated by Anne Thorpe Duffy, 42, of 33 St. James Street, according to police reports.

Both Traveling South

Both cars were going south on Fair Street when the Quarantino vehicle slowed for a yellow traffic signal and was struck, reports say.

The accident was investigated by Patrolman Louis Sapp.

Two persons were arrested following an accident involving three cars on Delaware Avenue near Jarrold Street at 1:50 p. m.

To Attend Seminar

Robert Planthaber, 22, of 40 Thomas Street and Edward Modjeska of Tillson were arrainged in City Court this morning. Planthaber was charged with being an unlicensed operator and Judge Saccoman suspended imposition of the sentence and Planthaber was put on probation to attend the driving seminar to begin here soon. Disposition of the Modjeska case was adjourned for counsel. He is charged with permitting an unlicensed operator to drive his vehicle.

The accident occured when the vehicle being operated by Planthaber and owned by Modjeska Signs Incorporated was attempting to make a left turn off Delaware Avenue onto Jarrold Street and a car being operated by Robert J. Dittus, 20, of 42 Clifton Avenue was passing a parked car according to police reports. The parked car was owned by Frank Dineen, 68, of 34 Taylor Street.

The accident was investigated by Patrolman Lewis Keator.

Driver Fined $25

Julio Mercado, 34, of 104 O'Neil Street was fined $25 in City Court this morning for operating a vehicle without a license as the result of a collision of a vehicle being operated by him with a vehicle being operated by Jennie Kithcart, 23, of 85 Emerick Street. The accident occurred Friday at 7:10 p. m. on Grand Street near Smith Avenue, according to police reports.

The reports say that the Kithcart vehicle had stopped two car lengths back for a stop sign on Grand Street while traveling west when the Mercado vehicle attempted to make a left turn off Smith Avenue into Grand Street, ran up over the sidewalk, came back over the curb and collided with the Kithcart car.

The accident was investigated by Patrolman Henry Short.

It was reported to police headquarters at 7:45 p. m. that a car being operated by Louise Jordan, 51, of 185 Bayard Street, Port Ewen, and a car being operated by an unknown driver were believed to have come into contact on Route 587 near Albany Avenue.

The Jordan vehicle was reportedly headed north on Route 587 and the unknown vehicle was turning to head west on Albany Avenue when the accident occurred.

the college, he nas fostered the development of a curriculum at New Paltz which has received worldwide recognition for courses dealing with other countries of the world. For several years, the college was the only institution in the country that required every undergraduate to take courses on both Africa and Asia, and this summer the college is conducting a Peace Corps Project to train teachers for the African country of Sierra Leone. Earlier in the year, the college accepted a request by the State Department to provide a six-week seminar for student teachers from Uruguay who were interested in learning more about the educational systems of the United States.

More Due in Fall

During the 1961-62 school year, some 30 foreign students, representing 19 countries, were enrolled at the college, and that figure is expected to increase this fall.

Mrs. Haggerty accompanied President Haggerty, and they plan to visit in several countries before returning to the U. S. Aug. 16.

By WALTER R. MEARS

WASHINGTON (AP)—The people of Trinity County, Calif., didn't know they were economically depressed until the government told them. And they don't like it, says Sen. Clair Engle.

But that's the way it has to be, at least for the time being, says the agency that runs a program of special federal aid for depressed areas.

Under the rules, a spokesman said, a county can get off the depressed list only when employment statistics show an economic upturn. He added no county official has asked that Trinity be taken off the roster of the Area Redevelopment Administration.

The issue boiled up Friday when Engle, a California Democrat, complained to Secretary of Commerce Luther H. Hodges about the government-proclaimed plight of Trinity, a northern California county of some 5,000 people.

Engle said Congress did not create the ARA "to force redevelopment medicine down the throats of areas that don't know they are depressed, that haven't applied for this federal assistance and don't want it."

The program should be voluntary, Engle said.

"I supported the Area Redevelopment Act," he said in a letter to Hodges. "It has been beneficial in alleviating economic depression in many areas. I hope overzealous bureaucracy will not spoil it."

Engle noted that the Trinity County Journal of Weaverville, Calif., had published an editorial headed: "Lie down and be depressed, damn you."

In his letter to Hodges, whose department has charge of the ARA, Engle said: "I believe when an economic survey of employment data warrants, that a county can be advised of the possible benefits of the ARA and that the next move should be up to the county."

Decision Reserved On Thruway Signs

Construction of signs along the New York State Thruway came before Supreme Court Justice Louis G. Bruhn of Kingston at special term of Supreme Court Friday in Albany.

The Thruway Authority directed numerous signs along the route be dismantled because they are in violation of a 1962 law which says no signs may be erected within 660 feet of the right-of-way of the Thruway. This has been challenged by outdoor billboard firms. The firms contend the law does not apply to existing signs. Last year the law stipulated that signs could be erected 660 feet from the edge of the highway proper.

Among those who have been notified to demolish signs within 10 days are Modjeska Sign Studios of Kingston, involving a sign near Saugerties and Joseph Advertising firm of Albany, involving a Wellington Hotel sign near Schoharie Creek. Decision was reserved by the court. Other cases are to come up July 27.

In 1953 the law permitted signs to be erected 500 feet from the Thruway and this was increased by a 1960 law to 660 feet.

City Fires Quelled

At 5:42 p. m. Friday, Engine 1 was dispatched to Cornell Street to extinguish burning grass near the New York Central Railroad tracks.

At 8:10 p. m. a telephone call and a box alarm summoned firemen from Engines 1 and 3, Truck 1, Rapid Hose and Wicks Salvage companies to 349 Broadway, where fire damaged a corner of a room in the apartment of Willand Sheppard. Firemen said children playing with matches probably caused the blaze which was quickly checked.

At 10:55 a. m. today Engine 1 and Truck 1 from Central Station were dispatched to 66 Pine Grove Avenue, where gasoline had ignited on a power lawn mower owned by Erlane Pruy at that address.

Indict Firm, Aides

Cipolla, 50, of Pleasantville, chief engineer and assistant secretary-treasurer of Yonkers Contracting; Thomas W. Cohill, 64, of Rockville Centre, project engineer for the company, and Harold Guidotto, 35, of Yorktown Heights, an assistant superintendent.

S. Cyrus Lewis, counsel for Guidotto, said he would surrender Lindall Nevens of Deposit, N.Y., and Al Pottle of Pittstown, N.J., engineers for the company, on Monday.

Warrants were issued for others.

Petrillo, of Yonkers, a key figure two years ago in the probe of capital construction costs of Yonkers Raceway, was released on his own recognizance.

The three others were released in $2,500 bail each.

Memoriam

In loving memory of our son, Philip Perry, who died 3 years ago today, July 14, 1959.
Fondly loved and deeply mourned,
Heart of my heart, we miss you so,
Often our darling, our tears will flow
Dimming your picture before our eyes,
But never the one in our heart that lies.
The stars seem dim as we whisper low:
"Our own darling boy, we miss you so!"
Signed
MOTHER, FATHER and BROTHERS.

Memoriam

In loving memory of our grandson, Philip Perry, who died 3 years ago today, July 14, 1959.
The fairest lilies are the first to fall
The sweetest first to fade;
The fondest, dearest, best of all,
At peaceful rest is laid.
As some sweet blossom droops and dies
When blighted by the frost,
He faded from before our eyes,
And all too soon was lost.
But in God's garden free from pain,
Where grow His fairest flowers,
We know that we shall meet again

Saugerties First Congregational Church Is Setting for Bowdler-Dunn Wedding Rite

MR. AND MRS. PHILLIP L. BOWDLER

The First Congregational Church of Saugerties was the setting of the 2 p. m. wedding of Miss Thelma Jane Dunn and Airman First Class Phillip Louis Bowdler on Saturday, July 7.

The Rev. Frederick J. Imhoff, pastor, officiated at the double ring ceremony before an altar decorated with vases of white gladioli and pompons. White bows with lily of the valley decorated the pews.

Beverly Harris, organist and Nelson Burhans, soloist, presented I Love You Truly, Because, Wedding Prayer and The Lord's Prayer.

The bride, daughter of Mrs. M. Blanche Dunn of 24 Valley Street, Saugerties and the late Everett Dunn, was given in marriage by her brother-in-law, Elwood Tompkins. She wore a gown of rose pointed lace fashioned with a fitted bodice, long tapered sleeves and a scalloped neckline. The bouffant skirt of lace ruffles terminated in a circular train. Her veil was secured to a crown of aurora crystals and seed pearls and she carried a bouquet of white roses and carnations.

Mrs. Florence Tompkins, of Blue Mountain was matron of honor for her sister. She was attired in a gown of yellow chiffon over taffeta and carried a bouquet of mint green carnations.

Other attendants were Miss Margaret Dunn, sister of the bride and Mrs. Judy, Dunn sister-in-law of the bride, both of Saugerties. They wore gowns of mint green chiffon over taffeta with lace jackets and carried bouquets of yellow carnations.

The brother of the bride, Carroll L. Dunn of Saugerties was best man with Ernest Dunn and Elsworth L. Dunn, two other brothers, as ushers.

For a wedding trip to Niagara Falls, the bride wore beige suit with white accessories and a corsage of white roses. The couple will live at Main Street, Cooksville, N. J.

Mrs. Bowdler is a graduate of Saugerties Central School. Prior to graduation this June she was employed part-time at Ferroxcube Corporation.

The bridegroom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Phillip T. Bowdler of Hicksville, L. I., is a graduate of Hicksville High School. He has served two years with the U. S. Air Force and is currently stationed at McGuire Air Force Base, N. J.

GUESTS OF THE BRIDE'S FAMILY

Q: We are traveling 800 miles to our son's wedding. We have never met the bride nor her family. We received a letter from the bride's mother inviting us to stay at her house and also to have our meals with them. There will be my husband, a 19-year-old daughter and myself. What is expected of us as house guests? Should we take a gift with us, offer to pay when we leave or send something after we return home? We will be there three days.

A: Nothing will be expected of you beyond the conventional bread-and-butter letter, always a must for any house guests. In your letter you would thank your hostess for all she did to make your stay at her house comfortable and enjoyable, adding how lovely the bride looked and some comments on how perfect the wedding was.

Wife Invites Her Husband's Friends

Q—My husband would like to invite several of his business associates and their wives to dinner at our house, which is perfectly all right with me. However, he insists that it is my place to contact the wives of his associates (who are complete strangers to me) and invite them personally. I think that since they are his friends he should be the one to invite them and that it would be very awkward for me to call complete strangers and invite them to dinner. In this situation, don't you think he should do the inviting?

A: I'm sorry not to be able to agree with you, but the wife is the hostess and correctly issues the family's invitations.

Thanks for an Inexpensive Gift

Q: Yesterday was my birthday and I received quite a few birthday cards. One card has a handkerchief (a very pretty one) enclosed in it. I would like to know if it is necessary to write a thank-you note to the friend who sent it. My mother says I should but I hardly think a thank-you note is necessary for a single handkerchief. What is your opinion?

A: A present, whether it be one of great value or a mere trifle, must be thanked for.

The wedding of Miss Margaret Ruth Eyler and Durwood LeRoy Swart was solemnized at double ring ceremonies 2 p. m. Sunday, July 8, at St. Mary's of the Snow Church, Saugerties. The Rev. Joseph Hamilton, assistant pastor, officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Harvey Eyler Sr. of Box 52, West Camp. Mr. Swart is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Durwood R. Swart of Route 3, Box 25, Saugerties.

White gladioli decorated the altar and a bouquet of white and blue carnations and snapdragons was dedicated at the altar of the Blessed Mother. Mrs. Edward Feldman sang Ave Maria and Mother Beloved accompanied by Mrs. Vere Nessel, organist.

The bride wore a gown of nylon organza with scalloped neckline trimmed with sequins and long tapered sleeves. The skirt featured rosettes of lace and a double tier of lace terminating in a chapel train. Her fingertip veil was attached to a queen crown and she carried a prayer book with white roses and lillies of the valley.

Mrs. Anthony Lanzarone of Bayshore, L. I., was matron of honor for her sister. She wore a ballerina length gown of blue with a draped neckline, cap sleeves and satin cummerbund. A queen crown secured the circular veil. She carried a plateau basket of blue pompons.

Other attendants were Mrs. Paul Modjeska and Miss Sharon Swart, cousin of the bridegroom, both of Saugerties, and Mrs. Joseph Scuitto of Malden-on-Hudson. They wore ballerina length gowns in aqua, yellow and orchid with queen crowns and circular veils and carried plateau baskets of pink, orchid and yellow pompons.

Miss Mariane Barry was flower girl in a gown of pink. She carried a basket of pink, blue, yellow and orchid pompons.

Best man was Richard J. Underhill Jr. of Saugerties, with Joseph Scuitto of Malden, Kevin Barry of Elmont, L. I., the bride's nephew and Richard Swart of Saugerties, the bridegroom's brother as ushers.

A reception for 160 guests was held 3 p. m. at White Eagle Hall, Kingston.

For traveling the bride chose a lilac cotton dress with white accessories. Upon their return the couple will make their home at Box 52, West Camp.

The bride attended St. Mary's School, Saugerties and St. Patrick's Academy, Catskill. She is employed at the Alpha Portland Cement Company, Cementon.

The bridegroom attended Saugerties Schools and is employed at the Grand Union, Saugerties.

Upstate Orchestra To Resume Concert

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — Plans for reinstatement of the Rochester Civic and Philharmonic Orchestras' 1962 - 63 seasons were being implemented today following settlement of a contract dispute that had resulted in cancellation of both seasons.

The Civic Music Association, which sponsor the orchestras, Friday night accepted terms offered by Local 66 of the Musicians Union, AFL - CIO, according to Walter C. Strakosh, chairman of the association's board of directors.

Strakosh said that on the basis of the agreement, the association would begin lining up guest conductors and soloists for the philharmonic season.

The agreement provides for a pay increase of $10 a week for civic-orchestra musicians during the first year of the contract and a $9 weekly boost the second year. Terms for musicians in the philharmonic were not disclosed.

Current wage scales for musicians in either orchestra also were not revealed.

The orchestras' seasons were cancelled last month after contract negotiations collapsed. The old two-year contract expired last April. When a new one would go into effect was not learned.

Home Extension Service News

Phyllis W. Barlow, county home demonstration agent of the Ulster County Extension Service Association, discusses tension in the following article:

Tensions and anxiety are almost as much discussed these days as the weather. People have gone overboard looking for ways to combat the drumtight muscles, nervous fatigue, and insomnia that haunt many of them day and night. They often forget that living wouldn't be much fun if they were completely relaxed. There would be no pleasure in playing or watching games, in taking part in outdoor recreation, or watching movies or television. Nor would they be able to protect themselves against threats to their safety, well-being and happiness. They would be just like so many jelly fish, flabby and powerless to move.

However, it is true that tensions can get us into serious trouble physically and emotionally if they are allowed to mount. For our own protection it is important for each of us to find ways to overcome the emotional upsets that cause tensions to build up. In the booklet, "How to Deal with Your Tensions," Dr. George Stevenson suggests ten things you can do. They can be summarized as follows:

Talk It Out — When something worries you, talk it over with some level-headed person you can trust. This helps you see your worry in a clearer light, and perhaps to see what else you can do about it.

Escape For A While — Lose yourself in a movie, a book, a game, or a brief trip. But be prepared to come back and deal with their difficulty when you are better able emotionally and intellectually to work it out.

Work Off Your Anger — If you feel like lashing out at someone, try to hold off a while. Pitch into some physical activity like gardening, carpentry, or cleaning the garage. Later you will handle your problem more intelligently.

Give in Occasionally — Stand your ground on what you know is right but do it calmly. You could turn out to be wrong. If you yield usually others will too. The result will be a relief from tension and practical solution.

Do Something for Others — If you worry about yourself all the time, try doing something for somebody else. You will be happier.

Take One Thing at A Time — If you have a work load that seems unbearable, take the most urgent tasks and do them one at a time. After the first few are finished the rest will go much easier.

Shun the Superman Urge — Don't expect too much of yourself. No one can be perfect in everything. Decide which things you do well and put your major effort into these. Then do the things you can't do so well but don't blame yourself if you can't achieve the impossible.

Go Easy With Your Criticism — Some people expect too much of others and feel let down when they do not measure up. Don't try to make over other people. Search out their good points and help to develop them.

Give the Other Fellow A Break — When people are under tension they often feel they have "to get there first." Everything becomes a race in which someone is found to get injured — physically or emotionally and mentally. Ease up! If the other fellow feels you are no longer a threat to him, he stops being a threat to you.

Make Yourself Available — Many of us feel "left out," slighted, or rejected. Instead of shrinking away, it is healthier to make some overtures instead of always waiting to be asked. This doesn't mean pushing yourself forward! There's a middle ground between withdrawal and pushing. Try it.

Paper Production

Production of paper and paperboard in the U. S. during 1960 amounted to 35,361,000 short tons, a gain of 3.8 per cent over the 34,051,000 short tons of the preceding year. Part of the increase in total production resulted from a gain in paper and paperboard exports, according to the 1962 Britannica Book of the Year.

Saugerties First Congregational Church Is Setting for Bowdler-Dunn Wedding Rite

MR. AND MRS. PHILLIP L. BOWDLER

The First Congregational Church of Saugerties was the setting of the 2 p. m. wedding of Miss Thelma Jane Dunn and Airman First Class Phillip Louis Bowdler on Saturday, July 7.

The Rev. Frederick J. Imhoff, pastor, officiated at the double ring ceremony before an altar decorated with vases of white gladioli and pompons. White bows with lily of the valley decorated the pews.

Beverly Harris, organist and Nelson Burhans, soloist, presented I Love You Truly, Because, Wedding Prayer and The Lord's Prayer.

The bride, daughter of Mrs. M. Blanche Dunn of 24 Valley Street, Saugerties and the late Everett Dunn, was given in marriage by her brother-in-law, Elwood Tompkins. She wore a gown of rose pointed lace fashioned with a fitted bodice, long tapered sleeves and a scalloped neckline. The bouffant skirt of lace ruffles terminated in a circular train. Her veil was secured to a crown of aurora crystals and seed pearls and she carried a bouquet of white roses and carnations.

Mrs. Florence Tompkins, of Blue Mountain was matron of honor for her sister. She was attired in a gown of yellow chiffon over taffeta and carried a bouquet of mint green carnations.

Other attendants were Miss Margaret Dunn, sister of the bride and Mrs. Judy Dunn sister-in-law of the bride, both of Saugerties. They wore gowns of mint green chiffon over taffeta with lace jackets and carried bouquets of yellow carnations.

For a wedding trip to Niagara Falls, the bride wore beige suit with white accessories and a corsage of white roses. The couple will live at Main Street, Cooksville, N. J.

Mrs. Bowdler is a graduate of Saugerties Central School. Prior to graduation this June she was employed part-time at Ferroxcube Corporation.

The bridegroom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Phillip T. Bowdler of Hicksville, L. I., is a graduate of Hicksville High School. He has served two years with the U. S. Air Force and is currently stationed at McGuire Air Force Base, N. J.

GUESTS OF THE BRIDE'S FAMILY

Q: We are traveling 800 miles to our son's wedding. We have never met the bride nor her family. We received a letter from the bride's mother inviting us to stay at her house and also to have our meals with them. There will be my husband, a 19-year-old daughter and myself. What is expected of us as house guests? Should we take a gift with us, offer to pay when we leave or send something after we return home? We will be there three days.

A: Nothing will be expected of you beyond the conventional bread-and-butter letter, always a must for any house guests. In your letter you would thank your hostess for all she did to make your stay at her house comfortable and enjoyable, adding how lovely the bride looked and some comments on how perfect the wedding was.

Wife Invites Her Husband's Friends

Q—My husband would like to invite several of his business associates and their wives to dinner at our house, which is perfectly all right with me. However, he insists that it is my place to contact the wives of his associates (who are complete strangers to me) and invite them personally. I think that since they are his friends he should be the one to invite them and that it would be very awkward for me to call complete strangers and invite them to dinner. In this situation, don't you think he should do the inviting?

A: I'm sorry not to be able to agree with you, but the wife is the hostess and correctly issues the family's invitations.

Thanks for an Inexpensive Gift

Q: Yesterday was my birthday and I received quite a few birthday cards. One card has a handkerchief (a very pretty one) enclosed in it. I would like to know if it is necessary to write a thank-you note to the friend who sent it. My mother says I should but I hardly think a thank-you note is necessary for a single handkerchief. What is your opinion?

A: A present, whether it be one of great value or a mere trifle, must be thanked for.

Paper Production

Production of paper and paperboard in the U. S. during 1960 amounted to 35,361,000 short tons, a gain of 3.8 per cent over the 34,051,000 short tons of the preceding year. Part of the increase in total production resulted from a gain in paper and paperboard exports, according to the 1962 Britannica Book of the Year.

Niece of Local Residents Becomes Bride Of Long Island Man at July 1st Wedding

Miss Eileen M. Tyrrell, niece of Mr. and Mrs. John William Meara of Lucas Avenue Extension and Michael S. Wasserman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Wasserman of Westbury, L. I., were wed 2 p. m. Sunday, July 1, at St. Joseph's Church, Babylon, L. I.

The Rev. Christopher Donahue officiated at the double ring ceremony. The altar was decorated with white glodioli, chrysanthemums and ferns. Family pews were marked with satin bows.

The bride, escorted in marriage by her uncle, John Meara, wore a gown of chiffon taffeta fashioned with a fitted bodice of Chantilly lace, long sleeves and a scooped neckline. The skirt was enhanced with panels of lace. Her imported silk illusion veil was shirred to a crown of seed pearls and orange blossoms. She carried an old fashioned bouquet of orchids, white carnations, and blue bridal wreath surrounded by lace.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Donald Ellenthaupe, Howard Beach, a cousin of the bride. She was attired in a street length dress of apricot silk organza with a fitted bodice, short sleeves and a sheath skirt. Attached to the waist was an overskirt of organza. A large matching horsehair picture hat completed her ensemble. She carried a cascade of tropicana roses.

Other attendants, Miss Lynda Sweeney, a cousin of the bride of Middletown, Miss Mary Ceglowski of North Dakota and Mrs. Maria Rogers of Sandusky, Ohio, were attired in similar gowns of light blue. They carried cascades of miniature carnations in rose and white.

Miss Patricia Sweeney of Middletown served as flower girl. She wore a light blue nylon organza dress. Her headpiece was a tiara of pink sweetheart roses and she carried a basket of miniature carnations.

Roger M. Rogers of Sandusky, Ohio was best man. Ushers were Joseph Giangianne, Richard Sena and Robert Nowahowski, all of Long Island.

A reception was held at Old Country Manor, Hicksville, L. I., following the ceremony.

Mrs. Wasserman is a graduate of the Academy of Our Lady of the Blessed Sacrament, Goshen, and Ladycliff College, Highland Falls. She is studying for her master's degree at State University College, Oneonta and is a teacher in the North Babylon School system.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Westbury High School. He attended Louisiana State University and the University of the State of New York. He is a graduate of the USAF School of Aviation Medicine at Gunter Air Force Base, Alabama and Air University, Maxwell AFB, Alabama. He served in the USAF for four years and is currently a captain in the Air Force Reserve.

June Milk Prices

NEW YORK (AP) — Milk delivered in June to pool plants and pool bulk-tank units in the New York-New Jersey milk shed will bring a price of $3.85 per hundredweight (46.5 quarts).

Market Administrator C. J. Blanford announced the price Friday. He said the producer butterfat differential was computed at 5.8 cents for each tenth of a pound of fat above or below the 3.5 per cent standard.

Blanford said receipts from producers were 3.55 per cent below those of June, 1961, but consumption of fluid milk rose 0.31 per cent.

Fluid milk sales accounted for 42.09 per cent of the June pool, compared to 40.46 per cent a year ago.

Friday 13th Fatality

FULTON, N.Y. (AP) — Four years ago, Lester Seeley of Brewerton was struck by a stock car as he flagged the start of a race at Weedsport. He suffered only minor injuries.

Friday night, the 13th, he was not so lucky. A stock car spun into the field at Milray Speedway here as a race began and knocked him down. He was dead on arrival at a hospital.

The Oswego County Sheriff's Department said Seeley, 51, and official starter at the track, had walked into the infield after starting cars out on a ace.

The two leading cars came together and locked wheels. The vehicle driven by Joseph Magari of East Syracuse went into the infield and struck Seeley, deputies said.

Berlin Reds Give U. S. Student 21 Months in Jail

BERLIN (AP) — A Communist court in East Berlin today sentenced Robert Mann, a 19-year-old student from Sepulveda, Calif., to 21 months in prison on charges of trying to help a refugee escape to the West.

The judge said the time Mann had been held in prison would be counted against the sentence. He was arrested in East Berlin last Jan. 22.

854th to Leave July 21 for Camp

The 854th Engineer Battalion, local U. S. Army Reserve Unit, will leave for Camp Drum for its annual active duty training July 21. Training will take place at 1st Army's major summer training site, Camp Drum.

The Battalion is a heavy construction unit and is prepared to build heavy bridges, construct roads and runways under combat conditions.

Approximately 400 officers and men based in Kingston, Poughkeepsie, Newburgh and Monticello will leave their civilian occupations and don the garb of military men to become Army construction engineers, and combat ready soldiers.

The unit is commanded by Lt. Col. Carl B. Hedman of Cornwall-on-the-Hudson. Headquarters and Service Company, based in Kingston, is commanded by Lt. Edward Brown of this city.

Dems Shift Hearing

NEW YORK (AP)—The Democratic State Committee has announced a change in the date of one of two public hearings on party rule revisions.

The hearing will be held Aug. 16 in Syracuse instead of the Aug. 13 date originally announced, the committee said Friday. The other hearing will be held, as previously announced, on July 23 in New York City.

Onondaga Demos Label Alexander For House Race

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — The Onondaga County Democratic Committee says Lee Alexander, a 35-year-old Syracuse lawyer, will be the party's candidate for representative from the new 34th Congressional District, following the withdrawal by Dr. Trevor K. Serviss of his bid for the nomination.

Serviss, vice president and editor-in-chief of L.S. Singer Co., publisher of textbooks, said Friday business commitments "involve so much travel that I could not do justice to them and to the conduct of a campaign."

No other Democrats have announced plans to seek the nomination.

Alexander's opponent in the November election would be Republican Rep. R. Walter Riehlman.

Niece of Local Residents Becomes Bride Of Long Island Man at July 1st Wedding

Miss Eileen M. Tyrrell, niece of Mr. and Mrs. John William Meara of Lucas Avenue Extension and Michael S. Wasserman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Wasserman of Westbury, L. I., were wed 2 p. m. Sunday, July 1, at St. Joseph's Church, Babylon, L. I.

The Rev. Christopher Donahue officiated at the double ring ceremony. The altar was decorated with white glodioli, chrysanthemums and ferns. Family pews were marked with satin bows.

The bride, escorted in marriage by her uncle, John Meara, wore a gown of chiffon taffeta fashioned with a fitted bodice of Chantilly lace, long sleeves and a scooped neckline. The skirt was enhanced with panels of lace. Her imported silk illusion veil was shirred to a crown of seed pearls and orange blossoms. She carried an old fashioned bouquet of orchids, white carnations, and blue bridal wreath surrounded by lace.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Donald Ellenthaupe, Howard Beach, a cousin of the bride. She was attired in a street length dress of apricot silk organza with a fitted bodice, short sleeves and a sheath skirt. Attached to the waist was an overskirt of organza. A large matching horsehair picture hat completed her ensemble. She carried a cascade of tropicana roses.

Other attendants, Miss Lynda Sweeney, a cousin of the bride of Middletown, Miss Mary Ceglowski of North Dakota and Mrs. Maria Rogers of Sandusky, Ohio, were attired in similar gowns of light blue. They carried cascades of miniature carnations in rose and white.

Miss Patricia Sweeney of Middletown served as flower girl. She wore a light blue nylon organza dress. Her headpiece was a tiara of pink sweetheart roses and she carried a basket of miniature carnations.

Roger M. Rogers of Sandusky, Ohio was best man. Ushers were Joseph Giangianne, Richard Sena and Robert Nowahowski, all of Long Island.

A reception was held at Old Country Manor, Hicksville, L. I., following the ceremony.

Mrs. Wasserman is a graduate of the Academy of Our Lady of the Blessed Sacrament, Goshen, and Ladycliff College, Highland Falls. She is studying for her master's degree at State University College, Oneonta and is a teacher in the North Babylon School system.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Westbury High School. He attended Louisiana State University and the University of the State of New York. He is a graduate of the USAF School of Aviation Medicine at Gunter Air Force Base, Alabama and Air University, Maxwell AFB, Alabama. He served in the USAF for four years and is currently a captain in the Air Force Reserve.

June Milk Prices

NEW YORK (AP) — Milk delivered in June to pool plants and pool bulk-tank units in the New York-New Jersey milk shed will bring a price of $3.85 per hundredweight (46.5 quarts).

Market Administrator C. J. Blanford announced the price Friday. He said the producer butterfat differential was computed at 5.8 cents for each tenth of a pound of fat above or below the 3.5 per cent standard.

Blanford said receipts from producers were 3.55 per cent below those of June, 1961, but consumption of fluid milk rose 0.31 per cent.

Fluid milk sales accounted for 42.09 per cent of the June pool, compared to 40.46 per cent a year ago.

854th to Leave July 21 for Camp

The 854th Engineer Battalion, local U. S. Army Reserve Unit, will leave for Camp Drum for its annual active duty training July 21. Training will take place at 1st Army's major summer training site, Camp Drum.

The Battalion is a heavy construction unit and is prepared to build heavy bridges, construct roads and runways under combat conditions.

Approximately 400 officers and men based in Kingston, Poughkeepsie, Newburgh and Monticello will leave their civilian occupations and don the garb of military men to become Army construction engineers, and combat ready soldiers.

The unit is commanded by Lt. Col. Carl B. Hedman of Cornwall-on-the-Hudson. Headquarters and Service Company, based in Kingston, is commanded by Lt. Edward Brown of this city.

Dems Shift Hearing

NEW YORK (AP)—The Democratic State Committee has announced a change in the date of one of two public hearings on party rule revisions.

The hearing will be held Aug. 16 in Syracuse instead of the Aug. 13 date originally announced, the committee said Friday. The other hearing will be held, as previously announced, on July 23 in New York City.

Onondaga Demos Label Alexander For House Race

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — The Onondaga County Democratic Committee says Lee Alexander, a 35-year-old Syracuse lawyer, will be the party's candidate for representative from the new 34th Congressional District, following the withdrawal by Dr. Trevor K. Serviss of his bid for the nomination.

Serviss, vice president and editor-in-chief of L.S. Singer Co., publisher of textbooks, said Friday business commitments "involve so much travel that I could not do justice to them and to the conduct of a campaign."

No other Democrats have announced plans to seek the nomination.

Alexander's opponent in the November election would be Republican Rep. R. Walter Riehlman.

Debby Doesn't Buy Teddy Bears

Debby loves her two "cuddly" bears.

Five-year-old Debby Stauber of Sheboygan, Wis., doesn't have to buy any teddy bears to cuddle. Two very much alive-looking bear cubs decorate the Stauber's front entrance and Debby finds these just as cuddly.

Debby's father's hobby is taxidermy, or stuffing animals, which explains the presence of the bears. The Stauber's small three-room upper flat contains enough stuffed animals and fish to open a museum.

Included in his collection are pheasants, ruffed grouse, deer heads, wild geese, a porcupine, raccoons, owls, hawks, a baby fox, wild ducks and a fawn.

Some colorful woodcocks and a peacock are kept in a glass cage. Unique planters with stuffed wild animals as ornaments stand in every corner of the Stauber's living room.

Mr. Stauber uses molded paper forms to stuff the animals. He has been doing taxidermy as a hobby for 12 years. "My father, a licensed taxidermist, taught me," Frank says.

He added that his father has his house just as full of stuffed animals.

Many of the animals Frank stuffs are those killed on highways by automobiles.

Mr. Stauber also raises peacocks, pheasants, partridge, wild geese, wild ducks and raccoons as a hobby. When any of them die, he stuffs them and adds them to his collection.

Hunting and fishing are also enjoyed by Mr. Stauber. "I usually stuff my catch."

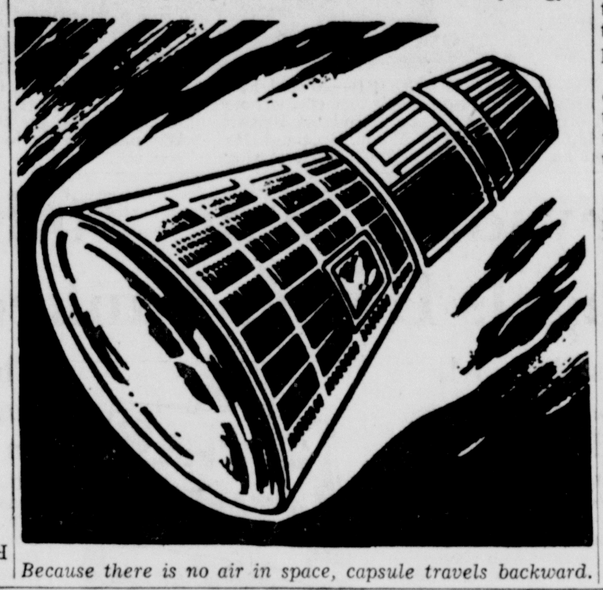
Our Astronauts' Space Capsules Are Sun Lamp-Shaped for Reasons

If you had a cone-shaped piece of wood how would you throw it to make it go faster and farther? And how would you throw it to make it travel slower?

If you said, "Pointed end first for the fast trip, and wide end first for the slow one," you agree with the space scientists who plan the flights of the Project Mercury capsule.

The sun lamp-shaped Project Mercury capsule, you will remember, is the one that took Lt. Cmdr. Scott Carpenter on his orbital space flight. This capsule goes into space with the small end up so that it will go upward as far and fast as possible.

When the capsule starts to fall back to earth a clever device inside it keeps it from toppling over and zooming back to earth nose down. This device is worked by a gyro—short for gyroscope—a machine that is much like the gyroscope toy top that always stays upright as it spins, no matter how you slant what it is spinning on.



Because there is no air in space, capsule travels backward.

Whenever the Project Mercury capsule leans over, its gyro starts a jet spurting to push it back upright—a jet on the left to push it to the right, and one on the right to push it to the left. This is called controlling the "attitude." It can be done by the machine alone, or by the pilot.

The reason that space scientists want the return of the capsule to be slowed is that this makes it a cooler trip with a softer landing.

You know that when things rub together the friction makes heat. Even air can heat something that zooms through it at great speed. So the Project Mercury capsule is made to fall to earth broad end first to slow it. Scientists call this "air drag."

The broad base also causes the air waves to flow out from the capsule instead of hugging its sides as they would if it were streamlined. Next time you are in the tub or pool try pushing your hand against the water palm first; then try this with your fingers held together to make a point. You will see the difference in the water ripples. Air does the same thing.

Now, why does a slow fall make a softer landing? Well, a fall is just like any other motion and you know how much harder a fast ball smacks into your glove than a ball that is just tossed.

The broad base of the Project Mercury capsule slows it somewhat, and this end is also protected by a heat shield. But to slow the capsule still more, a parachute opens when the capsule has dropped far enough to be in the thicker part of the atmosphere. Of course, it is air pushing up under a parachute that slows the fall; so a parachute is of no use in outer space where there is almost no atmosphere.

Having made the capsule fall as slowly as possible, the scientists then looked around for a "pillow" for it to land on. The ocean gave them a fine, large natural pillow. You already know, from jumping off the side of the swimming pool into the water and from jumping off a low porch onto the ground, your landing is much softer in the water.

So the capsule's broad nose is one of the ways space scientists have found to get a cool answer to a hot problem.

—Walter B. Hendrickson Jr.

Round Boat

A round boat that floats nicely can be made from a cottage cheese or sour cream carton lid.

Use the bottom of the lid as a pattern to trace an aluminum foil circle. Cut out. Cut a V-shaped piece in the center of the foil for a sail.

Press foil into the lid with your fingers and crease sail so it will stand up.

SHORT STORY BY H. T. FERRIS---

Too Young for Slingshot, but Not for Honesty

Bobby's eyes kindled with excitement the morning Frank offered to make him a slingshot.

Bobby Andrews had been asking his older brother for some time to make him a slingshot, but Bobby was only eight and Frank said he was too young. But this morning, Bobby looked kind of lonesome and Frank took pity on him and said he'd make him one if Bobby would be "very careful" with it, and Bobby promised he would.

Frank sharpened his pocket knife, then he and Bobby went out in the back yard and looked around till they found a sapling with a branch that forked like the letter Y. Frank cut it off about six inches below and three inches above the fork. He cut a little notch around each top end and fastened a rubber band to each. Then he cut a piece of leather about an inch long from the top of an old shoe and made a hole in each side with an old ice pick through which to fasten the other ends of the rubber bands.

Frank knew just how to make a slingshot and this one was a dandy. Frank showed Bobby the right way to shoot with it. Hold your left hand out straight then put a pebble in the piece of leather and pull it back.

Frank and Bobby spent an hour shooting at tin cans and tree stumps and Bobby got so he could hit the mark most every time.

"Don't ever shoot at birds or anything like that," Frank cautioned when they went in the house. "And be careful you don't ever aim it where any people are."

"I'll be careful," Bobby said, but that afternoon he must have forgot a little as he was walking back home from a little creek near his house where he had found a whole lot of nice hard round pebbles.

He had his side pockets full of them and he had his slingshot in his hip pocket, and he was passing Mr. Pettigrew's house when he looked over the fence and saw one of Mr. Pettigrew's white roosters with its big red comb strutting around there in the side yard.

Bobby didn't know what made him do it. But, before he realized what he was doing, he had put one of the creek pebbles in his slingshot and aimed it at the red comb. He hadn't meant to hit the rooster. He just wanted to shoot at it. But suddenly there was a thud.

The rooster let out a squawk, flapped its wings once or twice, staggered around in a circle, then suddenly fell over on the ground and lay there without moving. Bobby stood looking over the fence in silence, waiting for the rooster to get up, but it didn't move again.

One of the neighbors had seen Bobby and she telephoned Bobby's mother and told her and that evening she asked Bobby about it.

"Do what?" said Bobby.

"Shoot Mr. Pettigrew's rooster."

Bobby hung his head a little. "I just was shooting at it. I didn't mean to hit it."

"Did you know you killed it?"

Bobby didn't say anything.

"You're going to have to pay for it," said his mother. "You go over and tell Mr. Pettigrew you did it and you're sorry, and ask him how much the rooster was worth. Then you come back and we'll count the money out of your bank."

It was an awful hard thing for Bobby to do, going over to Mr. Pettigrew's. He hung on the gate a long time, then finally he went on up to the front door and rang the bell.

Bobby was afraid Mr. Pettigrew might give him a spanking. Mr. Pettigrew had a kind of stern-looking face. But he was pleasant when Bobby told him what had happened.

"I didn't mean to hit him," Bobby said.

"It's all right," said Mr. Pettigrew. "But you won't shoot any more of my chickens, will you?"

"No, sir—" said Bobby.

The Pettigrews were just finishing supper, and Mrs. Pettigrew gave Bobby a nice piece of chocolate cake and cut another piece for him to take home to his mother.

"I found the rooster out there, but I didn't know what had happened," said Mr. Pettigrew. "I'm glad you told me. I think you're a nice honest boy."

"Thank you," smiled Bobby.

Little Words Mean a Lot

Ducks are ducks
And that's no quack!

You can duck a barn door swing,
Or you can duck a haymaker.

You can duck a flying saucer,
Or you can duck a bullet.

You can duck the issue,
Or you can duck out the back door.

You can eat like a duck
And waddle like a duck.

You can be as smart as a duck,
Or you can be a stuffed shirt like a duck.

You hunt ducks with a blind,
But you'd better not be blind to hunt ducks!

You can be a quack
Without being a duck.

Your mother will name you a duck,
If she's in a duckie mood!

Or she might call you a duck
Thinking you do more than waddle!

You can be an odd duck,
But you don't have to be a duck to be odd!

Mr. Stauber also raises peacocks, pheasants, partridge, wild geese, wild ducks and raccoons as a hobby. When any of them die, he stuffs them and adds them to his collection.

Hunting and fishing are also enjoyed by Mr. Stauber. "I usually stuff my catch."

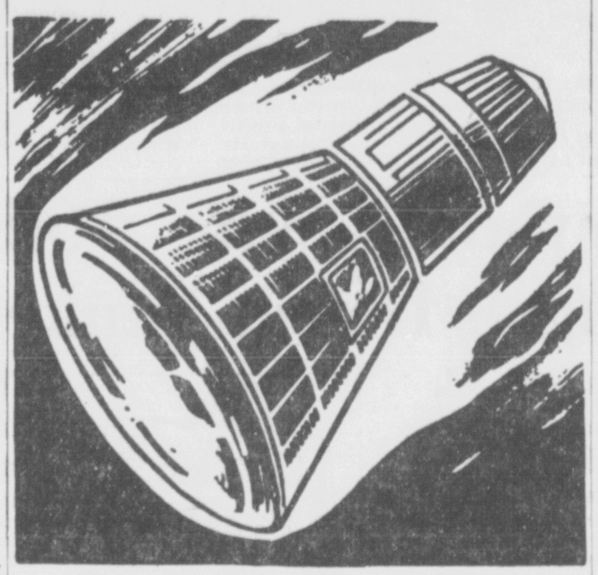
Our Astronauts' Space Capsules Are Sun Lamp-Shaped for Reasons

If you had a cone-shaped piece of wood how would you throw it to make it go faster and farther? And how would you throw it to make it travel slower?

If you said, "Pointed end first for the fast trip, and wide end first for the slow one," you agree with the space scientists who plan the flights of the Project Mercury capsule.

The sun lamp-shaped Project Mercury capsule, you will remember, is the one that took Lt. Cmdr. Scott Carpenter on his orbital space flight. This capsule goes into space with the small end up so that it will go upward as far and fast as possible.

When the capsule starts to fall back to earth a clever device inside it keeps it from toppling over and zooming back to earth nose down. This device is worked by a gyro—short for gyroscope—a machine that is much like the gyroscope toy top that always stays upright as it spins, no matter how you slant what it is spinning on.



Because there is no air in space, capsule travels backward.

Whenever the Project Mercury capsule leans over, its gyro starts a jet spurting to push it back upright—a jet on the left to push it to the right, and one on the right to push it to the left. This is called controlling the "attitude." It can be done by the machine alone, or by the pilot.

The reason that space scientists want the return of the capsule to be slowed is that this makes it a cooler trip with a softer landing.

You know that when things rub together the friction makes heat. Even air can heat something that zooms through it at great speed. So the Project Mercury capsule is made to fall to earth broad end first to slow it. Scientists call this "air drag."

The broad base also causes the air waves to flow out from the capsule instead of hugging its sides as they would if it were streamlined. Next time you are in the tub or pool try pushing your hand against the water palm first; then try this with your fingers held together to make a point. You will see the difference in the water ripples. Air does the same thing.

Now, why does a slow fall make a softer landing? Well, a fall is just like any other motion and you know how much harder a fast ball smacks into your glove than a ball that is just tossed.

The broad base of the Project Mercury capsule slows it somewhat, and this end is also protected by a heat shield. But to slow the capsule still more, a parachute opens when the capsule has dropped far enough to be in the thicker part of the atmosphere. Of course, it is air pushing up under a parachute that slows the fall; so a parachute is of no use in outer space where there is almost no atmosphere.

Having made the capsule fall as slowly as possible, the scientists then looked around for a "pillow" for it to land on. The ocean gave them a fine, large natural pillow. You already know, from jumping off the side of the swimming pool into the water and from jumping off a low porch onto the ground, your landing is much softer in the water.

So the capsule's broad nose is one of the ways space scientists have found to get a cool answer to a hot problem.

SHORT STORY BY H. T. FERRIS---

Too Young for Slingshot, but Not for Honesty

Bobby's eyes kindled with excitement the morning Frank offered to make him a slingshot.

Bobby Andrews had been asking his older brother for some time to make him a slingshot, but Bobby was only eight and Frank said he was too young. But this morning, Bobby looked kind of lonesome and Frank took pity on him and said he'd make him one if Bobby would be "very careful" with it, and Bobby promised he would.

Frank sharpened his pocket knife, then he and Bobby went out in the back yard and looked around till they found a sapling with a branch that forked like the letter Y. Frank cut it off about six inches below and three inches above the fork. He cut a little notch around each top end and fastened a rubber band to each. Then he cut a piece of leather about an inch long from the top of an old shoe and made a hole in each side with an old ice pick through which to fasten the other ends of the rubber bands.

Frank knew just how to make a slingshot and this one was a dandy. Frank showed Bobby the right way to shoot with it. Hold your left hand out straight then put a pebble in the piece of leather and pull it back.

Frank and Bobby spent an hour shooting at tin cans and tree stumps and Bobby got so he could hit the mark most every time.

"Don't ever shoot at birds or anything like that," Frank cautioned when they went in the house. "And be careful you don't ever aim it where any people are."

"I'll be careful," Bobby said, but that afternoon he must have forgot a little as he was walking back home from a little creek near his house where he had found a whole lot of nice hard round pebbles.

He had his side pockets full of them and he had his slingshot in his hip pocket, and he was passing Mr. Pettigrew's house when he looked over the fence and saw one of Mr. Pettigrew's white roosters with its big red comb strutting around there in the side yard.

Bobby didn't know what made him do it. But, before he realized what he was doing, he had put one of the creek pebbles in his slingshot and aimed it at the red comb. He hadn't meant to hit the rooster. He just wanted to shoot at it. But suddenly there was a thud.

The rooster let out a squawk, flapped its wings once or twice, staggered around in a circle, then suddenly fell over on the ground and lay there without moving. Bobby stood looking over the fence in silence, waiting for the rooster to get up, but it didn't move again.

One of the neighbors had seen Bobby and she telephoned Bobby's mother and told her and that evening she asked Bobby about it.

"Do what?" said Bobby.

"Shoot Mr. Pettigrew's rooster."

Bobby hung his head a little. "I just was shooting at it. I didn't mean to hit it."

"Did you know you killed it?"

Bobby didn't say anything.

"You're going to have to pay for it," said his mother. "You go over and tell Mr. Pettigrew you did it and you're sorry, and ask him how much the rooster was worth. Then you come back and we'll count the money out of your bank."

It was an awful hard thing for Bobby to do, going over to Mr. Pettigrew's. He hung on the gate a long time, then finally he went on up to the front door and rang the bell.

Bobby was afraid Mr. Pettigrew might give him a spanking. Mr. Pettigrew had a kind of stern-looking face. But he was pleasant when Bobby told him what had happened.

"I didn't mean to hit him," Bobby said.

"It's all right," said Mr. Pettigrew. "But you won't shoot any more of my chickens, will you?"

"No, sir—" said Bobby.

The Pettigrews were just finishing supper, and Mrs. Pettigrew gave Bobby a nice piece of chocolate cake and cut another piece for him to take home to his mother.

"I found the rooster out there, but I didn't know what had happened," said Mr. Pettigrew. "I'm glad you told me. I think you're a nice honest boy."

"Thank you," smiled Bobby.

Round Boat

A round boat that floats nicely can be made from a cottage cheese or sour cream carton lid.

Use the bottom of the lid as a pattern to trace an aluminum foil circle. Cut out. Cut a V-shaped piece in the center of the foil for a sail.

Press foil into the lid with your fingers and crease sail so it will stand up.

Little Words Mean a Lot

Ducks are ducks
And that's no quack!

You can duck a barn door swing,
Or you can duck a haymaker.

You can duck a flying saucer,
Or you can duck a bullet.

You can duck the issue,
Or you can duck out the back door.

You can eat like a duck
And waddle like a duck.

You can be as smart as a duck,
Or you can be a stuffed shirt like a duck.

You hunt ducks with a blind,
But you'd better not be blind to hunt ducks!

You can be a quack
Without being a duck.

Your mother will name you a duck,
If she's in a duckie mood!

Or she might call you a duck
Thinking you do more than waddle!

You can be an odd duck,
But you don't have to be a duck to be odd!

Paul Gardner to Pitch Against Beacon Nine

Paul Gardner is scheduled to get the mound call from Manager Dick Bartsch tonight as the Kingston Braves host Beacon in a New York-New Jersey Baseball League contest. Game time at Dietz Stadium is 8:15 p. m.

Gardner, who once hurled for Beacon, beat the Dutchess County team a couple of weeks ago. If he should run into some difficulty, Bartsch has Mike Spada ready for action.

Bartsch has made known the addition of three hurlers to the club. They are lefty Renni Giannuzzi, a former Kingston High hurler, and Craig Smith and Bob McNamara, a pair of righthanders.

The Braves have a 3-1 league record and must win tonight in order to tie Spring Valley for the top spot. The Bengals topped Poughkeepsie, 9-7, last night

Griffith Decisions Dupas in Title Bout

By BOB MYERS
Associated Press Sports Writer

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—It was up to boxer Emile Griffith to whip a man and a memory and he did it.

So today 23-year-old Emile was still the welterweight champion of the world.

The man he whipped was Ralph Dupas of New Orleans, the No. 1 contender. The decision Friday night was unanimous, but Dupas was a lot tougher and more aggressive than most people expected.

The memory, a sad one for Griffith, was his fatal fight last March 24 with Benny (Kid) Paret. The Cuban was battered into submission in 12 rounds and died 10 days later.

There was speculation that the sensitive, almost childlike Griffith, with this tragedy preying on his mind, might hold back his heavy punching or might even put on a dispirited fight.

One thing was sure. The 26-year-old Dupas, known for his hit-and-run tactics, switched form and kept Griffith fully occupied for the full 15 rounds.

Much Excitement

The crowd of 5,169 in the Las Vegas Convention Center was in an uproar of excitement for the full 45 munites of the action.

There was much clinching, and referee Frankie Van was a busy man. But Dupas with his surprising in and out punching, and the ever present threat of a knockout by Griffith, made it a good fight.

The fans really had to wait until the 15th round for the highlight. Griffith connected with a hard right to the jaw that hurt Ralph. He followed it up with lefts and rights as Dupas wobbled back, slipping eventually out of knockout range.

Emile was never able to land the finishing blow.

"I wasn't out but I knew I was hit," Dupas said later.

Dupas was very much in the fight and even close to the title until the last five rounds. He slugged toe-to-toe with Griffith but could never really hurt him. Then Emile came on strong in the closing rounds to wrap it up.

Dupas thought he won the fight, but there was ... complaint from his manager, Angelo Dundee. The latter was just pleased with Dupas' showing.

"I feel I boxed a very good fighter," Griffith said.

He related that recently a friend from New Orleans telephoned and warned that Dupas would try to win with a 10-second flurry of punching in each round.

"It came true just as he said," Griffith observed.

Dupas did seem to land his best shots right at the bell, notably in the fourth, sixth and eighth rounds.

Griffith spoke only briefly about the Paret matter, a subject he has studiously avoided during the past two weeks.

"Yes, I think about it. Even while training in the gym it comes to me, but ...."

He dropped the subject there.

Dupas noted that Griffith was the only one marked up in the fight. The champion had a slight cut at the right eye and in the middle of the forehead. Neither was serious, and the Griffith faction claimed both were inflicted by butts.

Griffith's managers, Gil Clancy and Howard Albert, said they have no immediate plans, and will fight anyone in the world if the money guarantee is right.

Woodstock Open Slated Monday

Several of the area's top professional and amateur stars will compete in the annual Woodstock Open Monday at the Woodstock Country Club links.

The rugged 27-hole test has always attracted some of the best divot diggers in the Northeastern and Metropolitan circuits and this promises to be no exception.

Though most of the highly touted amateurs are expected to compete, the pros are favored to capture this tournament, as they have done most of the other years.

Among the pros expected to compete are Charlie Sheppard, Armand Farina, Alex Sinclair, Bob Lux, Walter Brown and a host of others.

Ray Billows, the seven-time State Amateur champion, is expected to lead the contingent of amateurs. Also expected to compete are Bill Van Aken, Bill Waterous, George Hughes and the outstanding amateurs in Ulster County.

Palmer Now Seeks PGA Title

By TOM REEDY

TROON, Scotland (AP) — Arnold Palmer packed his winter underwear away with his second British Open golf championship today, and trudged off in quest of the U.S. Professional Golfers Association title that would give him a "three-quarter slam."

There was little doubt around these hallowed golf grounds that the 33-year-old Latrobe, Pa., artist would add the PGA next week to the U.S. Masters crown he won in April and the British Open he took here by running away from the field.

Palmer was shooting for the grand slam this year, but he lost the U.S. Open to Jack Nicklaus in an 18-hole playoff. He got even at Troon with Nicklaus and Kel Nagle, the sturdy Australian who beat him for the British Open in 1960.

Palmer shot 67-69 Friday, the first round breaking the course record, for a total of 276—12 under par—and the greatest record-breaking performance in the 102-year-old history of the championship.

The total was two shots better than the previous record, and the 6-stroke margin by which he won over Nagle, second with 282, equalled the mark for the winning margin.

Phil Rodgers, La Jolla, Calif., and Brian Huggett of England were seven strokes farther back, at 289, for third. Strung behind were Sam Snead at 292, Nicklaus at 305—including a 10 on the treacherous 11th hole—and Don Essig of Indianapolis at 308.

"I've never played four rounds of golf like these in my whole life," Palmer said, just before he boarded a plane for home and the PGA Tourney at Newton Square, Pa., July 19-22.

Not since Walter Hagen whipped Johnny Farrell at Muirfield in Scotland in 1929 by six strokes had anyone dominated a British Open in such a manner.

Palmer's four rounds for the 7,045-yard, par 72 links were 71-69-67-69—276.

ON THE WAY TO A RECORD—Arnold Palmer watches his ball stop just short of the hole on third green during closing rounds of British Open Golf Championship at Troon, Scotland. He unleashed an unprecedented finish with closing rounds of 67 and 69 to win the title for the second straight time. His score was 276—the lowest ever in the 102-year-old tournament. Drysdale Wins 16th Game; Angels Defeat Yankees Again

Tops Mets, 5-4, As LA Increases Lead in NL Race

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

At 25, Don Drysdale is by far the youngest major leaguer involved in a race with time.

For Warren Spahn, Stan Musial and Early Wynn, all past the 40-year mark, the struggle with time is an old, old thing involving the question of how many seasons may be left in their aging frames.

But for the 6-foot-6 Los Angeles Dodger right-hander the question centers around days and weeks. Are there enough weeks left in the season to become the first 30-game winner since Dizzy Dean posted a 30-7 mark for St. Louis in 1934?

Maybe. Maybe not.

Drysdale, who has never won 20, has 16 victories after beating the New York Mets 5-4 Friday night, and is making a determined try at becoming only the second National Leaguer to win 30 since Grover Cleveland Alexander in 1917.

He has a good chance to make it. But it'll be close.

With 11 weeks remaining and the Dodgers 71 games from the end of the expanded NL schedule, big Don can expect about 20 more starts, at the maximum. To hit the magic mark, he must win 14. Figuring a couple of games in which he does not get the decision, and a loss or two, it'll be close.

The swift, strong hurler spread out seven hits and got the benefit of Ron Fairly's ninth inning, tie-breaking homer in beating the Mets, pushing his record to 16-4 with 13 complete games in 21 starts.

The victory enabled the Dodgers to expand their National League lead to 1½ games over second-place San Francisco, which lost to Philadelphia and Dennis Bennett 3-2.

Cal Koonce, 21-year-old Chicago right-hander, blanked Cincinnati 1-0 on a one-hitter, St. Louis beat Milwaukee and Spahn 6-0, and Pittsburgh defeated Houston 4-0.

Minnesota shut out Washington 4-0 on Camilo Pascual's 4-hitter. Chicago defeated Detroit 4-1 and Boston edged Kansas City 11-10 in 15 innings.

Bennett, a 22-year-old rookie left-hander, threw a 5-hitter as the Phillies knocked San Francisco 1½ games off the pace. He suffered his only damage on a homer to Chuck Hiller in the fifth and three ninth-inning singles.

Koonce (8-2) allowed only a clean single to Don Blasingame in the fourth in his one-hit masterpiece against Cincinnati. The young Cub righthander gave up only one walk and struck out four in beating Reds ace Bob Purkey (14-3), who lost on an unearned run in the sixth.

Pittsburgh turned in four doubleplays in support of Bob Friend (9-9), who gave up eight hits in his well-supported shutout of Houston. The Pirates got two runs, all they needed, on Bill Virdon's double, a single and stolen base by Dick Skinner and Roberto Clemente's single in the first.

St. Louis right-hander Bob Gibson, who had defeated Milwaukee only twice in 10 lifetime decisions, tossed a 3-hitter against the Braves in running his season record to 11-6. A 3-run triple by Charlie James and Gene Oliver's homer provided all the support he needed. Spahn (8-11) took the loss.

Yesterday's Stars

BATTING—Charley Lau, Orioles, Lu Clinton, Red Sox, Lau tied major league record by hitting four doubles in 10-3 triumph over Cleveland; Clinton became the first American Leaguer since 1960 to hit for the cycle—single, double, triple and homer—before singling home winning run in 11-10, 15-inning victory over Kansas City.

Hernandez, Lane To Fight Tonight

NEW YORK (AP)—When Carlos Hernandez knocked out Paolo Rosi last month he didn't even get his hair mussed. Rosi didn't last one round. Kenny Lane, a 30-year-old veteran of 84 pro fights, hopes to do better tonight when he fights the 22-year-old lightweight from Venezuela.

Lane fought a draw with Hernandez, Feb. 20, 1961 in Carlos' home town of Caracas. Despite this draw, Hernandez has been made a 3-1 favorite for the 10-round match at Madison Square Garden. There will be network (ABC) television coverage at 9 p.m. (EST). Two judges and a referee will score it by rounds, using a supplementary poin' system if the rounds are even.

Lane, a southpaw, has a 71-11-2 record, compared to Hernandez' 26-1-3.

Three Clubs Now Near First Place In Tight Chase

The American League spotlight focused today on three rings.

In the main arena were the top three pennant contenders—New York's world champion Yankees, Cleveland's runner-up Indians and Los Angeles' surprising Angels—separated by only .008 points.

Arrayed on either side were Charley Lau and Lu Clinton, two unlikely candidates who came up with outstanding individual performances Friday night while the men in the middle were battling for first place.

The third-place Angels knocked off the league-leading Yankees for the second night in a row, moving within .008 of first place with a 5-2 victory. The Indians, beaten by Baltimore and Lau 10-3, remained second, .003 behind.

Lau, the Orioles' reserve catcher, tied a major league record by slamming four doubles. Clinton, often a Boston benchwarmer, became the first American League batter since 1960 to hit for the cycle—single, double, triple and homer—before his second single knocked in the winning run in a 11-10, 15-inning marathon with Kansas City.

Standout pitching shows were put on at Minnesota, where the Twins' Camilo Pascual became the top winner in the league with 13 triumphs by blanking Washington 4-0 on four hits, and at Chicago, where White Sox hurler Ray Herbert stopped Detroit 4-1 with a 3-hitter.

Leon Wagner's 26th homer—tops in the majors—and Lee Thomas' 2-run single in the third inning that drove in the decisive runs were the key blows for the Angels against Ralph Terry (11-8) and the Yankees. Ken McBride (9-3) went the distance for the victory, scattering 12 hits and running his winning streak to eight since he last lost in April.

Lau doubled home the Orioles' first run in the second and started a 3-run rally in the fourth against the Indians. The homer hitters then took over, with John Powell hitting a 2-run homer in the seventh and Brooks Robinson tagging a 3-run shot in the eighth. The 13-hit attack gave Steve Barber (7-6) his first victory since being released from the army, although he needed relief help from Hal Brown over the final 2 1-3 innings. Jim Perry (7-7) lost it.

Clinton, hitting .556 with 30-for-54 in the last 13 games, won it for the Red Sox in the 15th with an infield single. Carl Yastrzemski, who had doubled, raced around to score with the clincher that gave the triumph to Dick Radatz (4-4) and tagged Ed Rakow (6-10) with the defeat. Norm Siebern and Ed Charles homered for the A's.

Pascual (13-5) struck out 10 while going the route for the 12th time and recording his fourth shutout. Tom Cheney (2-4) started for the Senators and was touched for a run in the first on Harmon Killebrew's sacrifice fly. Cheney allowed only two hits before Marty Kutyna took over in the eighth, served a 2-run homer to Harmon Killebrew.

Herbert (9-5) allowed only one hit for eight innings—a triple by Jake Wood in the fourth that resulted in the lone Tiger run when Billy Bruton hit a sacrifice fly. Jim Landis scored the first White Sox run after doubling and drove in the clincher in the second with a single off Paul Foytack (7-2). Luis Aparicio's homer accounted for the other runs.

Action Slated At Five Sites Opening Night

Action in the district Little League playoffs will take place next week with 13 all-star clubs in the area slated to participate Chairman Hubert Richter has scheduled opening games on Thursday, July 19 at five different sites.

Action will continue on Friday, July 20, with semi-finals scheduled for Saturday, July 21, and the finals slated on Tuesday, July 24.

In the opening games next Thursday, Kerhonkson and Woodstock will meet at the Town of Ulster diamond; Highland plays Fallsburgh at Kerhonkson; Rondout Valley and Pine Bush will meet at Ellenville; Kingston National faces Town of Esopus at the Kingston American field and Kingston Jaycee plays the Town of Ulster at the Kingston National League diamond.

The Kerhonkson - Woodstock winner will meet Hurley on Friday, at the Kingston American diamond. The Highland-Fallsburgh victor is paired against Ellenville at the Kingston Jaycee field. Kingston American will meet the Rondout Valley-Pine Bush winner at Kerhonkson-Accord and at Highland the winners of the games between Kingston National-Esopus and Jaycee-Town of Ulster will collide.

No site has been chosen for the district championship contest, set for Tuesday, July 24. A site will be determined at a future date.

Assisting Richter are Bing Van Etten, Ben Gulnick, Dave Murphy and Vern Kelder.

The American Little League has made known its all-star team. Players are Greg Rios, Tom Dittus, Gary Nickerson and Roger Jones from Sickler's Delivery; Bob Jones, Gary Van-Dine, John Cook, Larry Crantz and alternate Joe Duncan from Toni-Lynn Maternities; Ray Hull, Rich VanKuren and alternate Howard Bodie from Augustine Insurance; Mike Weishaupt and Bill Zeeh from Fil-Jon Manufacturing.

Joe Misasi of Toni-Lynn is the manager and Ray Hull of Augustine Insurance is the coach.

Players picked for the Jaycee Little League team are Kenneth Gilligan, Richard Oakley and alternate Al Mitchel from the Hawks; Phillip Toffel, Arthur Davis, David Roberts and Arnie Shienvold from the Crows; Gary Schatzel, Jordan Pauker and Robert Walker from the Owls; Jerry Corrado, Robert Hazenbush and alternate James Whalen from the Wrens; Andrew J. Murphy, IV, from the Jays and Michael Andrews and Michael Hawkins from the Eagles.

Grand Circuit Ends Tonight At Monticello

MONTICELLO — Grand Circuit racing comes to a smashing climax tonight at Monticello Raceway with the racing of the $15,692 George M. Levy Pace in the feature seventh race.

Named for the founder of Roosevelt Raceway, the Levy event will close out a successful six nights of Grand Circuit racing at the Mighty M. Eight features will have been contested by the week's end in the Excelsior Stakes series for two and three year olds of both gaits.

The Levy will spotlight three-year-old pacing colts and geldings. Eight horses are in the field headed by Buxton Hanover, Lehigh Hanover and Ranger Knight—three of the best sophomore sidewheelers in the nation.

Stanley Dancer's Lehigh Hanover is a slight early favorite for the Levy. Lehigh is fresh from a pair of smashing victories at Goshen in the $7,050 Orange County Cup. Dancer reined the Adios - Lucine Hanover colt to an event and track record for his age and gait of 2:00.4. Lehigh downed a star-studded field that included the much heralded Adora's Dream and Coffee Break.

Lehigh has tremendous opening and closing power as evidenced by his amazing 58.3 half and 28.1 final quarter in the Orange County event. He won the second heat in 2:04.3.

Dancer and Lehigh Hanover will open from the five post between their top challengers, Buxton Hanover (No. 4) and Ranger Knight (No. 6). Buxton defeated Ranger Knight and a field of aged pacers last Saturday in a $5,000 Invitational. Al Thomas piloted the Tar Heel colt to a 2:01.4 win, winning by head over Irish Grattan. Billy Haughton will drive Buxton Saturday.

Ranger Knight, the season's fastest colt on a double oval with a 1:59.1 mark, was fourth to Buxton, but too, was clocked in 2:01.4. In fact, all five top finishers were caught in the same time.

Ranger Knight carved out his sub-two-minute mile at Saratoga. The time erased the old track standard by a tick. Buck Minniear will drive Ranger Knight.

The rest of the field will consist of Royal Domain, Play Bill, Meadow Newport, Leader Pick and Thor Hanover.

Costello Is Medalist In Wiltwyck Tourney

William (Buzzy) Costello won medalist honors in the qualifying round of the fifth anual Wiltwyck Country Club tournament with a 72. He nipped Harvey Bostic by a stroke. Both represent the Wiltwyck Club.

First round action in the tournament started this morning. Paired in the upper bracket and their qualifying scores were Leon Randell, Wiltwyck, (76), and George Cosenza, Wiltwyck, (77); Andy Jasienowski, Rip Van Winkle, (75) and Bill Kaufman, Wiltwyck, (7); Harvey Bostic, Wiltwyck, (73) and Ernie Schirmer, Twaalfskill, (77); Bob Botsford, Dutchess, (77) and Ricky Bates, Stamford, (78).

In the lower bracket, pairings are William Costello, Wiltwyck, (72) and Joe Cattnzaro, Alexander Caven, (77); Bud Leninger, Wiltwyck, (76) and Dick Davenport, Wiltwyck, (77); Frank Bitzko, Alexander Caven, (75) and Brian Smith, Wiltwyck, (77; Ronnie Marks, Wiltwyck, (7) and John Adler, Southern Dutchess, (78).

Finals of the tournament are scheduled to begin at 1:30 p. m. tomorrow. Randall is the defending champion and has won the title twice. Bostic has also captured honors on the two different occasions.

Giants Capture Title In Esopus Legion Loop

Opening up with four runs in the first inning, the Giants scored almost at will and defeated the Indians, 17-5, to capture the Esopus Legion Little League title yesterday.

While Grant Dunham was holding the losers to three safeties, the Giants rapped out 10 hits with Dunham collecting a pair of doubles and second baseman Jeff Lisman hitting a triple and two singles. Orlando Landi of the Giants and Ray Davis of the Indians slapped doubles.

The line score:

				R	H
Giants	4	3	0	5 1 4 — 17	10
Indians	0	0	2	2 1 0 — 5	3

Grant Dunham and Orlando Landi; Mike Mott, Kevin Murphy and Doug Freeman.

Toni-Lynn Tops Augustine, 23-1

Toni-Lynn Maternities scored 12 runs in the fourth frame on the way to a 23-1 American Little League victory over Augustine Insurance yesterday.

Bob Jones and Larry Crantz divided the pitching chores for the winners. Dwight Byrd had a double, triple and single while Jones and Steve Broskie each hit two doubles and John Cook doubled once. Bill Brady socked four safeties for the winners.

The line score:

	R	H
Augustine's	1 0 0 — 1	3
Toni-Lyn	2 5 4 12x — 23	16

Tigers, Giants Hurley Winners

The Tigers walloped the Red Sox, 11-3, and the Giants toppled the Yanks, 15-4, in recent Hurley Little League games.

Doug Craddock hurled for the Tigers, allowing only two hits. He walked five and fanned seven. Craddock aided his own cause with a triple and single. Ralph Bill Alexander tripled and doubled.

The Giants had only four safeties but they took advantage of some walks and errors to record their easy victory. An eight run surge in the fifth did the damage.

Fred Kachura was the winner over Mike Perry.

The line scores:

	R	H
Red Sox	0 2 1 0 0 — 3	2
Tigers	0 0 0 5 6x — 11	8

Charles Moore and Ralph Hoffman; Doug Craddock and Tom Wamsley.

Jaycee Wrens Earn 11-8 Win

Scoring in every inning but the fifth, the Wrens managed to survive a seven run Owl barrage in the sixth and score an 11-8 Jaycee Little League victory last evening.

Jim Whalen led the Wren attack with a trio of singles. Tom Reis and Randy Schmidt each contributed two singles to the winning cause. Gary Schatzel led the Owls with two singles and a double. Bobby Walker, Dick Bockelman, Fred Seeger and Paul Bockelman also rapped two baggers for the losers.

Shortstop Jordan Pauker slammed a three-run homer in the sixth inning.

The line score:

	R	H
Wrens	4 2 2 1 0 2 — 11	12
Owls	0 0 0 1 0 7 — 8	11

Bobby Hazenbush, Jerry Corrado and Willis Locke, Russ Suppies; Gary Schatzel and Bobby Walker.

Apache Defeats Iroquois, 19-3

Apache scored almost at will in trampling the Iroquois, 19-3 in a Metropolitan Knothole League game yesterday.

Blaine Kilmer led the winners with a home run double. Dan Zoller rapped three safeties and Gary Bittner scored four runs. Bob Mitchell had a triple and Roger Thiel and Bittner doubles.

The line score:

	R	H
Apache	4 0 6 6 3 — 19	11
Iroquois	2 1 0 0 0 — 3	3

Roger Thiel, Blaine Kilmer and Andy Magaldino; Gary Lucas, Dallas Pickett, Mike Mayone and Gene Wagner.

Mrs. Nevil Seeks 4th State Women's Championship

COOPERSTOWN, N.Y. (AP) — Mrs. Harry J. Nevil Jr., playing on her home course, sought her fourth State Women's Amateur Golf championship today.

Her opponent in the 36 - hole final of the state tournament was upset-minded, 21-year - old Susan Rich of Skaneateles, who turned back ex-champion Cookie Swift Berger of Buffalo, 4 and 3, Friday in the semi-finals.

Generally fair weather was expected for the final on the rolling, 6,308-yard Cooperstown Country Club Course.

Mrs. Nevil who won her first state title five years ago, came from behind Friday to beat the veteran Mrs. George Trainor of Rochester, 3 and 1, in a semi-final match.

Mrs. Trainer was 3-up on the sixth and held that advantage until Mrs. Nevil birdied the ninth.

Mrs. Nevil won the 10th, drew even on the 12th, and won the 13th, 16th and 17th. She drove over a pond to within 15 feet of the pin on the 175-yard 17th and two-putted for a par 3. Mrs. Trainor's tee shot hit a trap to the left of the green.

Miss Rich, a recent graduate of Penn State, led at the turn, 4-up, after a pair of birdies on the front nine in her match with Mrs. Berger.

Paul Gardner to Pitch Against Beacon Nine

Paul Gardner is scheduled to get the mound call from Manager Dick Bartsch tonight as the Kingston Braves host Beacon in a New York-New Jersey Baseball League contest. Game time at Dietz Stadium is 8:15 p. m.

Gardner, who once hurled for Beacon, beat the Dutchess County team a couple of weeks ago. If he should run into some difficulty, Bartsch has Mike Spada ready for action.

Bartsch has made known the addition of three hurlers to the club. They are lefty Renni Giannuzzi, a former Kingston High hurler, and Craig Smith and Bob McNamara, a pair of righthanders.

The Braves have a 3-1 league record and must win tonight in order to tie Spring Valley for the top spot. The Bengals topped Poughkeepsie, 9-7, last night

Griffith Decisions Dupas in Title Bout

By BOB MYERS
Associated Press Sports Writer

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—It was up to boxer Emile Griffith to whip a man and a memory and he did it.

So today 23-year-old Emile was still the welterweight champion of the world.

The man he whipped was Ralph Dupas of New Orleans, the No. 1 contender. The decision Friday night was unanimous, but Dupas was a lot tougher and more aggressive than most people expected.

The memory, a sad one for Griffith, was his fatal fight last March 24 with Benny (Kid) Paret. The Cuban was battered into submission in 12 rounds and died 10 days later.

There was speculation that the sensitive, almost childlike Griffith, with this tragedy preying on his mind, might hold back his heavy punching or might even put on a dispirited fight.

One thing was sure. The 26-year-old Dupas, known for his hit-and-run tactics, switched form and kept Griffith fully occupied for the full 15 rounds.

Much Excitement

The crowd of 5,169 in the Las Vegas Convention Center was in an uproar of excitement for the full 45 munites of the action.

There was much clinching, and referee Frankie Van was a busy man. But Dupas with his surprising in and out punching, and the ever present threat of a knockout by Griffith, made it a good fight.

The fans really had to wait until the 15th round for the highlight. Griffith connected with a hard right to the jaw that hurt Ralph. He followed it up with lefts and rights as Dupas wobbled back, slipping eventually out of knockout range.

Emile was never able to land the finishing blow.

"I wasn't out but I knew I was hit," Dupas said later.

Dupas was very much in the fight and even close to the title until the last five rounds. He slugged toe-to-toe with Griffith but could never really hurt him. Then Emile came on strong in the closing rounds to wrap it up.

Dupas thought he won the fight, but there was ... complaint from his manager, Angelo Dundee. The latter was just pleased with Dupas' showing.

"I feel I boxed a very good fighter," Griffith said.

He related that recently a friend from New Orleans telephoned and warned that Dupas would try to win with a 10-second flurry of punching in each round.

"It came true just as he said," Griffith observed.

Dupas did seem to land his best shots right at the bell, notably in the fourth, sixth and eighth rounds.

Griffith spoke only briefly about the Paret matter, a subject he has studiously avoided during the past two weeks.

"Yes, I think about it. Even while training in the gym it comes to me, but ...."

He dropped the subject there.

Dupas noted that Griffith was the only one marked up in the fight. The champion had a slight cut at the right eye and in the middle of the forehead. Neither was serious, and the Griffith faction claimed both were inflicted by butts.

Griffith's managers, Gil Clancy and Howard Albert, said they have no immediate plans, and will fight anyone in the world if the money guarantee is right.

Schedule Is Listed For City League

Three games aret scheduled in City Baseball League this weekend. On Sunday, the 50 Club will meet S and E Inc. at 4 p. m. and Eagles will play Kingston Merchants at 7:30 p. m.

The 50 Club will swing back into action Monday night, meeting the American Legion at 8:15 p. m.

Woodstock Open Slated Monday

Several of the area's top professional and amateur stars will compete in the annual Woodstock Open Monday at the Woodstock Country Club links.

The rugged 27-hole test has always attracted some of the best divot diggers in the Northeastern and Metropolitan circuits and this promises to be no exception.

Though most of the highly touted amateurs are expected to compete, the pros are favored to capture this tournament, as they have done most of the other years.

Among the pros expected to compete are Charlie Shepard, Armand Farina, Alex Sinclair, Bob Lux, Walter Brown and a host of others.

Ray Billows, the seven-time State Amateur champion, is expected to lead the contingent of amateurs. Also expected to compete are Bill Van Aken, Bill Waterous, George Hughes and the outstanding amateurs in Ulster County.

Palmer Now Seeks PGA Title

By TOM REEDY

TROON, Scotland (AP) — Arnold Palmer packed his winter underwear away with his second British Open golf championship today, and trudged off in quest of the U.S. Professional Golfers Association title that would give him a "three-quarter slam."

There was little doubt around these hallowed golf grounds that the 33-year-old Latrobe, Pa., artist would add the PGA next week to the U.S. Masters crown he won in April and the British Open he took here by running away from the field.

Palmer was shooting for the grand slam this year, but he lost the U.S. Open to Jack Nicklaus in an 18-hole playoff. He got even at Troon with Nicklaus and Kel Nagle, the sturdy Australian who beat him for the British Open in 1960.

Palmer shot 67-69 Friday, the first round breaking the course record, for a total of 276—12 under par—and the greatest record-breaking performance in the 102-year-old history of the championship.

The total was two shots better than the previous record, and the 6-stroke margin by which he won over Nagle, second with 282, equalled the mark for the winning margin.

Phil Rodgers, La Jolla, Calif., and Brian Huggett of England were seven strokes farther back, at 289, for third. Strung behind were Sam Snead at 292, Nicklaus at 305—including a 10 on the treacherous 11th hole—and Don Essig of Indianapolis at 308.

"I've never played four rounds of golf like these in my whole life," Palmer said, just before he boarded a plane for home and the PGA Tourney at Newton Square, Pa., July 19-22.

Not since Walter Hagen whipped Johnny Farrell at Muirfield in Scotland in 1929 by six strokes had anyone dominated a British Open in such a manner.

Palmer's four rounds for the 7,045-yard, par 72 links were 71-69-67-69—276.

ON THE WAY TO A RECORD—Arnold Palmer watches his ball stop just short of the hole on third green during closing rounds of British Open Golf Championship at Troon, Scotland. He unleashed an unprecedented finish with closing rounds of 67 and 69 to win the title for the second straight time. His score was 276—the lowest ever in the 102-year-old tournament. Drysdale Wins 16th Game; Angels Defeat Yankees Again

Tops Mets, 5-4, As LA Increases Lead in NL Race

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

At 25, Don Drysdale is by far the youngest major leaguer involved in a race with time.

For Warren Spahn, Stan Musial and Early Wynn, all past the 40-year mark, the struggle with time is an old, old thing involving the question of how many seasons may be left in their aging frames.

But for the 6-foot-6 Los Angeles Dodger right-hander the question centers around days and weeks. Are there enough weeks left in the season to become the first 30-game winner since Dizzy Dean posted a 30-7 mark for St. Louis in 1934?

Maybe. Maybe not.

Drysdale, who has never won 20, has 16 victories after beating the New York Mets 5-4 Friday night, and is making a determined try at becoming only the second National Leaguer to win 30 since Grover Cleveland Alexander in 1917.

He has a good chance to make it. But it'll be close.

With 11 weeks remaining and the Dodgers 71 games from the end of the expanded NL schedule, big Don can expect about 20 more starts, at the maximum. To hit the magic mark, he must win 14. Figuring a couple of games in which he does not get the decision, and a loss or two, it'll be close.

The swift, strong hurler spread out seven hits and got the benefit of Ron Fairly's ninth inning, tie-breaking homer in beating the Mets, pushing his record to 16-4 with 13 complete games in 21 starts.

The victory enabled the Dodgers to expand their National League lead to 1½ games over second-place San Francisco, which lost to Philadelphia and Dennis Bennett 3-2.

Cal Koonce, 21-year-old Chicago right-hander, blanked Cincinnati 1-0 on a one-hitter, St. Louis beat Milwaukee and Spahn 6-0, and Pittsburgh defeated Houston 4-0.

Minnesota shut out Washington 4-0 on Camilo Pascual's 4-hitter, Chicago defeated Detroit 4-1 and Boston edged Kansas City 11-10 in 15 innings.

Bennett, a 22-year-old rookie left-hander, threw a 5-hitter as the Phillies knocked San Francisco 1½ games off the pace. He suffered his only damage on a homer to Chuck Hiller in the fifth and three ninth-inning singles.

Koonce (8-2) allowed only a clean single to Don Blasingame in the fourth in his one-hit masterpiece against Cincinnati. The young Cub righthander gave up only one walk and struck out four in beating Reds ace Bob Purkey (14-3), who lost on an unearned run in the sixth.

Pittsburgh turned in four doubleplays in support of Bob Friend (9-9), who gave up eight hits in his well-supported shutout of Houston. The Pirates got two runs, all they needed, on Bill Virdon's double, a single and stolen base by Dick Skinner and Roberto Clemente's single in the first.

St. Louis right-hander Bob Gibson, who had defeated Milwaukee only twice in 10 lifetime decisions, tossed a 3-hitter against the Braves in running his season record to 11-6. A 3-run triple by Charlie James and Gene Oliver's homer provided all the support he needed. Spahn (8-11) took the loss.

Yesterday's Stars

BATTING—Charley Lau, Orioles, Lu Clinton, Red Sox, Lau tied major league record by hitting four doubles in 10-3 triumph over Cleveland; Clinton became the first American Leaguer since 1960 to hit for the cycle—single, double, triple and homer—before singling home winning run in 11-10, 15-inning victory over Kansas City.

Hernandez, Lane To Fight Tonight

NEW YORK (AP)—When Carlos Hernandez knocked out Paolo Rosi last month he didn't even get his hair mussed. Rosi didn't last one round. Kenny Lane, a 30-year-old veteran of 84 pro fights, hopes to do better tonight when he fights the 22-year-old lightweight from Venezuela.

Lane fought a draw with Hernandez, Feb. 20, 1961 in Carlos' home town of Caracas. Despite this draw, Hernandez has been made a 3-1 favorite for the 10-round match at Madison Square Garden. There will be network (ABC) television coverage at 9 p.m. (EST). Two judges and a referee will score it by rounds, using a supplementary point system if the rounds are even.

Lane, a southpaw, has a 71-11-2 record, compared to Hernandez' 26-1-3.

Three Clubs Now Near First Place In Tight Chase

The American League spotlight focused today on three rings.

In the main arena were the top three pennant contenders—New York's world champion Yankees, Cleveland's runner-up Indians and Los Angeles' surprising Angels—separated by only .008 points.

Arrayed on either side were Charley Lau and Lu Clinton, two unlikely candidates who came up with outstanding individual performances Friday night while the men in the middle were battling for first place.

The third-place Angels knocked off the league-leading Yankees for the second night in a row, moving within .008 of first place with a 5-2 victory. The Indians, beaten by Baltimore and Lau 10-3, remained second, .003 behind.

Lau, the Orioles' reserve catcher, tied a major league record by slamming four doubles. Clinton, often a Boston benchwarmer, became the first American League batter since 1960 to hit for the cycle—single, double, triple and homer—before his second single knocked in the winning run in a 11-10, 15-inning marathon with Kansas City.

Standout pitching shows were put on at Minnesota, where the Twins' Camilo Pascual became the top winner in the league with 13 triumphs by blanking Washington 4-0 on four hits, and at Chicago, where White Sox hurler Ray Herbert stopped Detroit 4-1 with a 3-hitter.

Leon Wagner's 26th homer—tops in the majors—and Lee Thomas' 2-run single in the third inning that drove in the decisive runs were the key blows for the Angels against Ralph Terry (11-8) and the Yankees. Ken McBride (9-3) went the distance for the victory, scattering 12 hits and running his winning streak to eight since he last lost in April.

Lau doubled home the Orioles' first run in the second and started a 3-run rally in the fourth against the Indians. The homer hitters then took over, with John Powell hitting a 2-run homer in the seventh and Brooks Robinson tagging a 3-run shot in the eighth. The 13-hit attack gave Steve Barber (7-6) his first victory since being released from the army, although he needed relief help from Hal Brown over the final 2 1-3 innings. Jim Perry (7-7) lost it.

Clinton, hitting .556 with 30-for-54 in the last 13 games, won it for the Red Sox in the 15th with an infield single. Carl Yastrzemski, who had doubled, raced around to score with the clincher that gave the triumph to Dick Radatz (4-4) and tagged Ed Rakow (6-10) with the defeat. Norm Siebern and Ed Charles homered for the A's.

Pascual (13-5) struck out 10 while going the route for the 12th time and recording his fourth shutout. Tom Cheney (2-4) started for the Senators and was touched for a run in the first on Harmon Killebrew's sacrifice fly. Cheney allowed only two hits before Marty Kutyna took over in the eighth, served a 2-run homer to Harmon Killebrew.

Herbert (9-5) allowed only one hit for eight innings—a triple by Jake Wood in the fourth that resulted in the lone Tiger run when Billy Bruton hit a sacrifice fly. Jim Landis scored the first White Sox run after doubling and drove in the clincher in the second with a single off Paul Foytack (7-2). Luis Aparicio's homer accounted for the other runs.

Dancer reined the Adios - Lucine Hanover colt to an event and track record for his age and gait of 2:00.4. Lehigh downed a star-studded field that included the much heralded Adora's Dream and Coffee Break.

Lehigh has tremendous opening and closing power as evidenced by his amazing 58.3 half and 28.1 final quarter in the Orange County event. He won the second heat in 2:04.3.

Dancer and Lehigh Hanover will open from the five post between their top challengers, Buxton Hanover (No. 4) and Ranger Knight (No. 6). Buxton defeated Ranger Knight and a field of aged pacers last Saturday in a $5,000 Invitational. Al Thomas piloted the Tar Heel colt to a 2:01.4 win, winning by head over Irish Grattan. Billy Haughton will drive Buxton Saturday.

Ranger Knight, the season's fastest colt on a double oval with a 1:59.1 mark, was fourth to Buxton, but too, was clocked in 2:01.4. In fact, all five top finishers were caught in the same time.

Ranger Knight carved out his sub-two-minute mile at Saratoga. The time erased the old track standard by a tick. Buck Minniear will drive Ranger Knight.

The rest of the field will consist of Royal Domain, Play Bill, Meadow Newport, Leader Pick and Thor Hanover.

Qualifies With 72

Costello Is Medalist In Wiltwyck Tourney

William (Buzzy) Costello won medalist honors in the qualifying round of the fifth anual Wiltwyck Country Club tournament with a 72. He nipped Harvey Bostic by a stroke. Both represent the Wiltwyck Club.

First round action in the tournament started this morning. Paired in the upper bracket and their qualifying scores were Leon Randell, Wiltwyck, (76), and George Cosenza, Wiltwyck, (77); Andy Jasienowski, Rip Van Winkle, (75) and Bill Kaufman, Wiltwyck, (7); Harvey Bostic, Wiltwyck, (73) and Ernie Schirmer, Twaalfskill, (77); Bob Botsford, Dutchess, (77) and Ricky Bates, Stamford, (78).

In the lower bracket, pairings are William Costello, Wiltwyck, (72) and Joe Cattnzaro, Alexander Caven, (77); Bud Leninger, Wiltwyck, (76) and Dick Davenport, Wiltwyck, (77); Frank Bitzko, Alexander Caven, (75) and Brian Smith, Wiltwyck, (77; Ronnie Marks, Wiltwyck, (7) and John Adler, Southern Dutchess, (78).

Finals of the tournament are scheduled to begin at 1:30 p. m. tomorrow. Randall is the defending champion and has won the title twice. Bostic has also captured honors on the two different occasions.

Giants Capture Title In Esopus Legion Loop

Opening up with four runs in the first inning, the Giants scored almost at will and defeated the Indians, 17-5, to capture the Esopus Legion Little League title yesterday.

While Grant Dunham was holding the losers to three safeties, the Giants rapped out 10 hits with Dunham collecting a pair of doubles and second baseman Jeff Lisman hitting a triple and two singles. Orlando Landi of the Giants and Ray Davis of the Indians slapped doubles.

The line score:

				R	H
Giants	4	3	0	5	14—17	10
Indians	0	0	2	2	10— 5	3

Grant Dunham and Orlando Landi; Mike Mott, Kevin Murphy and Doug Freeman.

Toni-Lynn Tops Augustine, 23-1

Toni-Lynn Maternities scored 12 runs in the fourth frame on the way to a 23-1 American Little League victory over Augustine Insurance yesterday.

Bob Jones and Larry Crantz divided the pitching chores for the winners. Dwight Byrd had a double, triple and single while Jones and Steve Broskie each hit two doubles and John Cook doubled once. Bill Brady socked four safeties for the winners.

The line score:

Tigers, Giants Hurley Winners

The Tigers walloped the Red Sox, 11-3, and the Giants toppled the Yanks, 15-4, in recent Hurley Little League games.

Doug Craddock hurled for the Tigers, allowing only two hits. He walked five and fanned seven. Craddock aided his own cause with a triple and single. Ralph Bill Alexander tripled and doubled.

The Giants had only four safeties but they took advantage of some walks and errors to record their easy victory. An eight run surge in the fifth did the damage.

Fred Kachura was the winner over Mike Perry.

The line scores:

	R	H
Red Sox	021 000— 3	2
Tigers	000 56x—11	8

Charles Moore and Ralph Hoffman; Doug Craddock and Tom Wamsley.

Bobby Hazenbush, Jerry Corrado and Willis Locke, Russ Suppies; Gary Schatzel and Bobby Walker.

Apache Defeats Iroquois, 19-3

Apache scored almost at will in trampling the Iroquois, 19-3 in a Metropolitan Knothole League game yesterday.

Blaine Kilmer led the winners with a home run double. Dan Zoller rapped three safeties and Gary Bittner scored four runs. Bob Mitchell had a triple and Roger Thiel and Bittner doubles.

The line score:

	R	H
Apache	406 63—19	11
Iroquois	210 00— 3	3

Roger Thiel, Blaine Kilmer and Andy Magaldino; Gary Lucas, Dallas Pickett, Mike Mayone and Gene Wagner.

Mrs. Nevil Seeks 4th State Women's Championship

Her opponent in the 36 - hole final of the state tournament was upset-minded, 21-year - old Susan Rich of Skaneateles, who turned back ex-champion Cookie Swift Berger of Buffalo, 4 and 3, Friday in the semi-finals.

Generally fair weather was expected for the final on the rolling, 6,308-yard Cooperstown Country Club Course.

Mrs. Nevil who won her first state title five years ago, came from behind Friday to beat the veteran Mrs. George Trainor of Rochester, 3 and 1, in a semi-final match.

Mrs. Trainer was 3-up on the sixth and held that advantage until Mrs. Nevil birdied the ninth.

Mrs. Nevil won the 10th, drew even on the 12th, and won the 13th, 16th and 17th. She drove over a pond to within 15 feet of the pin on the 175-yard 17th and two-putted for a par 3. Mrs. Trainor's tee shot hit a trap to the left of the green.

Su Mac Lad Tops Four Rivals In Handicap Trot at Monticello

By ED PALLADINO
Freeman Sports Staff

The "king" returned to the harness racing wars last night at Monticello Raceway and it looked as if he'd never been away.

With a crowd of better than 7,000 in attendance, many no doubt attracted by the return of the great Su Mac Lad, the fabulous eight-year-old gelding trotted in a race for the first time since last September and easily outdistanced four other rivals in a special $5,000 Invitational Pace.

Stanley Dancer drove Su Mac Lad to a wire to wire victory over Meadow Farr. Third, another length and a half behind, was Senator Frost, an old sparring partner. Circo was fourth and Ava Song fifth in the field.

Though he was idled for ten months with a quarter-crack in his left front hoof, Su Mac Lad made it look easy. He did the mile in the blazing time of 2:02 4/5 seconds and his final margin of victory was two and a quarter lengths. The time is the third fastest at the Sullivan County track, with only Demon Damsel and Su Mac himself doing any better. Demon Damsel trotted a 2:02.1 last week and Su Mac went 2:01.4 last August, establishing the present track record.

The son of Potomac Lad picked up $2,500 for his night's work and it placed his bankroll at $457,999, just a shade under the $458,077 earned by Darn Safe, who is still campaigning in the Mid-West.

Heavy Favorite

Su Mac Lad went off the prohibitive 1-4 choice in the betting. Any questions which might have been asked regarding the condition of the gelding were quickly answered when Dancer moved him into the lead around the first turn and the horse just coasted to the finish line.

The triumph firmly established the horse, owned by I. W. Berkemeyer of New Milford, N. J., as a top choice to defend his $50,000 International Championship at Roosevelt Raceway on August 18.

Dancer, one of the greats in the harness business, guided Su Mac Lad along very slowly since his injury. He was timed in 2:06 at Saratoga last week but last night marked the first competition for the gelding since September.

Fractions for the race were 30.2, 1:03 and 133.1. Dancer really had the horse moving in the final quarter, and they came home in 29.3 seconds. The crowd, one of the best Friday turnouts at the Mighty M, gave the pair a rousing ovation as Dancer went into the winner's circle to accept a presentation. The 'king" is back and he's as good as ever.

A. C's Viking Wins, Sets Stake Record

MONTICELLO — A. C's Viking stamped himself as a major threat for the Hambletonian Stake by winning Friday's $13,542.50 Elbridge T. Gerry Trot in a new lifetime mark of 2:03 4/5 in the next-to-last night of Grand Circuit racing at Monticello Racing.

The son of Hoot-Volo A. C. finished strongly, negotiating the last quarter in 30 seconds for driver Sanders Russell and owner Mr. and Mrs. Andrew C. Petersen, West Hartford, Conn. He won by one and one quarter lengths.

Lehigh Hanover Favored to Win Monticello Race

MONTICELLO, N. Y. — The $15,692 George M. Levy Pace will close out Grand Circuit week racing tonight at Monticello Raceway with some of the country's best three-year-olds pacing talent in action.

Stanley Dancer's Great Adios-Lucine Hanover colt, Lehigh Hanover, has been named the 3-1 morning line favorite for the feature which will be contested in the Seventh Race. With a 2:00.4 win at Goshen to his credit, Lehigh comes into the race in the best shape of his career.

Lehigh scored the smashing win in the Orange County Cup, setting a new stake mark a track mark for colts and the second fastest time of all time on Goshen's ancient historic track strip.

Dancer's Prize Ambler has finished in the money in all 13 starts this season, winning five times and placing five showing three times. He's won $72,982. He'll open from post position five.

Buxton Hanover and Ranger Knight loom as the chief opposition to the favorite and are both pegged at 4-1. Buxton pounded out a 2:01.4 win at the Mighty M last Saturday, downing a field of aged horses and Ranger Knight.

Billy Haughton will drive Buxton from No. 4 for Farmstead Acres, of Brokville. A tar heel colt, Buxton has a 2:01.1 mark and boasts five wins in 11 starts.

Ranger Knight, holder of the Saratoga track record of 1:59.1 and the fastest three-year-old of the season, will start from No. 6 with Buck Minniear driving. Minniear co-owns the Ranger Hanover start with Dr. V. T. Scroggin.

Finding Space In Your Home

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Too many people furnish a house without a plan, and go on year after year adding furniture and accessories until finally there is just no room for the growing family.

We must learn to discard extraneous objects and to make the most of every inch of floor and air space to achieve comfort and coziness without clutter.

Many large hallways serve no useful purpose other than being an entranceway. These can be made more practical by building a closet on either or both sides of the front door, if space permits. This will not only break up the monotony of the hall but will permit a closed-in section at the entrance where unexpected callers and canvassers may be greeted without being brought into the main area of the house. A corner cupboard in a hall can serve to house china and linens, and perhaps even conceal protuberances such as pipes.

Living rooms seem to shrink as the years go on but often a room is dwarfed by the furniture that is added from time to time. A soft table can be a great clutter, but the homemaker is reluctant to part with it because "we've always had it." A desk can take up a great deal of space, offering nothing more than a writing surface. A delicate piece of furniture that is pretty, but useless, such as an in-need-of re-upholstery Victorian sofa, is kept as a decoration. Large coffee tables and occasional tables may offer little more than support for ash trays and lamps.

If the home decor is contemporary, more room may be corralled by utilizing "air space," using room dividers and cabinets and lamps on pole suspension. These space savers are shown in stores.

The dining room has returned to modern living, but it need not be as large as a ballroom to serve its purpose. A dining room may give up some of its excess space to the living room, kitchen or perhaps to a small sewing room, linen room or work room. In one home the dining room was divided in half with louvered doors hitched to the ceiling, and the extra space used for shelf storage of linens, glasses, china and silver.

Children's rooms may be made more utilitarian so that they and their toys will not spread over the house. A properly planned cabinet and bookcase arrangement built on one wall, to the ceiling, will take care of small fry through their teen years. Two girls might be accommodated by utilizing space under a sloping ceiling so that there is a closet on each side and desk in between. A vanity table and mirror may replace the desk in later years.

Wall Insulation Stops Drafts

When insulation is lacking or insufficient, walls are cold to the touch. Heated air is cooled by contact with these walls and drops quickly to the floor, scudding across it in a chill draft that can be dangerous to health as well as uncomfortable.

Mineral wool, installed to form a complete blanket around the living area of a house, blocks the escape of heat and helps keep walls and floors warm. Since proper insulation is necessary in an electrically heated home, its occupants can be sure of draft-free winter comfort.

To meet the Quality Home Requirements of the National Mineral Wool Insulation Association, batts or blankets of mineral wool labeled R-19 are installed in ceilings, R-11 in walls, and R-13 in floors of electrically heated houses.

The "R" number designates the amount of resistance to escape of heat the mineral wool is designed to provide when installed.

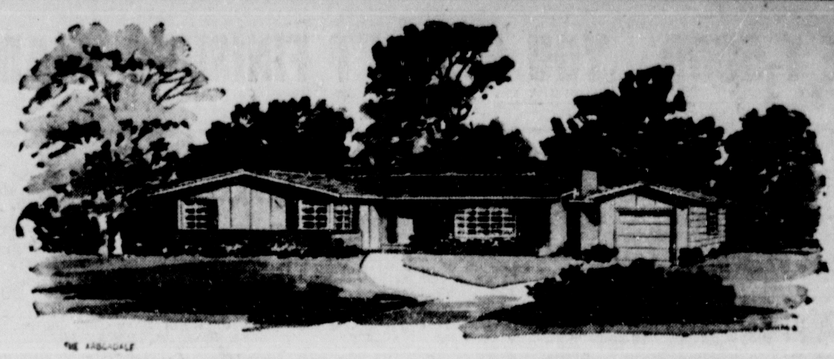
Long-Stemmed Glads

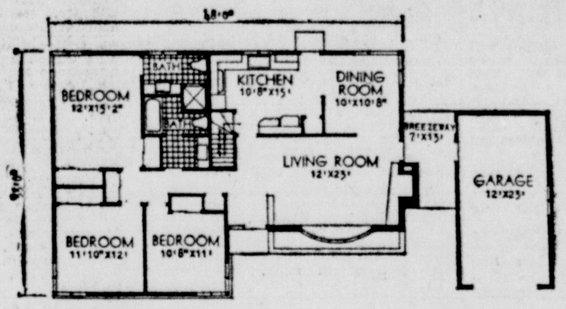
Some of the long-stemmed varieties of gladiolus should be tied to stakes as they develop. Stems may seem strong enough to stand straight without staking, but sometimes the root systems are not extensive enough to anchor the heavy stems against strong winds.

Largest Hackberry

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — Ever wonder where the biggest hackberry tree in the country is?

The American Forestry Association has confirmed that the largest found so far is in the town of Albion near here. It stands 83 feet, measures 16 feet 9½ inches in diameter and has a crown spread of 70 feet.





Living Room Is Designed To Provide Family Needs

By JACK McELENEY

Does your living room provide the space and facilities for your family and entertainment needs?

Associated Architects placed particular emphasis on the living room of a suburban ranch home design called "The Arbordale." In dimension it is a spacious 23 by 12 feet; in location it occupies a choice front of the house site, and in appointments it has a delightful bow window that compliments an end-wall hearth and fireplace.

While the room is immediate to the front entrance, abrupt projection into the room is avoided by the inclusion of a decor unit on the right side of the doorway.

This also serves as a traffic guide, with a straight-ahead route to the kitchen or a left turn to the excellent three-bedroom, two-bath sleeping area.

Movement is also good in other areas. There is a side entrance from the breezeway and garage that opens beyond the fireplace and a rear door that gives immediate access to the kitchen. The opening between the living room and dining room is wide but extension of the rear living room wall still maintains a distinct separation.

"The Arbordale" presents an appealing picture with its smart low roof with a three-foot overhang all around. Awning type windows are set against a background of brick veneer and "Cemesto" board for the front and cedar shingles for the sides and back.

"The Arbordale" contains 1,368 square feet of living space, plus 312 square feet for the garage. The cubage is 28,654 cubic feet. Plans contain details for building with or without a basement.

HomeDecorations Can Have Charm

KAY SHERWOOD
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Furnishing a home, be it a one-room apartment or a tiny house, on the tightest possible budget takes a degree of cleverness, effort and luck. But it can be done and the results needn't look as stark as a cell, as many young couples are finding out.

Families who have been and may continue footing the college tuition bill may be excused from outfitting a new home. Their investment is most appreciated in major items such as second-hand refrigerators or stoves.

As a pinch-penny shopper of long standing, I strongly advise the young homemaker to cull the town for reliable sources for low-cost merchandise. Serviceable second-hand equipment is tracked down through want ads, warehouse or storage company sales, reconditioning departments of large stores.

In college towns, student furniture exchanges may yield usable chairs, tables, chests. Besides seasonal sales, some larger department stores have clearance areas for remnants and rugs.

A willingness to paint old furniture, to sew curtains if necessary (sometimes ready-mades are less expensive) even to nail together a shelf or bench, are assets no matter what the degree of skill.

Homes that are not expensively done can have a special charm of their own which comes from exercising imagination. Whenever I see such efforts I pass them along to you, perhaps to spark an idea. The more-charm-than-money home is the one-room city apartment of decorator John Peter Hayden. Starting with such unlikely materials as an exposed brick wall, poorly sized and placed windows and very limited floor space he has produced a pleasant and livable place.

Framed family photographs, prints and a clock are hung on the brick wall. The dining area is marked off by a weathered porch post, picked up at a country sale and placed about five feet from the picture gallery. Dining table is an old oak table which had belonged to his grandmother. Small bench-tables double as dining seats and coffee tables.

The interesting window treatment points up the importance of curtains at the window to banish the stark look. In this case floor to ceiling drapes, in a floral print of three shades of brown, serve to hide the poorly plastered wall.

The window shade, too, is hung from the ceiling and is ornamented with floral cutouts from the drape fabric. Not shown is the sofa-bed which is covered in a brown and white stripe, to match the drapery colors.

Picture Window

Palladino Picks Seven Winners At Monticello

Ed Palladino, the Freeman's Monticello Raceway handicapper, selected the winner of the first seven races on last night's card, including the daily double.

Palladino picked Alex Hanover ($4.00) in the first race and Warren's Special ($5.70) in the second. The double paid $12.10.

He also hit on Cavalier Pick ($5.90) in the third race; Senator Con ($3.50) in the fourth; Su Mac Lad ($2.70) in the fifth; Great Duke (best bet—($3.40) in the sixth and A. C's Viking ($3.40) in the seventh.

Tarquinia, his selection to win the eighth race, broke after leading at the half and Miss Mary Hal, the choice to win the ninth race, finished second, getting nipped at the wire.

Tonight's selections:

1. Little Katie, King Yankee, Sam Boom.
2. Miss Del, Cosmo Topper, Star of Gold.
3. Foxy Vernon, Navy Chief, Aunt Bess.
4. NEVELE SLOPOKE, Star Guinea, Miss Myrtle's First.
5. Scotch Abbe, Alfred Hanover, Pacific Pioneer.
6. Porter Hanover, Winbee, Pansy Brewer.
7. Ranger Knight, Buxton Hanover, Lehigh Hanover.
8. Jule Abby, Yankee Mick, Artie Hanover.

BEST BET—Nevele Slopoke in 4th race.

UPSET CHANCE — Navy Chief in 3rd race.

Su Mac Lad Tops Four Rivals In Handicap Trot at Monticello

By ED PALLADINO
Freeman Sports Staff

The "king" returned to the harness racing wars last night at Monticello Raceway and it looked as if he'd never been away.

With a crowd of better than 7,000 in attendance, many no doubt attracted by the return of the great Su Mac Lad, the fabulous eight-year-old gelding trotted in a race for the first time since last September and easily outdistanced four other rivals in a special $5,000 Invitational Pace.

Stanley Dancer drove Su Mac Lad to a wire to wire victory over Meadow Farr. Third, another length and a half behind, was Senator Frost, an old sparring partner. Circo was fourth and Ava Song fifth in the field.

Though he was idled for ten months with a quarter-crack in his left front hoof, Su Mac Lad made it look easy. He did the mile in the blazing time of 2:02 4/5 seconds and his final margin of victory was two and a quarter lengths. The time is the third fastest at the Sullivan County track, with only Demon Damsel and Su Mac himself doing any better. Demon Damsel trotted a 2:02.1 last week and Su Mac went 2:01.4 last August, establishing the present track record.

The son of Potomac Lad picked up $2,500 for his night's work and it placed his bankroll at $457,999, just a shade under the $458,077 earned by Darn Safe, who is still campaigning in the Mid-West.

Heavy Favorite

Su Mac Lad went off the prohibitive 1-4 choice in the betting. Any questions which might have been asked regarding the condition of the gelding were quickly answered when Dancer moved him into the lead around the first turn and the horse just coasted to the finish line.

The triumph firmly established the horse, owned by I. W. Berkemeyer of New Milford, N. J., as a top choice to defend his $50,000 International Championship at Roosevelt Raceway on August 18.

Dancer, one of the greats in the harness business, guided Su Mac Lad along very slowly since his injury. He was timed in 2:06 at Saratoga last week but last night marked the first competition for the gelding since September.

Fractions for the race were 30.2, 1:03 and 133.1. Dancer really had the horse moving in the final quarter, and they came home in 29.3 seconds. The crowd, one of the best Friday turnouts at the Mighty M, gave the pair a rousing ovation as Dancer went into the winner's circle to accept a presentation. The 'king" is back and he's as good as ever.

A. C's Viking Wins, Sets Stake Record

MONTICELLO — A. C's Viking stamped himself as a major threat for the Hambletonian Stake by winning Friday's $13,542.50 Elbridge T. Gerry Trot in a new lifetime mark of 2:03 4/5 in the next-to-last night of Grand Circuit racing at Monticello Racing.

The son of Hoot-Volo A. C. finished strongly, negotiating the last quarter in 30 seconds for driver Sanders Russell and owner Mr. and Mrs. Andrew C. Petersen, West Hartford, Conn. He won by one and one quarter lengths.

Lehigh Hanover Favored to Win Monticello Race

MONTICELLO, N. Y. — The $15,692 George M. Levy Pace will close out Grand Circuit week racing tonight at Monticello Raceway with some of the country's best three-year-olds pacing talent in action.

Stanley Dancer's Great Adios-Lucine Hanover colt, Lehigh Hanover, has been named the 3-1 morning line favorite for the feature which will be contested in the Seventh Race. With a 2:00.4 win at Goshen to his credit, Lehigh comes into the race in the best shape of his career.

Lehigh scored the smashing win in the Orange County Cup, setting a new stake mark a track mark for colts and the second fastest time of all time on Goshen's ancient historic track strip.

Dancer's Prize Ambler has finished in the money in all 13 starts this season, winning five times and placing five showing three times. He's won $72,982. He'll open from post position five.

Buxton Hanover and Ranger Knight loom as the chief opposition to the favorite and are both pegged at 4-1. Buxton pounded out a 2:01.4 win at the Mighty M last Saturday, downing a field of aged horses and Ranger Knight.

Billy Haughton will drive Buxton from No. 4 for Farmstead Acres, of Brokville. A tar heel colt, Buxton has a 2:01.1 mark and boasts five wins in 11 starts.

Ranger Knight, holder of the Saratoga track record of 1:59.1 and the fastest three-year-old of the season, will start from No. 6 with Buck Minniear driving. Minniear co-owns the Ranger Hanover start with Dr. V. T. Scroggin.

Old Locks or Latches

Any mortise type lock or latch can be converted into a modern cylindrical lock with keyhole in the doorknob by a new locking doorknob that takes the place of a present knob. It is installed with nothing more tthan a screwdriver. The outer knob spins freely when locked and offers no means for tampering. The entire lock is attached on the indoor side. No cutting, drilling or chiseling is needed.

Finding Space In Your Home

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Few houses ever seem large enough, especially in winter when everyone is underfoot. The hue and cry is "we need more space."

Too many people furnish a house without a plan, and go on year after year adding furniture and accessories until finally there is just no room for the growing family.

We must learn to discard extraneous objects and to make the most of every inch of floor and air space to achieve comfort and coziness without clutter.

Many large hallways serve no useful purpose other than being an entranceway. These can be made more practical by building a closet on either or both sides of the front door, if space permits. This will not only break up the monotony of the hall but will permit a closed-in section at the entrance where unexpected callers and canvassers may be greeted without being brought into the main area of the house. A corner cupboard in a hall can serve to house china and linens, and perhaps even conceal protuberances such as pipes.

Living rooms seem to shrink as the years go on but often a room is dwarfed by the furniture that is added from time to time. A soft table can be a great clutter, but the homemaker is reluctant to part with it because "we've always had it." A desk can take up a great deal of space, offering nothing more than a writing surface. A delicate piece of furniture that is pretty, but useless, such as an in-need-of re-upholstery Victorian sofa, is kept as a decoration. Large coffee tables and occasional tables may offer little more than support for ash trays and lamps.

If the home decor is contemporary, more room may be corralled by utilizing "air space," using room dividers and cabinets and lamps on pole suspension. These space savers are shown in stores.

The dining room has returned to modern living, but it need not be as large as a ballroom to serve its purpose. A dining room may give up some of its excess space to the living room, kitchen or perhaps to a small sewing room, linen room or work room. In one home the dining room was divided in half with louvered doors hitched to the ceiling, and the extra space used for shelf storage of linens, glasses, china and silver.

Children's rooms may be made more utilitarian so that they and their toys will not spread over the house. A properly planned cabinet and bookcase arrangement built on one wall, to the ceiling, will take care of small fry through their teen years. Two girls might be accommodated by utilizing space under a sloping ceiling so that there is a closet on each side and desk in between. A vanity table and mirror may replace the desk in later years.

Wall Insulation Stops Drafts

Downright discomfort and winter-long sniffles caused by chilly drafts and cold floors are never a problem in a house that's heated electrically and thoroughly insulated with mineral wool.

When insulation is lacking or insufficient, walls are cold to the touch. Heated air is cooled by contact with these walls and drops quickly to the floor, scudding across it in a chill draft that can be dangerous to health as well as uncomfortable.

Mineral wool, installed to form a complete blanket around the living area of a house, blocks the escape of heat and helps keep walls and floors warm. Since proper insulation is necessary in an electrically heated home, its occupants can be sure of draft-free winter comfort.

To meet the Quality Home Requirements of the National Mineral Wool Insulation Association, batts or blankets of mineral wool labeled R-19 are installed in ceilings, R-11 in walls, and R-13 in floors of electrically heated houses.

The "R" number designates the amount of resistance to escape of heat the mineral wool is designed to provide when installed.

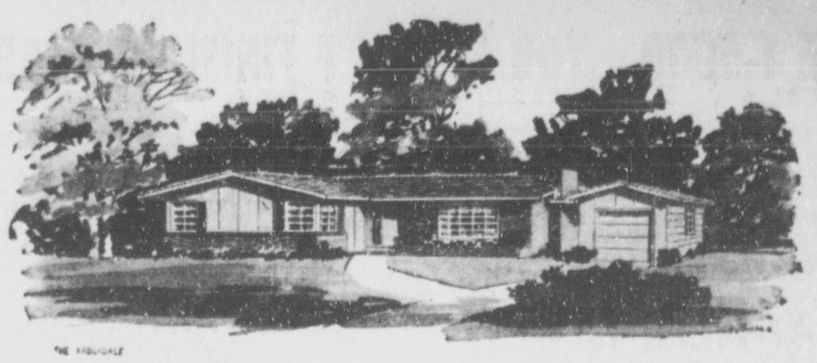
Long-Stemmed Glads

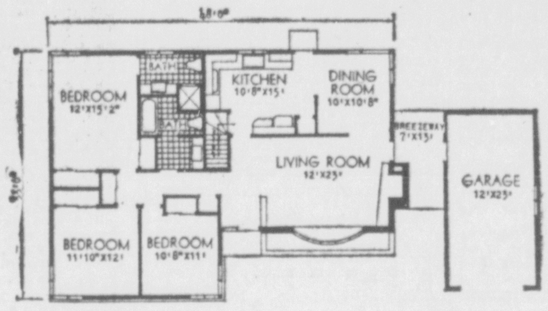
Some of the long-stemmed varieties of gladiolus should be tied to stakes as they develop. Stems may seem strong enough to stand straight without staking, but sometimes the root systems are not extensive enough to anchor the heavy stems against strong winds.

Largest Hackberry

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — Ever wonder where the biggest hackberry tree in the country is?

The American Forestry Association has confirmed that the largest found so far is in the town of Albion near here. It stands 83 feet, measures 16 feet 9½ inches in diameter and has a crown spread of 70 feet.





Living Room Is Designed To Provide Family Needs

By JACK McELENEY

Does your living room provide the space and facilities for your family and entertainment needs?

Associated Architects placed particular emphasis on the living room of a suburban ranch home design called "The Arbordale." In dimension it is a spacious 23 by 12 feet; in location it occupies a choice front of the house site, and in appointments it has a delightful bow window that compliments an end-wall hearth and fireplace.

While the room is immediate to the front entrance, abrupt projection into the room is avoided by the inclusion of a decor unit on the right side of the doorway.

This also serves as a traffic guide, with a straight-ahead route to the kitchen or a left turn to the excellent three-bedroom, two-bath sleeping area.

Movement is also good in other areas. There is a side entrance from the breezeway and garage that opens beyond the fireplace and a rear door that gives immediate access to the kitchen. The opening between the living room and dining room is wide but extension of the rear living room wall still maintains a distinct separation.

"The Arbordale" presents an appealing picture with its smart low roof with a three-foot overhang all around. Awning type windows are set against a background of brick veneer and "Cemesto" board for the front and cedar shingles for the sides and back.

"The Arbordale" contains 1,368 square feet of living space, plus 312 square feet for the garage. The cubage is 28,654 cubic feet. Plans contain details for building with or without a basement.

In college towns, student furniture exchanges may yield usable chairs, tables, chests. Besides seasonal sales, some larger department stores have clearance areas for remnants and rugs.

A willingness to paint old furniture, to sew curtains if necessary (sometimes ready-mades are less expensive) even to nail together a shelf or bench, are assets no matter what the degree of skill.

Homes that are not expensively done can have a special charm of their own which comes from exercising imagination. Whenever I see such efforts I pass them along to you, perhaps to spark an idea. The more-charm-than-money home is the one-room city apartment of decorator John Peter Hayden. Starting with such unlikely materials as an exposed brick wall, poorly sized and placed windows and very limited floor space he has produced a pleasant and livable place.

Framed family photographs, prints and a clock are hung on the brick wall. The dining area is marked off by a weathered porch post, picked up at a country sale and placed about five feet from the picture gallery. Dining table is an old oak table which had belonged to his grandmother. Small bench-tables double as dining seats and coffee tables.

The interesting window treatment points up the importance of curtains at the window to banish the stark look. In this case floor to ceiling drapes, in a floral print of three shades of brown, serve to hide the poorly plastered wall.

The window shade, too, is hung from the ceiling and is ornamented with floral cutouts from the drape fabric. Not shown is the sofa-bed which is covered in a brown and white stripe, to match the drapery colors.

Picture Window

Don't place tall lamps, vases or statuary in front of a picture window. Anything standing in front of the window reduces the amount of light coming in and defeats the purpose of the window as an open connection between indoors and outdoors.

EMPLOYMENT

NOTICE TO JOB APPLICANTS
The Kingston Daily Freeman does not knowingly accept help wanted advertisements from employers covered by the Federal Wage-Hour Law if they offer less than legal minimum wages. Beginning September 3, 1961, employees engaged in interstate or foreign commerce or in the production of goods for such commerce must be paid not less than $1.15 an hour and at least time and one-half for hours worked after 40 in a workweek, unless specifically exempt. Employees of certain large retail, service, construction, and other enterprises must be paid not less than $1.00 an hour after September 3, 1961, but no overtime for such employment is required until September 3, 1963. If you are offered less by covered employers, or if you have questions concerning this law or other activities of the U. S. Department of Labor, call or write the Department's local office at Bronx: Abraham Klainard, Investigation Supr., 881 Gerard Ave., Bronx, N. Y. WYandotte 2-1235.

EMPLOYMENT
NOTICE TO JOB APPLICANTS
The Kingston Daily Freeman does not knowingly accept help wanted advertisements from employers covered by the Federal Wage-Hour Law if they offer less than legal minimum wages. Beginning September 3, 1961, employees engaged in interstate or foreign commerce or in the production of goods for such commerce must be paid not less than $1.15 an hour and at least time and one-half for hours worked after 40 in a workweek, unless specifically exempt. Employees of certain large retail, service, construction, and other enterprises must be paid not less than $1.00 an hour after September 3, 1961, but no overtime for such employment is required until September 3, 1963. If you are offered less by covered employers, or if you have questions concerning this law or other activities of the U. S. Department of Labor, call or write the Department's local office at Bronx: Abraham Klainbard, Investigation Supr., 881 Gerard Ave., Bronx, N. Y. WYandotte 2-1235.

School Vandalism

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — Five girls accused of causing $25,000 damage to a new $1.5 - million school said they "did it for a little fun."

The girls, from a middle-income neighborhood and ranging in age from 8 to 15, were referred Friday to Children's Court.

Police said the girls entered the building to escape a thundershower, jammed a door lock by stuffing paper in it, then returned later in the day. They flooded classrooms, ripped books, and wrote obscenities on walls at the McKinley - Brighton Elementary School on the city's south side, police said.

About 75 persons in the neighborhood helped clean the building.

Monoply Charged To MCA, Biggest Talent Agency

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The federal government, to the surprise of few, has filed an antitrust suit against MCA, Inc., the nation's largest talent agency and filmed television show producer.

The complaint accuses the firm of tieing in its two businesses, forcing producers to buy items they didn't want in order to obtain actors and programs that were in demand.

The 18-page complaint, submitted to U.S. District Court here seeks to strip MCA of its talent agency branch, MCA Artists, Ltd. The company announced earlier this week that it would give up the agency, which handles top entertainment stars including Gregory Peck, Ingrid Bergman and Jack Benny.

The government charged that MCA's acquisition last June 18 of Decca Records Inc. and its subsidiary, Universal Pictures Inc., violated the Celler-Kefauver Anti-merger Act. It asked the court to divest MCA of those firms.

The civil suit was announced in Washington, D.C., by Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy. He signed the complaint, along with Lee Loevinger, assistant attorney general in charge of the antitrust division, and U.S. Atty. Frances C. Whelan of Los Angeles.

Russian Blunder Scraps Cylinder

By FRED S. HOFFMAN

WASHINGTON (AP)—Top U.S. officials are chortling over a king-sized Soviet goof which saw Russian workers spend a year painstakingly making an expensive machine part—which other workers then cut into scrap.

The blunder, by the Russians' own admission, wasted thousands of rubles.

The report, which slipped into the carefully controlled Russian press, first went unnoticed in the West. But then it was spotted by American experts who sift all available material for between-the-lines hints of conditions inside the Soviet Union.

As one source put it, the report published in Komsomolskaya Pravda shows "they also have their troubles"—although the Russians usually try to tell the world that things are going just great for them.

The next step was to ship the vital part back to a heavy press plant, presumably for assembly into what was believed to be a 30,000-ton forging press.

Here occurred the blunder.

Business Week in Review

By DARDEN CHAMBLISS
AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The business community has taken heart at three successive Washington developments, seeing in them the kind of psychological boosts they feel the economy needs.

The first was a reduction in margin requirements from 70 to 50 per cent on the amount that must be paid down in cash on stock purchases.

All Effect Market

Then came action by the Senate Finance Committee on one hand killing the plan to withhold taxes on interest and dividends and on the other hand approving a 7 per cent investment credit for tax purposes. The withholding plan was strongly opposed by investor groups. The investment credit would free more money from gross profits for plant improvements.

The third was the announcement of new tax depreciation schedules, saving an estimated $1.5 billion in taxes this year by letting companies deduct more from their taxes for equipment depreciation.

An immediate effect of each of these actions was a jump in stock market prices, giving that fluctuating business barometer its strongest appearance since the the big break of late May.

Such rises reflected more the hope of things to come than the specific effects of the Washington steps, though some of the margin-cut rally was brought by the flow of money created by easier credit.

Further Study Due

Stock sales for the week amounted to 23,073,400 shares compared with 13,820,190 for the holiday-shortened previous week and 14,844,700 for the comparable 1961 week. Bond sales totaled $36,423,000, compared with $24,794,000 the previous week and $31,712,000 for the comparable week last year.

The new schedule of tax depreciation allowances will have to be studied carefully by the individual companies before they decide what it will mean to their profits and how they will change future machinery purchase plans.

The Senate committee's action on investment credit, to encourage plant modernization by hiking tax credits, will have to be passed into final law before it can have direct effects. The action killing the withholding provision removed what many considered to be a damper on investor enthusiasm.

In all, the actions engendered comments that maybe the anti-business feeling many felt reigned in Washington was not so strong after all.

Before this series of actions emanated from Washington, a Ford Motor Co. executive had told a group in Dearborn, Mich., that all the economy needs is a good dose of "confidence restorer."

Calls Economy Sound

Lee A. Iacocca, general manager of the company's Ford division, said the national economy is sound and should remain so unless it is damaged by "some who see major economic troubles in every wiggle of every line on the chart."

His company, meanwhile, produced its millionth car for the year in keeping with a bustling auto business that in the first six months of the year sold the second-highest total — 3,446,563 — on record.

The construction industry is doing even better. The Commerce Department estimated that it will set a record of $60.1 billion in outlays this year, six per cent higher than last year.

These two industries have been the brightest stars in a national economy spotted by more than a few clouds.

One of these, steel, showed signs of recovering from the depressing effects of the inventories built up earlier against the steel strike that never happened.

Another troubled industry, copper, announced production cutbacks to pare supply to demand. Major labor settlements reduced the possibility of strike disruptions.

Economy Failure In Algiers Looms

By MICHAEL GOLDSMITH

ALGIERS (AP) — Moslem and French officials and businessmen say the economy of the 10-day-old Algerian nation is nearly on the rocks and no one has any concrete plan for keeping it afloat.

"Confidence is gone," said one European banker. "Business activity is down to about one third and it is still declining."

He added:

"The events of the past few days, the disputes between the leaders, the lawlessness and the administrative chaos—all this has made people lose heart. Many who left temporarily have decided not to come back and others who were determined to stay are now packing their bags."

All along the fashionable Rue Michelet and other streets of Algiers' European Quarter, three out of every four stores are closed. Faded notices on the iron shutters of most say "closed for paid vacation."

The Moslem leaders know they cannot run the nation at present without the Europeans, who have a near-monopoly of technical skills and economic power.

Some of the Europeans are moving away in a spirit of resentment, as if they really wanted to sabotage a state which they fought to the last.

Plumley Thinks JFK Trying to Improve Ties

WASHINGTON (AP) — A top spokesman for the business community says he wonders if the Kennedy administration really understands what makes American business tick.

But the spokesman, President H. Ladd Plumley of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce, also told newsmen that President Kennedy appears to be trying to improve relations between the White House and the businessman.

Plumley conferred with the President Friday then had luncheon with newsmen. He told them:

Uncertainty Main Concern

"I am not sure that the administration fully recognizes that this free enterprise system operates...on the decisions which are being made daily by thousands of individuals," rather than by government steering.

What bothers businessmen, Plumley said, is uncertainty. They want conditions "predictable and plottable so that they can plan their own moves."

He said businessmen are asking: If the economy is being steered by the government today, in what direction will it be guided tomorrow?

As an example, he cited Kennedy's commencement address at Yale University last month in which the President appeared to be seeking a truce with the business community after the uproar that followed his strong opposition to a steel price increase.

Plumley said the President remarked that deficit financing by the government could not be tolerated indefinitely, but also said that deficits could serve as an economic stimulant.

"It was left to the reader to decide what the position of the President was under circumstances of the present," Plumley commented.

Were at Low Ebb

However, Plumley also said that Kennedy "seems to be taking repeated steps to encourage a dialogue and understanding between business and the President."

He said relations are improving after reaching "a pretty low ebb" during the steel price increase crisis of last April.

He cited as an example the new depreciation guidelines announced by the Treasury this week,a move expected to save business and industry $1.5 billion in taxes next year.

Plumley said at the luncheon that he feels part of the misunderstanding between Kennedy and business stemmed from a mutual breakdown in communications between them.

The Chamber president said the purpose of his meeting was to make a progress report on the Chamber's study of ways to cut the U. S. deficit in international payments. He wouldn't disclose what he reported.

Drought Relief Action Is Taken To Aid Farmers

NEW YORK (AP)—The federal government has moved to aid Pennsylvania farmers caught in the grips of a prolonged drought that has New York State also appealing for federal aid.

The drought has killed off many crops throughout the northeastern part of the nation and farmers say that rainfall now, even by the bucketsfull, would not help salvage crops already damaged.

The federal government Friday granted federal drought-program benefits to farmers in 22 counties of Pennsylvania.

Gov. Rockefeller has asked for federal aid for 10 drought-plagued counties in Upstate New York. At least eight other New York counties are expected to appeal for disaster area status.

In New Jersey, Gov. Richard J. Hughes withheld a disaster area proclamation, saying drought conditions there had not yet reached emergency proportions.

Farmers approved for federal aid under the drought-disaster program are permitted to graze livestock and cut hay on cropland set aside for the soil bank. This is land that has been taken out of use to keep down over-all farm production.

Such privileges will be granted to Pennsylvania farmers through Aug. 31.

Five Are Inducted By Local Draft Board

William N. Jones, 155 Murray Street; Donald G. Robinson, 457 Washington Avenue; Dirk R. DeWitt, New Paltz; Richard J. Markonic, Marlboro; Frank J. Kelsch, Box 406 and Fred E. Wustrau, Accord.

Conn. Parley Off To Rowdy Start

The question was not whether Abraham Ribicoff would win the nomination over Rep. Frank Kowalski, but whether Kowalski could get 20 per cent of the delegate vote and thus force a primary.

Bailey Is Booed

It was the Senate race between Ribicoff, the former welfare secretary who resigned Thursday, and the congressman-at-large that caused the outbreak at the opening session Friday night.

Supporters of Kowalski, demonstrating against seating arrangements, gathered in delegates' seats down front before the convention and delayed the start of proceedings.

They booed John Bailey, the state and national party chairman, time and again as he tried to quiet them. Eventually he threatened to call police.

A Kowalski leader, Al Gentile, interceded and spoke to the group as the demonstration continued. Eventually, the demonstrators moved to the galleries and the convention moved along, 40 minutes behind schedule.

Some catcalls and hoots still came from the galleries and the floor as Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana started the keynote address.

When the demonstrators began to call for Kowalski, the congressman appeared on the platform, waved and said a few words. Apparently he left before Bailey's rebuff began in earnest.

Denounces Technique

Bailey is a firm supporter of Ribicoff, 52-year-old former governor who quit President Kennedy's cabinet to seek the Senate nomination. Rep. Horace Seely-Brown Jr. is the GOP nominee for the seat of retiring Sen. Prescott Bush, a Republican.

Kowalski, 54, a retired Army officer, has angrily denounced the political technique of both Bailey and Ribicoff in what has been the hottest party row among Connecticut Democrats since Bailey became state chairman 16 years ago.

The convention first had to endorse Gov. John N. Dempsey for election—to oppose Republican John Alsop—and pick a state ticket. Dempsey, who had no opposition, stepped up from lieutenant governor when Ribicoff resigned to become the first member of the Kennedy cabinet.

Closed Session

KINZUA, Pa. (AP)—Representatives of federal and state agencies met at the site of the Allegheny River reservoir and dam Friday in what they termed an orientation session.

Observers, however, reported the meeting was called to help decide which agency would be charged with the development and administration of the dam's recreational area—the U.S. Forest Service or the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers.

The meeting was closed to newsmen.

Represented were the Bureau of Outdoor Recreation, National Park Service, Bureau of Indian Affairs, U.S. Forest Service and the Corps of Engineers, all federal groups, and the State Forests and Waters Department and the State Planning Commission.

Hotel Manager Is Promotion Leader For Chest Campai

RONALD G. DROWNS

The appointment of Ronald G. Drowns as promotion chairman for the 1963 Ulster County Community Chest Campaign was announced today by W. Henry Haltermann, campaign chairman.

Drowns, manager of the Governor Clinton Hotel, was hotel manager in Kansas and Ohio prior to his 1957 appointment in Kingston.

In addition to being a director of the Ulster County Community Chest, Drowns is a past director of the Chamber of Commerce, chairman of the Chamber's Convention Committee, and a member of the Jaycees.

According to Haltermann, "Sound promotion is essential for a successful campaign. The efforts of the Promotion Committee should reach every citizen in the county. We know that Drowns, in exercising his responsibilities, will be effective in implementing the best interest of the county and the chest.

"Helping the public become more aware of the Community Chest's vital health and social welfare services," says Drowns, "is a real challenge. The Promotion Committee, to be successful, must expand public interest and acceptance, This will be our goal."

Quinlan Reports:

541 Burglaries Solved by Arrest Of Po'keepsie Man

Arrest of Raymond H. Stanton, 48, of 34 Jefferson Street, Poughkeepsie, June 7, resulted in the solution of 541 burglaries, including 256 in Dutchess County, according to Sheriff Lawrence M. Quinlan.

Quinlan said Friday look taken in the burglaries has been valued at $460,000. Considerable loot has been recovered and some items have been returned to the owners.

Burglaries charged against Stanton were committed in Ulster, Columbia and Dutchess Counties, authorities said.

School Vandalism

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — Five girls accused of causing $25,000 damage to a new $1.5 - million school said they "did it for a little fun."

The girls, from a middle-income neighborhood and ranging in age from 8 to 15, were referred Friday to Children's Court.

Police said the girls entered the building to escape a thundershower, jammed a door lock by stuffing paper in it, then returned later in the day. They flooded classrooms, ripped books, and wrote obscenities on walls at the McKinley - Brighton Elementary School on the city's south side, police said.

About 75 persons in the neighborhood helped clean the building.

Monoply Charged To MCA, Biggest Talent Agency

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The federal government, to the surprise of few, has filed an antitrust suit against MCA, Inc., the nation's largest talent agency and filmed television show producer.

The complaint accuses the firm of tieing in its two businesses, forcing producers to buy items they didn't want in order to obtain actors and programs that were in demand.

The government in filing the suit Friday also obtained a court order blocking MCA from divesting itself of any assets.

The 18-page complaint, submitted to U.S. District Court here seeks to strip MCA of its talent agency branch, MCA Artists, Ltd. The company announced earlier this week that it would give up the agency, which handles top entertainment stars including Gregory Peck, Ingrid Bergman and Jack Benny.

The government charged that MCA's acquisition last June 18 of Decca Records Inc. and its subsidiary, Universal Pictures Inc., violated the Celler-Kefauver Antimerger Act. It asked the court to divest MCA of those firms.

The civil suit was announced in Washington, D.C., by Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy. He signed the complaint, along with Lee Loevinger, assistant attorney general in charge of the antitrust division, and U.S. Atty. Frances C. Whelan of Los Angeles.

The complaint also charged violation of Sherman Antitrust Act provisions against conspiracy to restrain trade and monopolize business.

Russian Blunder Scraps Cylinder

By FRED S. HOFFMAN

WASHINGTON (AP)—Top U.S. officials are chortling over a king-sized Soviet goof which saw Russian workers spend a year painstakingly making an expensive machine part—which other workers then cut into scrap.

The blunder, by the Russians' own admission, wasted thousands of rubles.

The report, which slipped into the carefully controlled Russian press, first went unnoticed in the West. But then it was spotted by American experts who sift all available material for between-the-lines hints of conditions inside the Soviet Union.

The report was circulated among high-level U. S. authorities as part of a collection of such intelligence material.

As one source put it, the report published in Komsomolskaya Pravda shows "they also have their troubles"—although the Russians usually try to tell the world that things are going just great for them.

This cylinder, weighing many tons, was sent to the Novosibirsk turbo-generator plant in Siberia for precision work that took almost a year.

The next step was to ship the vital part back to a heavy press plant, presumably for assembly into what was believed to be a 30,000-ton forging press.

Here occurred the blunder.

Business Week in Review

By DARDEN CHAMBLISS
AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The business community has taken heart at three successive Washington developments, seeing in them the kind of psychological boosts they feel the economy needs.

The first was a reduction in margin requirements from 70 to 50 per cent on the amount that must be paid down in cash on stock purchases.

All Effect Market

Then came action by the Senate Finance Committee on one hand killing the plan to withhold taxes on interest and dividends and on the other hand approving a 7 per cent investment credit for tax purposes. The withholding plan was strongly opposed by investor groups. The investment credit would free more money from gross profits for plant improvements.

The third was the announcement of new tax depreciation schedules, saving an estimated $1.5 billion in taxes this year by letting companies deduct more from their taxes for equipment depreciation.

An immediate effect of each of these actions was a jump in stock market prices, giving that fluctuating business barometer its strongest appearance since the the big break of late May.

Such rises reflected more the hope of things to come than the specific effects of the Washington steps, though some of the margin-cut rally was brought by the flow of money created by easier credit.

Further Study Due

Stock sales for the week amounted to 23,073,400 shares compared with 13,820,190 for the holiday-shortened previous week and 14,844,700 for the comparable 1961 week. Bond sales totaled $36,423,000, compared with $24,794,000 the previous week and $31,712,000 for the comparable week last year.

The new schedule of tax depreciation allowances will have to be studied carefully by the individual companies before they decide what it will mean to their profits and how they will change future machinery purchase plans.

The Senate committee's action on investment credit, to encourage plant modernization by hiking tax credits, will have to be passed into final law before it can have direct effects. The action killing the withholding provision removed what many considered to be a damper on investor enthusiasm.

In all, the actions engendered comments that maybe the anti-business feeling many felt reigned in Washington was not so strong after all.

Before this series of actions emanated from Washington, a Ford Motor Co. executive had told a group in Dearborn, Mich., that all the economy needs is a good dose of "confidence restorer."

Calls Economy Sound

Lee A. Iacocca, general manager of the company's Ford division, said the national economy is sound and should remain so unless it is damaged by "some who see major economic troubles in every wiggle of every line on the chart."

His company, meanwhile, produced its millionth car for the year in keeping with a bustling auto business that in the first six months of the year sold the second-highest total — 3,446,563 — on record.

The construction industry is doing even better. The Commerce Department estimated that it will set a record of $60.1 billion in outlays this year, six per cent higher than last year.

These two industries have been the brightest stars in a national economy spotted by more than a few clouds.

One of these, steel, showed signs of recovering from the depressing effects of the inventories built up earlier against the steel strike that never happened.

Another troubled industry, copper, announced production cutbacks to pare supply to demand. Major labor settlements reduced the possibility of strike disruptions.

Economy Failure In Algiers Looms

By MICHAEL GOLDSMITH

ALGIERS (AP) — Moslem and French officials and businessmen say the economy of the 10-day-old Algerian nation is nearly on the rocks and no one has any concrete plan for keeping it afloat.

"Confidence is gone," said one European banker. "Business activity is down to about one third and it is still declining."

He added:

"The events of the past few days, the disputes between the leaders, the lawlessness and the administrative chaos—all this has made people lose heart. Many who left temporarily have decided not to come back and others who were determined to stay are now packing their bags."

All along the fashionable Rue Michelet and other streets of Algiers' European Quarter, three out of every four stores are closed. Faded notices on the iron shutters of most say "closed for paid vacation."

The owners, all Europeans, agreed among themselves to close down during the independence celebrations and take a vacation in France.

Many of them expected the celebrations to turn into large-scale race riots and looting rampages. These did not occur—except for a street battle costing 104 lives in Oran on July 5.

Yet the Europeans are leaving the country in a steady stream despite desperate Moslem appeals to stay and help build the new nation.

The Moslem leaders know they cannot run the nation at present without the Europeans, who have a near-monopoly of technical skills and economic power.

Some of the Europeans are moving away in a spirit of resentment, as if they really wanted to sabotage a state which they fought to the last.

Courthouse Moonshine

MURPHYSBORO, Ill (AP) — Jackson County authorities had some fast explaining to do when a cache of well-aged bootleg whiskey was found in the basement of the county courthouse.

The liquor, discovered during a house cleaning, apparently had been sized during a prohibition-era raid.

Plumley Thinks JFK Trying to Improve Ties

WASHINGTON (AP) — A top spokesman for the business community says he wonders if the Kennedy administration really understands what makes American business tick.

But the spokesman, President H. Ladd Plumley of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce, also told newsmen that President Kennedy appears to be trying to improve relations between the White House and the businessman.

Plumley conferred with the President Friday then had luncheon with newsmen. He told them:

Uncertainty Main Concern

"I am not sure that the administration fully recognizes that this free enterprise system operates...on the decisions which are being made daily by thousands of individuals," rather than by government steering.

What bothers businessmen, Plumley said, is uncertainty. They want conditions "predictable and plottable so that they can plan their own moves."

He said businessmen are asking: If the economy is being steered by the government today, in what direction will it be guided tomorrow?

As an example, he cited Kennedy's commencement address at Yale University last month in which the President appeared to be seeking a truce with the business community after the uproar that followed his strong opposition to a steel price increase.

Plumley said the President remarked that deficit financing by the government could not be tolerated indefinitely, but also said that deficits could serve as an economic stimulant.

Were at Low Ebb

However, Plumley also said that Kennedy "seems to be taking repeated steps to encourage a dialogue and understanding between business and the President."

He said relations are improving after reaching "a pretty low ebb" during the steel price increase crisis of last April.

He cited as an example the new depreciation guidelines announced by the Treasury this week,a move expected to save business and industry $1.5 billion in taxes next year.

Plumley said at the luncheon that he feels part of the misunderstanding between Kennedy and business stemmed from a mutual breakdown in communications between them.

The Chamber president said the purpose of his meeting was to make a progress report on the Chamber's study of ways to cut the U. S. deficit in international payments. He wouldn't disclose what he reported.

Drought Relief Action Is Taken To Aid Farmers

NEW YORK (AP)—The federal government has moved to aid Pennsylvania farmers caught in the grips of a prolonged drought that has New York State also appealing for federal aid.

The drought has killed off many crops throughout the northeastern part of the nation and farmers say that rainfall now, even by the bucketsfull, would not help salvage crops already damaged.

The federal government Friday granted federal drought-program benefits to farmers in 22 counties of Pennsylvania.

Gov. Rockefeller has asked for federal aid for 10 drought-plagued counties in Upstate New York. At least eight other New York counties are expected to appeal for disaster area status.

In New Jersey, Gov. Richard J. Hughes withheld a disaster area proclamation, saying drought conditions there had not yet reached emergency proportions.

Farmers approved for federal aid under the drought-disaster program are permitted to graze livestock and cut hay on cropland set aside for the soil bank. This is land that has been taken out of use to keep down over-all farm production.

Conn. Parley Off To Rowdy Start

The question was not whether Abraham Ribicoff would win the nomination over Rep. Frank Kowalski, but whether Kowalski could get 20 per cent of the delegate vote and thus force a primary.

Bailey Is Booed

It was the Senate race between Ribicoff, the former welfare secretary who resigned Thursday, and the congressman-at-large that caused the outbreak at the opening session Friday night.

Supporters of Kowalski, demonstrating against seating arrangements, gathered in delegates' seats down front before the convention and delayed the start of proceedings.

They booed John Bailey, the state and national party chairman, time and again as he tried to quiet them. Eventually he threatened to call police.

A Kowalski leader, Al Gentile, interceded and spoke to the group as the demonstration continued. Eventually, the demonstrators moved to the galleries and the convention moved along, 40 minutes behind schedule.

Some catcalls and hoots still came from the galleries and the floor as Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana started the keynote address.

When the demonstrators began to call for Kowalski, the congressman appeared on the platform, waved and said a few words. Apparently he left before Bailey's rebuff began in earnest.

Denounces Technique

Bailey is a firm supporter of Ribicoff, 52-year-old former governor who quit President Kennedy's cabinet to seek the Senate nomination. Rep. Horace Seely-Brown Jr. is the GOP nominee for the seat of retiring Sen. Prescott Bush, a Republican.

Kowalski, 54, a retired Army officer, has angrily denounced the political technique of both Bailey and Ribicoff in what has been the hottest party row among Connecticut Democrats since Bailey became state chairman 16 years ago.

The decision on the Senate race was not expected before mid-afternoon.

The convention first had to endorse Gov. John N. Dempsey for election—to oppose Republican John Alsop—and pick a state ticket. Dempsey, who had no opposition, stepped up from lieutenant governor when Ribicoff resigned to become the first member of the Kennedy cabinet.
